City to handle remodel job on library; Council approves low car bids

The city will handle the remodeling of the old library building on a "day cost plus basis," the City Council decided in a 3-2 vote during the regular meeting here last night.

The vote came on Councilman James Caldwell's motion after a lively discussion on the merits of making the remodeling and addition jobs one project or separating the two.

Councilmen Sam Haguewood and Nathan G. Richardson were in favor of hiring an architect and making the jobs one project.

Councilmen Caldwell, Dalton Thorne and Murray Randall voted for the city to do the job.

Haguewood argued: "If we do it that way, (one project) it will be a first class job."

In presenting his motion Caldwell commented the city could do the necessary work in a reasonable time and at a lesser cost.

City Manager Matt Slankard explained today the city will act as the contractor on the remodeling job, preparing plans and specifications and accepting informal bids.

He emphasized that city employes will not be used on the job.

LANNOYE MOTORS and Anderson Ford were the successful bidders on three vehicles to be purchased by the city.

Lannoye offered a 1962 Plymouth sedan police car at a net cost of $1,796.67 and a Plymouth station wagon for the fire department for $2,399.

Anderson's $2,031.70 bid on a pickup truck with a special utility box for the light department was the lowest of three submitted.

ACTING ON A request from Vi Hurlong for a price on two city-owned lots, Mayor James Maxfield appointed Councilmen Thorne, Caldwell and Haguewood to check on the property and make a report.

The property consists of two lots on the east side of Peabody St. on the north side of the Peabody Creek gulch.

In another action, the Council noted M. R. Alleman has been notified that the wooden sidewalk in front of his building on W. 1st St. must be replaced by concrete. The area is between Oak and Cherry Sts. on the north side of the street.

HANDLING BUSINESS briskly, the council authorized bid calls on a number of items. These included the construction of new rest room facilities at Erickson Playfield, 3,000 tons of asphaltic patching material for summer street use and coin lockers and spectator bleachers for the new swimming pool.

Another authorization was a bid call on cast iron pipe for the water department.

In another award action, the Council accepted the $3,154 bid from the Neep Equipment Co. of Portland to furnish fire alarm equipment and related items.

Primary winners gain more on absentees

The city council canvassed the 41 absentee ballots cast in the Tuesday primary election at the Thursday meeting.

The trend in the votes was the same as the ballots cast at the polls and the unofficial totals as tabulated by the Evening News is the same except for the addition of the absentee ballot count.

One of the absentee ballots was void because the envelope contained two ballots.

This is the way the absentee ballots went:

Position No. 1, Richardson, 7, Schultz, 1, Winters, 8, and Wolfe 23.

Position No. 2, Randall 5, Willson, 34.

Position No. 3, Cornell, 25, Caldwell, 7, and Traylor, 5.

The complete official totals, with absentees added, are as follows:

Position No. 1; Wolfe, 1,237, Richardson, 808; Winters, 632; Schultz, 312.

Position No. 2; Willson, 2,194; Randall, 778.

Position No. 3; Traylor, 1,050; Cornell, 981; Caldwell, 945.

Winning nominees for the positions are:

Position No. 1, Nathan G. Richardson and Joseph W. Wolfe.

Position No. 2, Charles R. Willson and Murray F. Randall.

Position No. 3, Willard S. Traylor and Donald E. Cornell.

These names will be on the ballot at the Tuesday, March 13 general election.

Richardson and Randall are incumbent councilmen seeking reelection.

Sliding mountain slows down

TILLER, Ore. (AP) — The sliding mountainside that is threatening six or seven farm homes near Tiller, about 40 miles southeast of Roseburg, appeared to have slowed down Thursday.

But the slide had begun to block Donpier Creek a little north of where it flows into the South Umpqua River, and some residents feared it might block the south Umpqua.

One family moved out Wednesday after the slide began to block the creek.

COVERED 300 ACRES

The area had covered about 300 acres Thursday. It was estimated to be about a half mile long and a mile wide.

The moving mountainside exposed a new cliff 300 feet high when it dropped down. The mass of earth has slid some 400 to 500 feet down the slope.

Trees have been pushed in every direction and some knocked flat. But in the middle of the area an island of virgin timber stood erect.

Hart Lake, on the edge of the slide area, has ridden with it, leaving a water outlet pipe — which supplied water to nearby homes — 10 feet above the water level.

Mrs. J. V. Lewis moved out Wednesday. "I had heard the trees crashing down all through the night for the past week and I just wasn't sleeping," she said.

The Vernon Morris family was ready to move out, too. "I'm ready to move," Mrs. Morris said. "I've been listening to that growling and groaning long enough."

Buck attends safety meeting

General Manager George Buck of the Evening News Thursday attended a meeting of the Citizens' Advisory Committee on Traffic Safety and Motor Vehicle Administration Legislation at the University of Washington in Seattle.

Purpose of the committee is to assist the State Legislature's Joint Fact-Finding Committee on Highways, Streets and Bridges, particularly with regard to legislation to be proposed at the 1963 State legislative session.

GIFTS UP

NEW YORK (AP) — Corporate gifts have risen to a new annual level of about $178 million, an increase of more than 30 per cent in two years, says the Council for Financial Aid to Education.

Business and industry not only are giving more money to education, the council reported Thursday, but they also are giving education a bigger share of their total contributions.

Wet, stormy weather lashes part of nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More wet and stormy weather hit wide sections of the nation today.

Snow and sleet spread across areas in the Midwest and West. More rain doused water-soaked, muddy sections of Southern California. And severe thunderstorms rumbled across areas in the Southeast in the wake of tornadoes which skipped across parts of Mississippi and Louisiana.

A snowstorm moved across the northern Upper Mississippi Valley through the western and southern Great Lakes region with falls up to six inches in Minnesota.

The storm headed eastward to the Atlantic Coast, the region hit by a heavy snow storm Wednesday and Thursday. Snowfalls ranged up to two feet in parts of New York state. Storm-related deaths in the Northeast numbered at least 28, including 13 in Connecticut, 7 in Massachusetts, 6 in New York state and 2 in Rhode Island. Most of the deaths were in auto accidents on snow-covered highways or from over-exertion in shoveling snow.

Tornado alerts were in effect during the early morning from east central Mississippi to west central Georgia. Twisters Thursday caused minor property damage near Ruston, in northern Louisiana, and near Grenada, Miss. No injuries were reported.

Sen. Stennis pushes for forestry research

Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., proposed Thursday a step-up in appropriations for the forestry research program, rather than a decrease as proposed by President Kennedy.

Stennis told the Senate the proposed cut "is difficult for me to understand because research construction is of key importance in the forestry research plan."

The Kennedy budget includes $23,150,000 for forestry research work. Of this, $750,000 would be for construction of research facilities. This, Stennis said, is $3,218,000 below the amount appropriated last year.

Stennis called for a total of $36,923,000, including $9,750,000 for construction work.

Where the budget recommended funds for seven construction projects, Stennis proposed that money be voted for 19 projects.

The budget, he said, calls for construction of facilities and equipment at seven places, including Corvallis, Ore., $80,000.

Stennis proposed additional projects, including:

Olympia, Wash., timber management and animal damage prevention laboratory, $300,000.

Astronaut's orbital ride now postponed until next Tuesday

By BEM PRICE

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The United States' effort to rocket an astronaut around the world is now off until next Tuesday—at the earliest—because of bad weather in the Atlantic recovery areas.

And Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. will still be the astronaut despite the procession of delays which might have cracked the confidence of the average man.

NO TENSION

Glenn has shown no signs of tension that might affect his performance and there is no basis for considering his replacement, Dr. William Douglas, personal physician to the astronauts, said today.

"I'm as close to this man as I am to my brother," Douglas said, "and I couldn't let my brother fly if I thought he would be in danger. If I detected anything wrong, I would take immediate action."

COMPLETE CONFIDENCE

Douglas reiterated that Glenn has complete confidence in the program, is an experienced test pilot and used to such delays.

This was the 10th postponement since the 81,000-mile flight was originally scheduled Dec. 20.

The further delay was announced at 1:05 a.m. Eastern Standard Time today at a special weather briefing by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

RECYCLED

In addition, the NASA spokesman said the entire countdown for both the 360,000-pound-thrust Atlas booster and the 4,200-pound space capsule would be recycled.

This means that all systems in both the missile and the capsule will be checked all over again from top to bottom despite the previous exhaustive checks.

Because certain electronic parts in both the missile and capsule had been activated for test purposes in the previous checks, they will have to be replaced to insure peak performance.

MORE CHANGES

Further, there is a strong likelihood that the attitude control system operated by hydrogen peroxide jets, will have to be replaced. These jets were loaded two days ago, and the gas has a tendency to corrode the escape valves, which Glenn would use to maintain his position relative to the horizon while on his flight.

Glenn was once more awakened by his physician, Dr. William Douglas, and advised of the prolonged "scrub." That was at 12:50 a.m.

State gets union offer

OLYMPIA (AP) — The State Personnel Board plans another meeting to consider further a proposal for a union shop for state employes.

The board met Thursday to hear arguments for and against the proposal and decided more time is necessary to discuss the matter.

The plan was submitted by Norm Schut, executive secretary of the Washington Federation of State Employes (AFL-CIO). Under it, state agencies would sign collective bargaining agreements which would contain union shop clauses.

MOST VOTE YES

If most of the employes of a department voted for the union shop clause, and it was agreeable to the head of the state agency involved, the employes would have to join the union in order to keep their jobs.

Forrest V. Stewart, secretary of the other organization of state employes, the Washington State Employes Association, called the plan a "monstrosity." He said the union shop is for private industry and should not be applied to government.

WON'T SIT IDLY BY

"We're not going to sit idly by and see this thing shoved down the throats of the people," Stewart said.

Schut said if the plan is turned down, it will mean a Democratic process—action through the will of the majority—is turned down.

R. Kennedy stymied by weather

By PETER ARNETT

BANDUNG, Indonesia (AP) — Heavy clouds today forced U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and his wife to make an unscheduled landing in central Java because the Soviet-built plane could not fly over the clouds.

Kennedy was en route from picturesque Bali to this Javanese city south of Jakarta. But Kennedy's Indonesian pilot had to land his Ilyushin 14 transport at Semarang, about 225 miles east of Bandung.

There was no word immediately whether Kennedy would continue the flight to Bandung or go on to Jakarta where he is due Saturday.

Two Indonesian airline Convairs carrying newsmen and the rest of Kennedy's party had pressurized cabins and were able to fly over the clouds to Bandung.

The Kennedys are using the Ilyushin because it is the aircraft reserved by the Indonesian government for distinguished visitors.

Kennedy and his wife, Ethel, flew from the Isle of Bali after a love-at-first-sight meeting with the gay Balinese. The Balinese also liked the handsome couple and during their 22-hour whirlwind tour gave them a royal time with ancient Hindu ceremonials and exotic dances.

Get it on!

The State Patrol operates on the theory that automobile owners are issued two license plates by the state and believes both should be attached to the car at all times.

Auto owners who have been a little careless on this point and getting by on one plate may find themselves getting a ticket from a patrolman unless that second license shows up pronto.

Sgt. Ray Fry of the local patrol office warned today his men have noticed a number of vehicles in the area carrying one plate and they want to see that second one attached immediately.

Private power wants vote

OLYMPIA (AP) — An official of a private power company says plans to try to get a right-to-vote initiative on the November election ballot have been dropped.

Under the plan, before a public utility district could condemn and take over operations of a private power company the customers involved would have to vote approval.

The three private power companies in the state were considering the initiative.

HELPED FIGHT BILL

Rep. Harry B. Lewis, Olympia Republican who helped fight to get right - to - vote legislation through the 1961 legislature, issued a statement saying, ". . . a direct voice of the people throughout the state in PUD condemnations of private utilities is a matter that must and will be resolved."

The power company official who said Thursday the plan for the initiative had been dropped said another effort probably will be made in the 1963 legislature to put through legislation making power proposals of utility districts subject to a vote of residents of the districts.

GAVE NO REASONS

He did not disclose the reasons for dropping the initiative plan.

In Spokane, George M. Brunzell, president of Washington Water Power Co. said the fact the plan was dropped does not lessen its importance.

Allies ready to back air protests

By CARL HARTMAN

BERLIN (AP)—Informed sources said Western military airmen, backing up a protest to Moscow, flew to isolated Berlin today in a corridor whose lower levels the Soviet Union wanted to reserve for its own planes. The weather was bad.

This time the Hamburg-Berlin corridor, northernmost of three such links, was involved. It runs across Communist territory to Berlin from the area of the British zone.

MADE FLIGHT

At least one U.S. military plane was reported to have made the flight from Hamburg.

Commercial planes kept regular schedules. They generally fly above the altitude the Soviets set for the lower-level operations.

There was no immediate report of any incident.

The Western Big Three was reported ready to send fighter patrols into the corridors unless Soviet MIGs stop buzzing Allied military and civilian traffic.

DANGEROUS GAME

The Soviets were accused of playing a "reckless and dangerous" game by Allied officials who admitted they were puzzled by the Soviet harassment.

U.S. officials in Washington expressed fear that a dangerous situation could develop rapidly if the Soviets keep up their air antics in the 20-mile-wide corridors linking West Berlin and West Germany.

STIFF NOTES

The United States, Britain and France in stiff notes to Moscow Thursday charged the Soviets with "agressive and dangerous behavior" and warned the Allies were determined to protect their rights to clear air passage to this outpost 110 miles inside Communist territory.

"The United States government," the U.S. note said, "will take the necessary steps to insure the safety of such flights of transport and passenger aircraft and will hold the Soviet government responsible for the consequences of any incidents which might occur."

FIVE REQUESTS

The Soviets five times in the past week asked for exclusive use of various of the three Berlin air corridors below the 7,500-foot flight level for certain periods to carry out maneuvers. The Allies, sensing a move to chop away at their air rights to isolated Berlin, rejected the Soviet requests and said each flight would have to be cleared individually by the four-power air safety center in Berlin.

Despite the earlier Allied refusals, informed sources said the Soviets again asked exclusive use today of the Hamburg-Berlin corridor below 7,500 feet for three hours.

Information on the Soviet aircraft operations had not been submitted to the four-power Berlin air safety center, the U.S. note charged. In one instance on Wednesday a MIG fighter flew close to a Royal Air Force plane carrying Sir Christopher Steel, Britain's ambassador in West Germany.

REACH AGREEMENT

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer have reached agreement on the basic steps to take toward achieving European political unity, informed sources said today.

De Gaulle returned Thursday night from a hastily arranged meeting with Adenauer in Baden-Baden, Germany, and sources said he was pleased with the results of their talks.

BARS TSHOMBE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has barred Katanga President Moise Tshombe from visiting the United States.

His absence from the Congo would interrupt and jeopardize progress toward unification of that country, the department said Thursday.

Works on contract

PITTSBURGH (AP)— With one day of high-level talks under their belts, negotiators continue working today on a new labor contract for the nation's basic steelworkers.

President David J. McDonald of the United Steelworkers Union, and R. Conrad Cooper of U.S. Steel Corp., chief negotiator for the steel industry, conferred in two sessions Thursday.

They and their top aides reviewed findings of a joint management-union human relations committee set up under the present contract to work year-round on mutual problems.

At a joint news conference, McDonald and Cooper declined to say what problems were discussed and what, if any, progress has been made.

President Kennedy has urged the union and companies to reach an early settlement so the usual steel inventory buildup can be avoided.

Negotiators have set March 1 as a general target date for signing a new pact. The current contract for some 430,000 basic steelworkers expires June 30.

According to government figures, steelworkers now average $3.28 an hour.

Build's sample fallout shelter

SEATTLE (AP) — A sample community fallout shelter, designed to hold 300 persons and cost around $75,000, is to be built here at government expense.

The General Services Administration called for bids to be opened March 8 for an underground, reinforced concrete shelter in northeast Seattle.

It's planned for the Office of Civil Defense as the only community facility in Washington under the present CD prototype program.

When not in emergency use, the shelter will be used as an office for the State Patrol.

Khrushchev wants peace on own terms, Ike says

NEW YORK (AP) —Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower believes Soviet Premier Khrushchev "would like very much to have an assurance there was going to be no war."

"But this would be on his own terms," Eisenhower said.

Eisenhower's appraisals of Khrushchev and other world figures he has dealt with were included in a television program broadcast Thursday night by the Columbia Broadcasting System. It was the last of three hour-long programs, "Eisenhower on the Presidency." The interviews, conducted by Walter Cronkite, were taped last spring.

Eisenhower said Khrushchev was forced to pay more attention to Russian public opinion than most Americans realized. He said Khrushchev was able to greatly influence public opinion in his country by preventing "free-wheeling reporters" from informing the people of what was going on there. However, Eisenhower added, Khrushchev could not ignore public opinion.

At another point, Eisenhower said: "I don't think that Mr. Khrushchev is, himself, necessarily a cruel man, but he's raised in doctrine of force. I'm sure he loves children. He's always talking about his own family. He's very, very much of a family man that way."

Eisenhower, who replied to questions on a wide range of subjects, said he sympathized with Southerners facing a change in their way of life through integration. But he said he supported the Supreme Court decision against segregation in public schools.

Community aids family

When the Lawrence Schneider family was burned out last week, Dungeness and neighboring communities went into action, fast and effectively.

Mrs. Schneider says "It's amazing that we could be burned out completely and start housekeeping the next day." She and her husband deeply appreciate the help they have received, and Mrs. Schneider is concerned about not being able to thank the givers who wished to be anonymous.

She was taking a nap in the downstairs bedroom, the afternoon of Feb. 5, tired from staying up the night before with her husband who had been ill. She says either the heat or smoke awakened her, and opening the bedroom door she saw the burning ceiling of the living room fall in across the hall.

She ran out the back door to call for help, but the entire house was in flames by the time the fire trucks arrived.

Report of the fire department shows fire started in the upper story of unknown causes; estimated loss: House — $10,000; contents — $3,500.

DUNGENESS COMMUNITY Club organized help for the family. Mrs. Adam Baker was chairman of a committee assisted by Charles Efnor, Henry Lotzgesell, Gene Burdick, Mrs. Arthur Becker and Mrs. Lawrence O'Toole.

Contributions were gathered and stored at Dungeness schoolhouse. Organizations from Port Angeles and Sequim, local churches, clubs, and individuals brought furniture, clothing, food and cash donations. The UGN sent a check for the Schneiders' assistance.

They spent the night with neighbors and next day moved into a small house on the James Mapes place. The house had a stove, everything else was contributed.

THE SCHNEIDERS came here three years ago from Bremerton and had lived for a year in the house that burned. Schneider is a dairy farmer.

They have four children. Richard, 18, is in his second year of college at Bremerton. Diane, 15, is a sophomore and Gary, 13, is in the seventh grade. Four-year-old Jeanine was out on the tractor with her father when the fire occurred, Mrs. Schneider said.

Jeanine sat quietly on her mother's lap during the conversation, but she had one small complaint. Of all her toys lost in the fire, her favorite was a doll dresser with a mirror. She doesn't see why mother couldn't have grabbed that on her way out.

Petition Ruthruff

Sequim residents today petitioned Harold Ruthruff, county superintendent of schools, to investigate the controversy started a month ago when the Sequim School Board relieved James Doherty of his duties as basketball coach.

The petition bears 63 signatures. It reads as follows:

"We, the undersigned parents and/or residents of School District No. 232 urge you to make a complete investigation of the situation as it now stands as a result of relieving James T. Doherty of his duties as basketball coach of Sequim High School. It is our sincere belief that under present circumstances it would be extremely difficult, if not impossible to obtain or retain competent teachers and we are acutely aware of the adverse effect the situation is having on the morale of both the students and the faculty."

Gardiner News

Mrs. Peter Jorgensen writes from Gardiner:

These are busy days for the Olympic Weavers, according to Mrs. Louise King, the company's head weaver. They are trying to get material for suits and skirts woven ahead to accommodate the tourist trade during the vacation months.

Last year, tourist trade was so heavy they did not have enough woven material to meet the demand. This year they expect more tourists, because of Century 21. The Olympic Weavers worsted yarn spinning mill was featured in the magazine section of the Sunday Seattle Times.

Mrs. Mae McGregor was surprised and pleased to receive a recent copy of a newspaper from Comstock, Neb., which contained a picture of the pupils of the Westcott School of the class of 1887. Mrs. McGregor was a member of that class and was 11 years old when the picture was taken. She left Wednesday to visit her daughter and family in Edmonds.

The nice weather has brought out the gardeners. Mrs. Elsie Nelson was observed preparing space for her vegetable garden. Mrs. Harry Galbraith was seen spading in her flower garden.

The Bible Study Group of Gardiner Community Church met at the John Campbell home Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Wagner were hosts last week to the social club of Fidelity Court, Order of Amaranth. Plans were made for the Court's pancake breakfast from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. March 4 at Hadlock Masonic Hall.

The lodge hopes to make the breakfast an annual event on the date the court was constituted. The public is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. James Minty Jr. and their three children are now living in Sequim. He obtained his release from the Navy in June and is now employed in Port Townsend.

Port Townsend library this month has an exhibit of unusual interest. Forrest and Mary Shumaker, new residents of Jefferson County who live at Oak Bay, have on display a case of gems and jewelry that is truly outstanding.

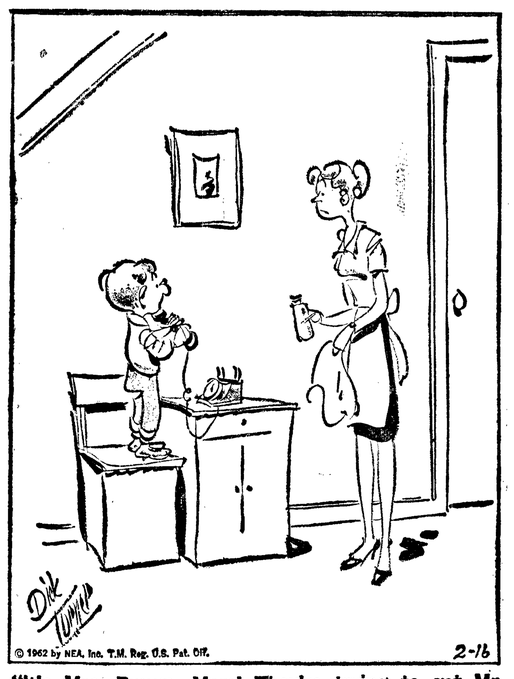
They have hunted for and have obtained gemstones from all over the United States and Canada, during the last 12 years. They cut and polish the gems as a hobby and have made hand wrought silver mountings for some of them. In this exhibition the gems are shown in many forms: In the rough, just as found; with one side cut and polished; and formed into cabachons ready for mounting.

The Shumakers are proud of the many ribbons they have won for their displays in gem and mineral shows. In Ohio, where they lived before coming to Washington, they had their own lapidary and gem shop. They also taught classes in lapidary and gave lectures on their hobby.

GETS COMPENSATION

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)— An airplane mechanic who said he lost his hearing because of daily exposure to the roar of jet engines is entitled to workmen's compensation, the Georgia Court of Appeals ruled Thursday.

The State Board of Workmen's Compensation and a lower court had rejected the claim of E. L. Shipman, a flight line mechanic for six years at Lockheed Aircraft Corp. in nearby Marietta.



"It's Mrs. Brown, Mom! They're trying to get Mr. Brown out of the house while they fix his birthday cake so they want me to come over!"

Former professor wants to remain in factory

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)— Exit—Dr. Carl Vernon Holmberg, associate professor in forest chemistry at Syracuse University, married and father of three children. Enter—Verne Hansen, $1.90 an hour factory worker living alone in a second-class hotel.

That transformation was the decision today of a 45-year-old man who has been identified as a college professor who dropped out of sight nearly seven years ago.

Hansen was unmasked as Holmberg Wednesday by a routine check of fingerprints after he was arrested for a traffic violation.

TIME REVIEW

A review of events since he disappeared from Syracuse University, May 11, 1955, showed:

The professor's wife, Dorothy, divorced him two years ago believing he was dead or never would return. She moved to California with their three sons—Carl, now 18; Lee, 11, and Richard, 9. Last year, she married Gordon Babcock, a consulting electronics engineer. The family lives in Menlo Park, Calif.

REMEMBERS LITTLE

The professor said the last thing he remembers about his present life is a car lift a motorist gave him from Elgin, Ill., to Rockford some time in 1955.

He took a job as a pigment grinder in a paint factory and, records show, in November, 1959 married Mabel Ostling, 42. They are separated.

The professor made it clear at a news conference Thursday that he doesn't want to return now to his old station in life.

NO RETURN

"For the time being, it is almost imperative that I remain what I am," he said. "There seems no necessity of digging back to uncover a life I know nothing about."

In California, the former Mrs. Holmberg said: "I have no further interest in Dr. Holmberg. We have no connection with him, either legally or emotionally, any more."

WANTS TO STAY

Hansen's boss, Francis J. Baudhuin, executive vice president of the Rockford Valspar Corp., said the man wants to stay with the company.

"I asked him what he is going to do about his past," Baudhuin said. "He told me he is not going to do a doggoned thing. He said he feels he is working at his capability level right now and wants to continue in his present job."

LIVE WITH PRESENT

Hansen, in a statement given to the Valspar firm, said: "You have to live in the present with what you are and what you have. There is no point in starting in on a series of ghosts."

Hansen didn't question that he and Holmberg are the same persons.

"I was very astonished at discovering the results of the fingerprint checks," he said. "It still seems incredible, but it also seems that the authorities have the facts and I must assume they are correct."

And if you run out of gas, it's easy to push.

See? A Volkswagen is just the right size to push to the side of the road.

Actually, it's surprising that VW owners don't run out of gas more often. When you get around 32 m.p.g. you spend so little time in gas stations, there are almost no reminders. You'll probably never need oil between changes. You'll never need water or anti-freeze because the engine is air-cooled.

There are so few things that bring you to a gas station, that the car has a gas gauge this year to help you remember. Now all you have to do is remember to look at it.

BPA official sees $18 million loss coming up during year

PORTLAND (AP) — The Bonneville Power Administration will loose $18 million in revenue in the fiscal year 1962, a BPA official predicted Thursday.

Earl D. Ostrander, director of the division of administrative management, made the prediction. He said that is $3 million more than BPA lost last year and $2 million more than earlier estimates.

JOINT MEETING

Ostrander spoke to a joint meeting of the Bonneville Regional Advisory Council and the Columbia Basin Inter-Agency Committee.

He said one reason for the loss of revenue was that BPA has not enough firm power for sale and a surplus of secondary power that can not be sold.

Charles F. Luce, BPA administrator, has urged an intertie with California — with proper safeguards to protect Northwest power — as a method of correcting the situation Ostrander outlined.

REFERENCE CUSTOMERS

Luce warned Thursday that legislation protecting the Northwest's electric power also is vital because of advances in the technology of transmission of electricity.

Luce said these advances could make it possible for preference customers to sop up Bonneville's surplus power from as far away as Chicago. Preference customers are public power agencies given first call on federally-produced power.

As an example, Luce said, California agencies could build their own power inter-ties and demand firm power from Bonneville.

The Los Angeles municipal power firm, which would qualify under the preference clause, could use the entire output of Grand Coulee Dam, a BPA spokesman said.

Others speakers hammered at the need for more souces of power in the coming years. Bernard Goldhammer, BPA power manager, said local population growth will use up all of the administration's surplus power by 1964.

New power sources mentioned as possibilities were the installation of generating facilities at the Hanford reactor, ratification by Canada of the Columbia River treaty, and steam-generated power.

Peninsula College to add to faculty staff for next year

Under plans for the 1962-63 school year, Peninsula College will add five members to the faculty staff, Supt. John D. Glann reported to School District 21 directors here Monday night.

The added staff members will be needed to take care of the estimated 300 students expected next year. This will include expanded offerings in curriculum along with the regular sophomore class.

Such courses as philosophy, sociology, Spanish or French, music theory and appreciation, economics and business administration figure in the planning.

FOUR NEW TEACHERS will be needed at the high school to take care of changes there along with the expected increase by 71 students, mostly in the sophomore class.

Added classes include one in sophomore English, junior English, one in typing, one each in boys' and girls' physical education, one in Spanish, one in German, one in geometry and two in beginning biology.

One class in advanced biology will be dropped because of lack of laboratory space.

PLANS ALSO include the addition of the equivalent of one-half day vocational shop instruction and a class in music.

District Music Director A. Lee Freeman will teach three classes in Peninsula College next year and drop his work with the high school band. The directors are considering combining the teaching of ninth grade and senior high bands.

ALL JUNIOR high school seventh graders in the district will get a chance to learn to swim under the new program now in the planning stage for next year.

The idea is to make sure everyboy and girl learns to swim and better understands water safety.

Also planned are swimming classes for Roosevelt eighth and ninth graders and Peninsula College classes.

No changes are foreseen in the eighth grade curriculum for the new year but there is a major one coming up for the ninth graders.

They will have a period of directed study so students may learn good techniques of study and apply them in their actual lessons under supervision.

THE DISTRICT'S administrative offices now located in the Roosevelt building will be moved to the new Central Services Building across the street by next month.

The superintendent recommended the present space be converted into the principal's office, space for the boys' and girls' counselors and a testing room and test supply center. Quarters now occupied by the junior high school offices would be converted to a faculty planning and conference center. The present faculty room in the building would be returned to classroom use.

NO EVIDENCE

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A surgeon told the Midsouth Postgraduate Medical Assembly that there is substantial evidence that gall stones are an important factor in cancer of the gall bladder.

Dr. George G. Finney, associate professor of surgery at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, recommended on Thursday that "when stones are present, the gall bladder with the stones should be removed."

"The attitude of some members of the medical profession that gall stones are harmless unless they give definite symptoms will not help reduce the death rate," he said.

TO JOIN FLEET

HONOLULU (AP) — A Marine task force will join the United States 7th Fleet next month in the Philippines for the first maneuvers of the year of the Southeast Asian Treaty Organization.

The Navy's announcement on Thursday said the Marine force will be made up of the 3rd Division beefed up by 1,500 Marines from Hawaii. The Australian air force will also participate. Eight SEATO nations are sending observers.

Called Tulungan, the operation will simulate the United States and the Philippine Republic going to the aid of a threatened Southeast Asian country requesting assistance.

AWARDS CONTRACT

OLYMPIA (AP) — The State Purchasing Division says a $169,441 contract for 288 radio transmitters and receivers was awarded Wednesday to Motorola Communications and Electronics Inc., Bellevue.

Officials said the equipment is being bought to comply with a Federal Communications Commission requirement for reallocation of certain broadcasting bands.

RECOVERING

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Barbara Diane Crosby has recovered full consciousness for the first time she was rushed to a hospital Sunday, her doctor reports.

Dr. Abner Moss said the wife of Lindsay Crosby, crooner Bing's son, is "substantially improved" and returning to normal. Further tests to determine the nature of her illness are planned.

Centennial provides prom theme

Remember When! You probably think this is the title of a book or perhaps a new song hit. No, sir! — You're wrong. The "Centennial Spirit" has found its way to the junior class at the Port Angeles Senior High School.

What would be better than "Remember When" as the name of the junior prom to be held March 3 at the high school gymnasium.

Anne Dyar, publicity chairman of the Junior Prom, says the "Centennial Motif" was chosen from several excellent ideas submitted by class members. "Remember When" was in when Gloria Ludke said, "It would be a hundred years before they would have the same opportunity again." No one wanted to wait that long.

Bob Peterson, general chairman, has 22 committees planning and enthusiastically working toward the March 3 date. Peterson says junior classes have had some good proms in the past, but "Dad, wait 'til you see this one." He might better have said "Grandad," for the theme takes us back to a ballroom scene of the 1890's.

Evelyn Solheim and Boyd Page are junior class advisors and are working with the committee. Miss Solheim, who is a member of the School District No. 21 Centennial Committee, is quite pleased with the Centennial theme.

"We may be in the space age, but the Centennial Spirit continues to grow," observes George King, chairman of the School District No. 21 Centennial Committee.

Butane boils and bubbles even though beaker is filled with ice cubes. It is rapidly turning into vapor—the way boiling water turns into steam. Butane's ability to vaporize at low temperatures helps Super Shell gasoline give you quick starts in cold weather.

One of Super Shell's 9 ingredients can boil on ice. Helps your car start fast for top performance on coldest days.

EVEN in zero weather, a car in good mechanical condition should start in 3 or 4 seconds.

If it doesn't, could be that your gasoline isn't vaporizing fast enough. Winter can have that effect on gasoline.

Shell scientists take care of this problem by including an ingredient called Butane in Super Shell's 9-ingredient formula.

Butane can hardly wait to vaporize. It will even boil on ice and turn to vapor (see picture above). Fast vaporization, fast starts. It's that simple.

Note: in very cold weather, Super Shell gets an extra dose of Butane.

Quick-starting Butane is only one of Super Shell's cold-weather ingredients. There are three in all. Read how the other two can also help you when winter's doing its worst.

Pentane mix—for fast warm-ups

The Pentane mix in Super Shell's winter blend helps speed the "warm-up" process inside your engine. Pentane mix works like kindling in a log fire. It ignites easily—gets everything going faster.

"Anti-icer" fights icing stalls

The third cold-weather ingredient in Super Shell's winter blend is an anti-icer.

Its job is to fight carburetor icing. This phenomenon can lead to sudden stalls when you least expect them.

Shell's "anti-icer" coats vital carburetor parts with a very thin chemical film. This film discourages critical ice buildup and cuts your chances of icing stalls.

How Super Shell's other ingredients help you get top performance

Now you know about three of the nine ingredients in today's Super Shell. Here's how the others help to give your car top performance.

TCP* additive helps restore the power that combustion deposits can take away.

"Cat-cracked" gasoline is for smooth, even power with a purr.

Alkylate helps control "high-speed knock."

Gum preventive helps keep carburetors clean inside.

Anti-knock mix gives extra resistance to knock.

Platformate is for extra mileage.

P.S. When you drive in for a tankful of Super Shell, ask your Shell dealer to check your anti-freeze. It's a small precaution, but it could save you a lot of trouble.

*Trademark for Shell's unique gasoline additive. Gasoline containing TCP is covered by U.S. Patent 2880212.

Nearness of mountains, water attracted municipal attorney

By ESTHER WEBSTER

When he decided the time had come to start practicing law, Tyler C. Moffett began looking for a small town where there were high mountains and salt water.

"Port Angeles was the place where mountains and water were the closest together, and it was a county seat." So the young attorney and his wife came here in 1951 without knowing a soul.

Now he has a demanding practice and several municipal appointments. These he finds are an engrossing interest.

HE HAS BEEN Hospital District No. 2 attorney eight years, and city attorney four years. His law firm of Severyns and Moffett also handles the Port District's legal affairs.

Moffett says, "I enjoy the civic aspect of this work. Municipal law is an interesting field. And the more you study it, the more interesting it becomes."

This tall, slender attorney is known for his infectious guffaw as well as his hacking cough. The latter suggests a sanatorium is in the offing. But Ty insists it is the harmless remains of an asthmatic condition as a child. "The Washington, D.C., climate did not agree with me."

THERE WAS NOTHING casual about Moffett's decision to live near mountains and salt water. As the son of an attorney turned officer in the regular Army after World War I, he saw a good deal of this country while growing up.

Tyler Caphton Moffett was born at Fort Benning, Ga., Dec. 21, 1922. He has two brothers. Charles, 1½ years older, who is a psychiatrist practicing in Bellingham. Robert, 5 years younger, is with the McGraw Hill Publishing Co., in New York.

MOFFETT SAYS brothers mean more to a child who is continually shuffled from one Army post to another. "When we entered a new school, we had to stick together because we were alone and unknown."

On the other hand, Moffett says an Army child has first hand knowledge of geography and history.

"We made one trans-continental crossing by train and, because the Army ships by transport, we went through the Panama Canal four times."

TY STARTED traveling at two when his parents were transferred to Hawaii. He was back in the states at five.

The Moffetts were first transferred to Fort Lewis, Wash., when Ty was eight. He says, "We expected the Northwest to be rugged with the snow waist-deep." Instead they fell in love with the country.

Ty went to grammar school at DuPont across from Fort Lewis and graduated from Stadium High School in Tacoma.

AT 19 HE ENLARGED his travel experience by going over-seas for 2½ years in World War II. He was in a light tank company of the Third Armored Division that went into Normandy in June of 1944.

Altogether he spent about a year in England, six months in France, two months in Belgium and the rest of the time in Germany.

He became a corporal and at the end, a sergeant. He was one of four in his company of 115 men who had been to college. "They all knew so much more about the business at hand than I, that I just went along."

A VISIT TO HIS parents in Florida after the war convinced Ty he had to live where there were mountains. "The highest hill in Florida is only 330 feet."

So he came to the Pacific Northwest and the University of Washington to study law. Before entering the Army he had had two years at the University of Alabama, his father's college.

After graduation from law school at the U of W, Ty became a law clerk for the State Supreme Court.

FOR TWO YEARS he resided in Olympia while this work continued.

Ty says, "Moving from place to place during one's childhood robs one of ever having a place to go back to."

But such a life also gave him the opportunity to go any place he chose to live as soon as he had decided what he wanted to do.

"There were no cords pulling me back to a hometown where I had friends and was known."

Tyler C. Moffett

He was free to seek the mountains and the water he loved.

THE WEEK BEFORE coming to Port Angeles Moffett married Elizabeth Marie White of Olympia. They have three children. Tyler, Jr., is 6, Todd, 3½ and Christina Jane was born Dec. 12, 1961.

The Moffetts enjoy hiking trips into the mountains. Ty has climbed Mt. Olympus. He has been to the Seven Lakes Basin several times.

Both the Moffets have gone up the Dosewallips, across the side of Mt. Deception and come down the Dungeness. Another trip started at Whisky Bend and ended at Lake Quinault.

But Ty thinks, with three children, future camping trips will be by car.

FISHING IS ALSO a hobby. The Moffetts have an 18 foot outboard cabin cruiser.

Besides their hobbies they belong to the usual fraternal organizations and civic clubs.

During the week Ty Moffett sits behind a desk heaped high with books, papers and the accumulated litter of a busy attorney.

Does he worry?

"Oh, one is bound to do some. But I don't let it shape my life," he says in his unexpectedly deep voice.

HE ADDS THAT when an attorney handles peoples' affairs, he has to have a fairly serious approach.

"I'll admit there are days when I'd like to be easy-going.'

Those who know Tyler Moffett well are confident his penetrating wit and high sense of purpose will sustain him through civic controversies and private problems.

FATAL ATTACK

CLARKSTON, Wash. (AP)—Perry A. Hilton, 74, suffered a fatal heart attack Thursday and his wife, Mabel, 76, collapsed and died minutes later after running to the neighbors for help.

Coroner Donald W. Moore said the heart attacks occurred within five minutes of each other.

Neighbors said Mrs. Hilton ran for help when her husband collapsed, then fell to the floor as bystanders applied artificial respiration to the stricken man.

BOY DROWNS

SEATTLE (AP)—Nine-year-old Michael Phillips drowned Thursday when he slipped off a raft in a pond near his home in southwest Seattle. A girl playing nearby summoned officers.

Site chosen for new junior college campus

A site for the proposed new junior college campus is now a part of School District No. 21 planning.

There is only one hitch — the district does not yet own the land.

During their meeting here last night, the directors took a look at written reviews of eight different sites before they accepted the one area.

The tract includes about 75 acres with the major share of it lying immediately east and south of the Bonneville Power Station at the east end of Park Ave.

IT IS BOUNDED on the south and west by the power line right-of-way, the Boulevard on the north and the east bank of White's Creek on the east.

Generally, the main terrain of the area is good for the school site. Another advantage noted by Supt. John D. Glann is its closeness to the city boundaries which means easy access to water and sewer services.

THERE ARE NO houses or any other buildings on the tract, a point that was not true of some of the other locations considered.

Glann also noted its general location is by far the best of those considered.

Before making any decision on locations, the directors looked at seven other possible sites. They included areas at the south end of Grace St. in Peabody Heights, and another lying along the Old Mill Road in the same area.

STILL ANOTHER is the land across the road west of the golf course. The area between the golf course north of Highway 101 also drew some consideration.

A tract just west of the Port Angeles Nursing Home on the upper Mt. Angeles Road, one in the lower Black Diamond area and still another in the west end of the city in the airport area were all studied before a final decision was made.

THE MAIN argument against most of the other locations was the lack of water and sewer facilities. In most of the cases they would have to be brought in at great cost.

In the final action on the tract, the directors authorized the president of the board and Glann to negotiate on the purchase of the property. They authorized a price not to exceed $315.00 per acre.

PURCHASE OF THE site is the first step in what the school directors hope will develop into a new campus for Peninsula College. One of the newest junior colleges in the state, Peninsula opened this fall with an enrollment far above anything figured by the directors.

All of their planning was based on state attendance formula which indicated an opening enrollment of about 150 students or less. The first quarter students totalled 218, a mark the directors did not figure on reaching until another five or six years.

Rev. Lieby to head commission

The Civil Service Commission met in regular session Friday afternoon. The Rev. Robert J. Lieby, as temporary chairman, welcomed its new member, Don Judd. The Commission then elected Rev. Lieby to serve as its chairman, and also appointed Mrs. Beulah McNeece, secretary and chief examiner.

Don Judd replaces George Todd whose term expired in December after having served two terms of six years each on the commission.

Mrs. McNeece replaces Ellis Law who resigned recently upon his retirement from the position of City Clerk.

Member George Wood is employed by the Crown Zellerbach Corporation and is also president of Local 155 of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers. Don Judd is associated with the firm of Middleton Motor Parts Company. Rev. Lieby is pastor of the Christian Evangelical Church and state chaplain at the Clallam Bay Honor Camp.

The Civil Service Commission meets regularly the first Friday of each month at the City Hall.

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Georgia Forestry Commission fire fighters are hard pressed to extinguish a rash of wild fires throughout the state.

PUD honors employe

When a gal works hard for 12 years her fellow workers like to give a party for her when she retires.

That's what the employes of Clallam County PUD did for Mrs. Nell B. Siegfried Saturday night. She will continue her work in the PUD office until March 1 when Janet Leggett will take over in her place.

Manager Elmer B. Titus chose the retirement dinner at Harringtons Skyroom as a good time for giving service pins to PUD employes. The plant, which started here in 1943, had only three employes then and now has 41.

'THE PLANT was worth just $80,000 when built and now is valued at $4,912,835," Titus said. 'The average employment is 11 years and we have 75 per cent of our employees who have been with us five years or more."

Joining the total (seven) who have been with the company 15 year or more were Harry Eyre, R. M. Hodge, Ted Jacobson and Mildred Trip. They received pins Saturday night.

TEN YEAR PINS went to Carl Beeler, Les Clayton, Bob Dudley, Grover Grimes, Roy Scott and Rollin Shaw. One other person already was a 10-year employe.

For a total of 16 having five years' employment at PUD pins went to Cleora Gossage, Dale Nichols, R. A. Nichols, Edith Reid, Verlin Shields, Leo Smith, James Tallman and Forrest Towne.

Incumbents trail in city primary

Unofficial complete returns of Tuesday's city election for councilmen reveal that Nathan G. Richardson, incumbent and Joseph W. Wolfe will be candidates for Position No. 1 on the Council.

Candidates for Position No. 2 will be Murray Randall, incumbent and Charles R. Willson.

For position No. 3 candidates will be Willard S. (Bill) Traylor and Donald E. Cornell.

These names will appear on the ballots on the March 13 general election.

Yet to be counted are 41 absentee ballots. Closest race is between incumbent James E. Caldwell and Donald E. Cornell for a place on the final ballot. Cornell has an unofficial vote of 956 and Caldwell, 938 trails by 18 votes. Trawlor leads that ticket with 1,045 votes.

THIS IS THE unofficial complete vote:

Position No. 1, Joseph W. Wolve 1,214, Nathan G. Richardson 801, Laurence E. Winters, 624, William R. Schultz, 311.

Position No. 2, Charles R. Willson, 2,160, Murray F. Randall, 773.

Position No. 3, Willard S. Traylor 1,045, Donald E. Cornell 956, James E. Caldwell 938.

There were a total of 2,972 votes cast at Tuesday's election. The total registered was 7,566. This means 39 per cent of the possible vote was cast. This a very small vote.

TUESDAY'S PRIMARY election went off very smoothly in the city's 31 voting precincts. First complete returns came in at 8:17 p.m. from precinct No. 11, at the Eagles Hall where 43 votes were cast.

Last returns were received at 9:30 p.m. at the Evening News office from Precinct No. 16 in the Jefferson School Gymnasium where the largest number of ballots, 161, were cast.

Of the 41 absentee ballots applied for all but four have been returned with votes marked on them City Clerk B. B. McNeece reports. The votes will be officially canvassed not later than 10 days after election day. The completed ballots if mailed to the city clerk must be postmarked not later than Feb. 13.

The vote by absentee ballots usually follow the trend of the open voting.

Observers see little likelihood of much difference between the unofficial and official results.

THE RETURNS ROLLED into the Evening News office in a steady stream Tuesday night. There were no hitches. Assisting the Evening News staff were volunteers Don Sleeper, Gordon Sandison and Sandy and Lorraine Ross, all veterans of many elections.

Saturday Feb. 10 was the last day to register for the March 13 general election. This state has a perpetual registration law that requires re-registration only if registrants skip voting for four years.

The state law provides that the two candidates for positions of councilmen for four years receiving the highest vote in the primary election will be candidates in the general election of March 13.

NEW BLAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission has touched off another underground blast at its Nevada test site.

Thursday's test was the 14th announced in the current series. The AEC said it was a low yield test. That means a blast with an explosive power of less than 20,000 tons of TNT.

TO WED — Don Juan Carlos, 23, of Spain and his 22-year-old fiancee, Greek Princess Sophie, smile upon arrival in Athens following announcement of engagement.

City park areas to get facelifting

Two conspicuous park areas in Port Angeles will have professional treatment before World's Fair visitors arrive.

Conrad Dyar, who is the city park board member particularly interested in landscaping, says A. Sidney Malbon, professional landscape architect and planner, has consented to advise the park board on two of their worst problems.

Malbon is landscape architect and planner with the Olympic National Park. He will do the work without cost as a civic contribution.

Areas to be beautified will be the 1st and Laurel St. bluff and turn-around and the small triangular park a the city's western entrance at 14th and Lincoln.

Malbon contemplates making rough sketches and specifications for each area. He says the Laurel St. bluff could be terraced and planted with sufficient planning. The zig-zag stairs and landings need painting in an attractive color scheme, he says.

Malbon does not visualize either area as a particular problem. He does believe they need proper planning and executin.

Park Board Member Dyar speaks enthusiastically of Malbon's willingness to help. "What we need is some expert advice on what to do and how to do it. We hope to have both areas ready for Seattle World's Fair visitors," Dyar says.

HOSTILE MINORITY

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—About 300 Dominican University students and other youths staged a noisy anti-American demonstration Thursday. Student leaders discounted its significance, saying the demonstration represented the view of a hostile minority.

The demonstrators paraded downtown shouting "Yankee dogs go home!" and other anti-American slogans, burned a U.S. flag in front of the National Palace and hurled stones at three U.S. correspondents. Other Dominicans in the crowded shopping areas gave the marchers no encouragement.

SLIDE HITS HIGHWAY

ELLENSBURG, Wash. (AP) — A mud and rock slide swept across 3 of 4 lanes of the Snoqualmie Pass Highway Thursday, the State Patrol said.

The Patrol said apparently there were no cars in the slide area and apparently no injuries.

One lane of traffic remained opened in the slide area, about two miles west of the summit.

Warm temperatures and rain sent mud and rocks sweeping across the majority of the four-lane section of highway near the snowshed about two miles west of the summit, the patrol said.

MAJOR JOB

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP)—Restoring safe water supplies in four villages was the major task facing flood-battered southeast Idaho today.

Health authorities found water supplies contaminated at Soda Springs, Bancroft, Inkom and Lava Hot Springs.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie toured flood areas Thursday and estimated the damage at more than $15 million in a 16-county area. "It is certainly Idaho's most expensive natural disaster in modern history," he said.

ONE PRIEST

WILMINGTON, De. (AP)—During its entire 66 years St. Hedwig's Roman Catholic Church had only one priest—The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John S. Gulcz. He died Thursday in the church rectory at the age of 95.

Msgr. Gulcz was the senior priest in the diocese and the oldest living alumnus of SS. Cyril and Methodius Seminary, Orchard Lake, Mich.

Roughriders play final home game - 8 tonight

The last home game of this long basketball season is going to be designated Pep Day. Brother if ever a basketball team needed pep on its home court, ours does. There's no telling what would happen to the team if they had to play before a partially filled house.

The Girls Club and Pep Squad jointly are sponsoring a pep rally at 6:30. These kids would like to see a bunch of adults out there, let's try not to disappoint them.

Those hardy golfers out at Peninsula Golf Club are still at it and are still bombing the sixth hole for the elusive hole-in-one.

Joe Niemeyer is the latest and about the sixth man this year to do it. He was playing with Pat Pane, McCoy Smith and Tom Window Valentine's Day when he did it.

None of the foursome actually saw the ball go into the cup, but the green was wet and they surmise the ball went in on the fly.

Joe said this is the second hole-in-one he has made. The other one was in 1950.

If there is a mathematician in the crowd, would it be possible to figure out the probability of this happening. The only constants in the problem are the size of the ball and the size of the hole.

The second game of a new basketball league in town will be played at 1:30 p.m. in Monroe school gym. The YMCA Little League for grammar school aged children got under way yesterday with Franklin's two teams playing Monroe and Washington. Today Lincoln's two teams play Jefferson's two teams.

The league is divided into east and west sections. There are four teams in the east section and five in the west.

Good luck fellows and kids.

Vern Burton and Lee Kreider, men on the go with junior badminton, go over to Seattle Saturday to conduct a clinic for several hundred Seattle teachers.

This weekend jaunt is only the beginning of a badminton marathon that will run well into June. The men are taking 15 kids with them to demonstrate their methods for teaching badminton to large groups in limited areas.

Tyna Barinaga, Sandra Lacey, Eva Halko, Carolyn and Bill Jensen, John and Brian Doherty, Dotty Morgan, Susie Wilson and Pete Vanderhoof are making the trip. Also going among the smaller fry are Christine Burton, Debbie Lacey, Patty Thorne, Katherine Kushman and Kerry Kreider.

Next weekend the Port Angeles Globetrotters go to Vancouver Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club for a match. Most of the same kids will be going except for the smaller ones, after Pete Vanderhoof in the list.

Also going to Vancouver are Pat Froude, Vallie Blundeau, Judy Brodhun, Lauren Vanderhoof and Don Keinholtz.

After Vancouver things really get going. Mar. 2, 3 and 4 is the State Open in Seattle, Mar. 9, 10 and 11 is the Oregon State Open in Portland and the Junior Nationals Mar. 17 through 21 in Seattle.

Mar. 23, 24 and 25 the kids are going to the Vancouver Island Open in Victoria. Then starting May 1 and lasting until June 10 some 350 kids will play off the Clallam County Open.

Burton said he is planning to take 75 to 100 kids to the Junior Nationals. He has been getting invitations to enter his kids in tournaments all over the country.

Good luck fellows. Hope you have as much tenacity as you think you do when you set up this schedule. We know you have dedicated yourself to those kids.

Jack Bryant was top scorer for Montana State with 18 points.

Angels have pitchers, park now; need field

(15th in a series of major league baseball team appraisals, written under the managers' bylines)

LOS ANGELES ANGELS
By BILL RIGNEY

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —One thing I'd like to say right away is that everyone on our pitching staff has a chance to make the team. We've got 20 pitchers and right now only about six are sure of jobs.

I'm counting on Ken McBride, Eli Grba and Ted Bowsfield as starters and Ryne Duren, Art Fowler and Tom Morgan for duty in the bullpen. The other spots are wide open. The best possibilities for starting berths are George Witt, Jim Donohue and Dean Chance.

Just how high we will finish depends a lot on our infield. Last season, infield troubles gave me plenty of headaches. Then, we picked up Billy Moran for second base and Joe Koppe for shortstop and things went more smoothly. Lee Thomas will probably spend most of his time at first base. Lee hit 24 homers last season and looks to have tremendous potential.

My plans are to give Jim Fregosi a tryout at shortstop and Felix Torres at third base. Both are rookies. I still have Eddie Yost for third and perhaps he'll he able to make a comeback after being hurt a good part of last season.

Our outfield is in good shape with Albie Pearson, Ken Hunt and Leon Wagner.

Bob Rogers, who's a switch hitter is one of the most promising rookies on the team. He played 16 games for us last September and drove in 13 runs and hit .321. Earl Averill, who hit 21 homers, gives us another power-hitting catcher.

All in all, I believe we're in the American League pennant race.

My pitchers will be much happier because we're moving into Chavez Ravine and the larger playing area should help our staff. They weren't too happy about those short fences in Wrigley Field.

Lynch strikes blow for poor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jerry Lynch, Cincinnati's most prized bench warmer and the acknowledged leader of baseball's pinch hitters, apparently struck a blow for the underpaid in his profession when he signed his 1962 contract.

The 31-year-old part-time outfielder signed Thursday, ending his salary dispute with the Reds that threatened to turn into a long siege when Lynch declared for equal rights among pinch hitters and relief pitchers.

He collected about $20,000 last season and although no salary terms were announced he likely received a fat raise.

Lynch hit at a fantastic .404 clip last year as a pinch hitter while appearing in 59 games.

Meanwhile, the New York Yankees lowered their unsigned list to four, including home run king Roger Maris, by signing pitcher Ralph Terry and infielder-outfielder Hector Lopez. Terry, 16-3 last year, got a $5,000 boost to $23,000.

BASEBALL SIGNINGS

The San Francisco Giants signed first baseman-outfielder Willie McCovey and pitcher Juan Marichal; the Milwaukee Braves lured pitcher Bob Hendley into the fold; the Baltimore Orioles inked rookie hurler Howie Stethers and infielder Jerry Adair; St. Louis signed pitcher Bob Gibson, outfielder Don Landrum and first baseman Jeff Long; Minnesota came to terms with first baseman Don Mincher, and Cleveland signed pitcher Gary Bell.

Trojans can save dignity

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern California's Trojans, big disappointments in the Big Five Conference basketball race, battle to save a little dignity this weekend in a pair with leading UCLA.

Pre-season ratings pointed to Trojans with the Uclans down among the also-rans. But right now, it's UCLA in front of the pack with a 5-0 record and Southern California second at 4-3.

Stanford's Indians, at 3-3, play a weekend set against California (0-6) with Friday night's game at Berkeley and Saturday's at Stanford.

Washington's Huskies, who already have a 5-5 record in the conference, have a non-conference game Saturday night hosting Oregon State University.

Names Everett winning coach man of year

EVERETT (AP) — Norm Lowery, coach of the unbeaten Everett High School basketball team, was named his community's Man of the Year in sports Thursday night at the 17th annual awards banquet sponsored by The Everett Herald.

Comedian Joe E. Brown, speaker of the evening, struck a serious note when he presented the Man of the Year trophy to Lowery. "This is proof," Brown said, 'that your people care."

Lowery was one of six finalists who were candidates for the 1961 award. Others were Jim Hopkins, sports official; football coach Dwayne Lane; track coach Keith Gilbertson; "Doc" Boreson, athletic director at the Monroe Reformatory, and Gene Skogland, water ski champion.

Speakers who addressed the large crowd at the Everett Golf and Country Club included Jim Sutherland, Washington State University football coach; Vince Cazzetta, Seattle University basketball coach, and Bill Muncey, famous hydroplane driver.

Riders try to avenge early loss to Bainbridge Spartans tonight

Port Angeles Roughriders take on the hot and cold Bainbridge Spartans in the final home game of the season at 8 p.m.

The Riders came away from the first meeting of the teams suffering a 55-42 licking Since that time both teams have shown a certain erraticalness of play. Bainbridge beat the Roughriders but lost to Sequim in overtime and to Forks. Port Angeles beat Sequim and the Port Angeles Rangers beat Forks. Bainbridge also beat North Kitsap, a team that downed Roughriders by 20 points.

RIDER COACH Bob Klock thinks the Spartans will use the same boys here that beat his team in Winslow. This coupled with the fact the team is coached by Tom Paski, dean of Olympic League basketball coaches, should make for a good game.

Eight Roughriders will be playing the final home game of their careers tonight. Bruce Paynter, Gary Moore, Mike O'Connor, John Wunderlick, John Holmberg, Ron Lorentzen, Dan Fey and Rick Ranta will be suiting up for the final time in the home locker room.

Klock said the boys are still plugging away and working hard during practice and that he had had good turn-outs the last two nights. On top of their record of 14 losses and two wins this is a noteworthy fact. The Riders will be ready.

PROBABLE STARTERS in tonight's game will be Bill Johnston at center, Gary Moore and Bruce Paynter at forwards, and Craig Shore and Mike O'Connor at guards. After Klock has had a chance to study the Bainbridge defense he will adjust his offense.

Klock said there has been a slight shift in his lineup. Dan Fey has moved into the number six spot on the team. Fey, 5-10, 150 pounds, did a good job guarding South Kitsap's Wayne Foster, 6-2, 190 pounds last week. He kept Foster from getting the ball as much and covered him so well Foster kept moving farther away from the basket to shoot.

Three of the five starters lead the team in field goals and free throws. Shore leads with 58 field goals and 37 per cent. O'Connor also has 37 per cent from the field, but only 54 field goals. He is well out in front in free throws with 39 and 77 per cent.

Bruce Paynter is the other starter leading in scoring. He has 53 field goals and 33 per cent. John Holmberg, who started during the first half of the season, is fourth in scoring with 50 field goals and 36 per cent.

One basketball season ends, another begins

By JACK HEWINS
Associated Press Sports Writer

One basketball season is ending and another will begin next week for about one-third of the state's high schools—those with student populations of 201 to 600 which compete in the Class A division.

Ending is the regular season, in which most of the teams play 20 games. About to begin—with the first action set for next Friday—is the second season which will reach a climax March 7-10 when 16 teams clash in the annual state Class A tournament at Tacoma.

Lynden, the defending champion, is 1962 favorite but must qualify in its Northwest District tournament starting Feb. 23 at Mount Vernon. The path is not smooth for the Lynden Lions, with Nooksck Valley and Arlington heading the seven-team opposition which will contend with Lynden for the district's three berths at Tacoma.

This is the qualifcation program for the other districts:

West Central—Three teams to qualify for the state tourney. The top Class A team of the Seamount League qualifies directly. The two other entries will be decided in playoffs among the Olympic, Cross-Sound and Kingco Leagues. Best bets to survive: Fife or Curtis of the Seamount; Port Townsend, Foster or Vashon.

Southwest — Three teams to qualify, two coming directly from the Central and Southwest Tri-County Leagues. These two will play for position in a March 2-3 tourney at Longview which also will decide the third entrant. Top contenders are Eatonville, Castle Rock, Montesano, Raymond and Camas.

Yakima Valley —One of two berths goes automatically to Valley's Class A League champion. An eight-team tourney starting Feb. 23 at Sunnyside will fill the other spot. Most likely candidates: Selah, Goldendale, West Valley of Yakima.

North Central—Two teams qualify, with Caribou Trail and North Central League winners meeting for No. 1 berth. The loser meets the victor of a second-place playoff for the other spot. Probables: Tonasket, Okanogan, Eastmont, Quincy, Ephrata.

Northeast—Two top teams in Northeast league get district berths. Chewelah and Cheney should take them.

Southeast—One qualifier will be chosen in a March 2-3 tourney at Walla Walla. Pomeroy or Colfax should take the spot.

OK'S LICENSE

OLYMPIA (AP) — Chairman Don Abel of the State Liquor Board says a license may be granted the Paradise International Theater-Restaurant at the Seattle World's Fair to serve liquor by the drink.

Abel said Wednesday that officials of Century 21 said the area would be policed.

Earlier, Abel indicated the permit might be denied because the place was to be located in the Gayway area, where many minors would be. But officials of the exposition said the restaurant will be on Show Street, which is an adult entertainment area.

The board is expected to act soon on five such license applications—for Club 21, the Plaza Restaurant, La Fiesta and La Balcone, as well as Parade International.

The board has decided places granted licenses must agree that their permits expire Oct. 20, the end of the fair.

Centennial highlights

By HONEST ABE

The latest project under consideration by the Centennial Committee is an International Dinner. Presented in buffet style and featuring the foods of many lands, these dinners have proven tremendous successes in other communities. Needed first, however, is an eager chairman to handle the details.

TICKETS FOR THE "Smile Show" to be presented here on Feb. 24 are now on sale at King and Folk, KONP, or from one of the girls from the Laus Deo Tri Hi Y Club.

COMING UP, TOO, on the 21st of February will be the public meeting on Centennial at which time everyone will have an opportunity to meet the representative from the John B. Rogers ompany which is providing the professional services for our celebration. This meeting will be held in Roosevelt Junior High School auditorium.

Letters have been mailed out to as many clubs as possible but everyone has a personal invitation to attend who is interested in seeing the Centennial a success.

TAKING TIME OUT of his very busy schedule to serve as publicity chairman on the executive board of Centennial is Tommy Thompson, People's Store Manager. His committees will have charge of all advertising, news releases, promotional stunts, and billboard displays.

All ideas in these categories should be addressed to him.

TWO DAYS LEFT for prediction of the next 10 years to be enclosed in a vault at the new swimming pool. Also a personal invitation to all you fine cooks in the community to submit your recipes for the Centennial cookbook. Both predictions and recipes should be delivered or mailed to KONP.

DID YOU DO your part for Centennial today? That is, did you spend a Centennial dollar or ask for one in change? Remember, your Centennial dollars should replace paper dollars in Port Angeles during '62.

CLEARS WAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Douglas of the Supreme Court cleared the way today for release on $100,000 bond of Mickey Cohen, ex-gambler of Los Angeles, who is under prison sentence on a federal income tax conviction.

Douglas struck down a requirement imposed by U.S. District Judge George H. Boldt in Los Angeles that $30,000 of the $100,000 bond be made applicable to payment of Cohen's fine on the tax conviction.

The $100,000 bond was granted by Douglas on Jan. 30, and he specified today that the grant carried no condition concerning payment of Cohen's fine.

LONG JOB — Two D-9 tractors shoveling a road code of a hillside on the Calawah job. Priest is building six miles of road for his Calawah No. 8 logging show. He expects road work on all jobs this year total $500,000.

Priest Logging back in area with two big projects going

By ESTHER WEBSTER

One of our most ingenious and industrious logging and construction operators is finally back in this area on two good sized logging jobs.

He is Reid Priest of Priest Logging Incorporated, 523 Marine Dr.

Priest says this year's operations should total $1.5 million.

Although Priest will continue to log in the Everett area during the summer where he has operated for the past seven years, his Elk Ridge job here permits winter work. It is located seven miles north of Forks, between Forks and Sappho.

PRIEST STARTED on the Elk Ridge job about Jan. 1. It will employ 30 men who commute by bus from Port Angeles.

The other logging stand is Calawah No. 8 and will also employ about 30 men. This is a summer job.

Both logging operations call for the removal of 47 million board feet of timber, with 22 million board feet coming from Calawah No. 8.

Although a certain amount of this timber will be used in local mills, Priest says, both jobs are being logged for the Eclipse Lumber Company of Everett. Most of the timber will move over the port dock bound for Everett.

THE ELK RIDGE and Calawah jobs will entail six miles of road building each.

Priest is also building two and rebuilding six miles of road for Pope and Talbot at Bear Creek.

He estimates his road building work this year will run to $500,000.

Priest's work for the Eclipse Lumber Co. and the Everett Plywood and Door Co. for the past seven years has been east of Everett in the Stevens Pass area of the Cascades near Skykomish. He says this job is seasonal . . . all summer work. Winter snows are very deep.

DURING THE SEVEN years he has built approximately 36 miles of road at this stand. Of the original 44 million board feet of timber to log, there are 25 million board feet left to come out.

The Eclipse Lumber Co. headed by Ed Stutchel, is a pioneer mill established in 1895. It cuts about 40 million board feet of lumber a year and employs 180 men.

Priest will also be logging on a 10 million board feet stand at Granite Falls on Green Mt. east of Everett. This timber goes to the Everett Lumber Co.

OPERATING IN HALF a dozen places offers no problem to Reid Priest. He flies from one job to the other and communicates by radio enroute. He may be out of sight, but he's never out of sound for long.

With Priest in his extensive operations is his son, Harvey, who drives a truck, his father Lorn Priest of Sequim, who takes care of the Bear Creek job and his brother Ivan "Pat" who runs a log-loader.

ANOTHER BROTHER, Glen, 31, is general superintendent of all operations. Of Glen, Reid says, "In this work you have to have good men. Glen is one of the best organizers I've ever seen. He does a remarkable job." Glen is also a pilot. In summer Priest employs about 100 workers.

This is the first year Priest has worked both in the Everett area and in Clallam County. He employs a number of sub-contractors, too. Falling and bucking is contracted out to William Bond of Port Angeles and in Skykomish to Ernest Cashman.

REID PRIEST'S inventive mind is always at work trying to find ways of cutting costs. This has led to two mechanical devices now widely used in the logging industry in the Northwest.

They are the Berger Porta-tower and the Washington - Priest tongrapple. Priest holds the patents on both devices.

He spends a good deal of his time working with Berger Industries of Seattle who manufacture the porta-tower which actually takes the place of the old spar tree. The porta-tower has been perfected and improved nearly every year since its first trial use in 1950.

THE STEEL TOWER is 100 ft. high and can be carried or raised on a sled or truck. Cost runs from $25,000 to $40,000 depending on the type underpinnings used.

Priest says about 100 have been sold around the Northwest. "Logging will all be done with towers before too long," he says.

LATEST ENTHUSIASM of Priest is the tongrapple . . . which is a giant pair of tongs that grip a log for more efficient handling.

For the past year he has worked with the Washington Iron Works on this invention. It sells for $2,000. About 40 have been sold throughout the Northwest so far.

Although Reid Priest obviously enjoys designing new mechanical devices, he says, "Necessity is the mother of invention. I simply couldn't afford to operate any longer the old way."

ONE OF PRIEST'S conspicuous innovations is the use of planes. He had two until he sold one last week. This enables him and his brother Glen to maintain contact with their various operations at all times.

Priest says he can fly to Skykomish and back in less time than it takes to drive to Forks.

The foremen's pickup trucks are equipped with two-way radio and there is a radio operator on duty all the time at the Priest headquarters here in Port Angeles.

BY USING PLANES Priest finds it convenient to fly men and parts from job to job where they are most needed. There is a landing field handy at Skykomish and at Granite Falls. Parts are ordered from Seattle and picked up at Boeing Field.

Reid says, "Why, in summer I'm just a glorified pilot and parts boy." No matter what he calls himself, his zest for new ideas is as dynamic as ever.

Animals will be 'in flight'

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Automobile Underwriters Association ruled Wednesday that all animals striking cars will be regarded as "in flight" and damage will be paid in full under comprehensive auto insurance coverage.

In the past, it was up to the claims adjuster to decide whether an animal which landed on a car had all of its feet off the ground, and could be said to be "flying," or whether the animal had its feet on the ground at the moment of impact.

If the adjuster decided the animal jumped in the air, it was a "falling or flying object" and damage was paid in full.

But if the man decided the animal had its feet on the ground, the accident was a "collision," and the damage was paid under the $50 or $100 deductible clauses.

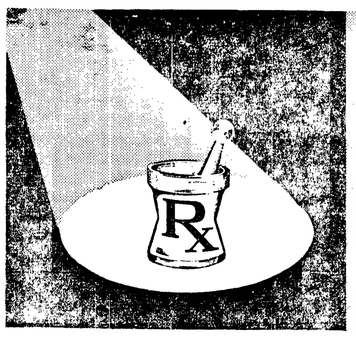
The Priceless PRESCRIPTION

WHAT ARE THE HUMAN VALUES ON WHICH WE SHOULD FIGURE THE DOLLAR COST OF A PRESCRIPTION?

Since we cannot evaluate comfort, relief from pain and possibly life itself in dollars and cents, we can only compare the dollar cost of prescriptions to everyday, tangible things!

According to a recent annual report of the U.S. Department of Commerce, the average per person expenditures for drugs were $10.12, as compared to $55 for alcoholic beverages, $32 for tobacco products, and $18 for repair, maintenance and parking of automobiles. Out of the $10.12 drug bill, $6.43 went for prescriptions. Furthermore since the 1934-39 average, house furnishings are 112.15 per cent higher, clothing 104 per cent, recreation 68.3 per cent higher . . . while medical costs are up only 64.7 per cent.



Viewed in the light of such values, no price for drugs is too high or too low . . . especially when the life of a loved one may depend upon the continued progress of pharmacy and medical care.

Seek jury trial in damage case

Attorneys for Marjie Millar McCallum filed a motion for a jury trial in her $10,108 personal injury suit against James and Agnes Willis of Aggie's Motel.

Mrs. McCallum claims that on May 28, 1961, while she was a paying guest in apartment No. 2 at Aggie's she slipped while getting out of the bathtub and cut her leg. There are two scars in the front of the leg between the knee and ankle as a result of the accident that are "permanent and disfiguring, constituting a substantial detriment to the plaintiff as a dancer."

No action will be taken on the request until the fall jury term.

Centennial Chit-Chat

Florence Ahlvers, Centennial Belles, and Elmer Critchfield, Big Brother of the Brush, issue a call to arms of members of both organizations to gather at Ediz Hook on Saturday morning at 9:30 a.m. to furnish proper momentum for the Port Angeles to Victoria Ski-a-thon.

Those who thrilled over the U.G.N. kick-off through a water-ski race between Victoria and Port Angeles a year or two ago will not be likely to miss this spectacle on the water. The men will go as emissaries of goodwill to Port Angeles' neighbors on the north.

The skiers will leave Victoria for home at 4 p.m. and should be due back at Ediz Hook about 5 p.m. If any of them go for speed on the way back, they could arrive any time after 4:30.

Bob Wheeler, chairman of the general parade, passes along the word to everyone in the county to stop by Centennial Headquarters for parade entry blanks if they did not receive them in the mail. He wishes it stressed that any type of float construction will be welcomed in the parade — amateur as well as professional.

"This is a local parade primarily, for our own enjoyment," said Bob. "It's a chance to tell our neighbors and friends about our special interests and at the same time use it as a fitting memorial to the past."

Bob is the first to vouch for the contagion of this Centennial spirit. He is mixologist at the Elks Club when he isn't working on Centennial plans.

Disney's Moon Pilot opens here tomorrow

Walt Disney again displays his deft touch with comedy when his new film, Moon Pilot, opens Saturday at the Lincoln Theater.

About a reluctant astronaut, the picture has fun satirizing the United States powers-that-be and at the same time wanders off into pure fantasy.

Moon Pilot centers about a space flight to orbit a man around the moon and a bunch of astronauts who wished for nothing more than not to go.

Tom Tryon, who gets the nod, is terrified of the trip, especially since planes make him sick.

On his final three-day pass before the trip he is followed by a beautiful, mysterious girl (Dany Saval) whom he takes to be a spy. But actually she is from outer space and has a chemical formula that will insure his flight safety.

The Film Estimate Board of Organizations says: "Efforts to get him into orbit, accompanied by the uproar of his security agent (Edmund O'Brien), the storming and stressing of the general in charge of the operation (Brian Keith) and the interference of a vote-conscious senator bring intermittent chuckles.

"Well photographed technical details and an attractive musical score are decided assets. All in all, in its healthy dig at the race to reach the moon, Moon Pilot stirs up plenty of good clean fun.
