BALL GAME SUNDAY

The base ball game next Sunday has the making of an interesting game, judging from the way the boys played the last game. This game is with a semi-professional team of extra good merit who play a good swift ball. Our boys should be well patronized in order to give them the backing they deserve, for no team can play its best without proper support from the fans. This is the last game of the season and it is costing the management a guarantee of $60 to get this team to meet them on the diamond. The home team is certainly worthy of the support of the public as they have put up nothing but excellent ball this season. The home team is in proper trim having spent a good portion of the week in practice that they may be in shape to give the visiting team a good reception, and the horsehide will have the warmest session it has yet had on this ground. Don't forget the boys, you lovers of good, clean and up-to-date sport, and they promise to give you a game that you will be glad to see.

TROUBLE AT DUNGENESS

Sheriff Cosser was called to Dungeness Saturday night because of a miscellaneous collection of misdoings of some of the residents of that district, the net result to date of which are the issue of three warrants, one for chicken stealing on the part of one of the younger folk, one for riotous conduct on the part of one of the oldest residents and one for the arrest of one of the bar keepers for selling to an intoxicated person who had already smashed considerable property. The hearings will be had later in the week.

B. F. Healey of Blyn was arrested today upon complaint of Manuel Correa, charged with drawing a pistol on said Correa and threatening to shoot him. The case will be heard before Judge Warner next week.

The Port Angeles public schools open next Tuesday, Sept. 7th, for the school year. How happy Young America will be!

WILL MAKE A PRACTICAL DEMONSTRATION

Of Small Fruit Culture in Clallam County. Cannery at Pt. Williams Will Be Utilized.

The people of the East End and especially those on Sequim are waking up to the fact that there is money in the growing of small fruit. Sometime ago a fruit grower's association, known as the Sequim Fruit Growers' Association was organized, with J. M. Grant, F. T. Balch, P. M. Gallup, J. N. Jones and Geo. Pears, directors. It is the purpose of this organization to set out at least twenty-five acres to small fruits, each stockholder to set out one or more acres, and increase the acreage as the business prospers. It is also proposed to use the clam canning building at Port Williams for canning the first season's crop. The personnel of the board of directors which has charge of this enterprise is a sufficient guarantee that the project will be a success from the start. Our local nurseryman, Mr. T. H. Carter, tells us that his agent was on Sequim recently, soliciting orders for his nursery stock and that his orders in two days for phenomenal, logan and blackberry plants alone amounted to upwards of $60. It is said that a salesman representing an Oregon nurseryman sold over $600 of nursery stock in the vicinity of Sequim last spring. All this goes to show that the farmers on Sequim are enthusiastic over the matter and mean business.

Apropos to this is the story told in these columns early in the year of a man in Chehalis county who planted a ten acre tract of upland to berries, his report for the past year showing that after deducting the cost of cultivation, harvesting and marketing the crop, and allowing himself $2.50 per day for the time employed, he secured a profit of $100 an acre from the farm planted to strawberries and logan berries.

As the Seattle P.-I. says, there is a sermon for every man in the Puget Sound country in that report from Chehalis county. It opens up the roadway to future possibilities in tilling the soil. The berry grower has accomplished more than ordinary business men. He has demonstrated that there is money in the fruit growing industry. He claims that every acre can be made to pay a profit of $300 to $500 annually if planted to vines and fruits and properly handled.

The location, the climate and the special features of the soil on Sequim are especially adapted to the growing of small fruits. We believe the farmers here are making a good investment that will certainly return big dividends.

FOUND THE NORTH POLE

Yesterday's dailies contain graphic accounts of the discovery of the north pole by Frederick A. Cook, the American explorer, April 21, 1908. Thus an American was the first to reach the goal of Arctic explorers.

The new law governing marriages went into effect Thursday of last week. The only perquisites now required for the successful swain are the lady's consent and a license before applying to someone to tie the nuptial knot.

AGED GENTLEMAN HAS DISAPPEARED

Evidently Bent on Suicide. Reward Offered for Information Leading to Discovery of Body.

W. E. White of Newberg, Oregon, arrived in the city Tuesday on a search for his father, Nathan White, who left home last Thursday very suddenly. Mrs. White went to Portland Thursday returning Friday and discovered that Mr. White had taken passage for Portland and later for Seattle and Port Angeles. At Seattle he mailed his watch and a post office money order for $10 home, and on Saturday mailed some coins and his knife from Port Angeles. The only trace that can be had of him in Port Angeles is that he ate dinner at the Lincoln dining rooms Saturday noon. Not a trace of him since can be had, and naturally the belief is that he left the city overland, as none of the officers of the steamers have any recollections of him leaving the city by boat. If Mr. White is still alive, it is thought that he will apply for light work somewhere to sustain himself. He cannot do heavy work and it is believed that he sent all his money he had home.

Some years ago Mr. White bought some land in Eastern Oregon and lately lost it because of a defective title. Since that time his mind at times becomes somewhat unbalanced. Mr. White, Jr., offers a reward of $100 for information that will lead to the whereabouts of his father.

Nathan White is 74 years of age, dark hair, grey with some black, beard cut short, no moustache. He is very deaf and will be readily recognized by any who attempt to converse with him. Any information will be thankfully received by local authorities.

Mr. Wright, a son-in-law of Mr. White's, arrived yesterday to continue the search. He says White wrote home from Seattle, bidding the family good-bye and directing that one should have the watch and another the knife. It is now believed that he has committed suicide and expected that his body will be found within a mile or so of town. The beach has been searched in the hope of finding his hat, at least, but has afforded no clue.

CITY'S ASSESSED VALUATION

The county auditor has turned into the City the following assessed valuation of city property as it appears on the tax roll as returned by the county assessor, and equalized by the Board of Equalization for the year 1909.

Realty in Dist. No. 1,	$390,010
Personal in Dist. No. 1,	87,090
Total for Dist. No. 1,	477,100
Realty in Dist. No. 2,	376,805
Personal in Dist. No. 2,	22,695
Total for Dist. No. 2,	399,500

Total valuation of all property in the city is $876,600, which is the amount upon which the tax levy for the next year is to be rated.

THE WEEK AT THE FAIR

Seattle Day on Monday, September 6th, is expected to draw the largest record of attendance during the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition. The committee is confident of surpassing the mark of 900,000 of the opening day by a good many thousands. Practically the entire city will be closed for the occasion in order that clerks and people who work during the day time may have an opportunity of seeing the exhibits of the Fair.

The Foresters of America will celebrate their day at the Fair on Monday with an elaborate procession through the grounds.

The Northwest Light & Power Association will begin its convention, lasting for three days, on Tuesday.

Farmers' Day at the Exposition on Wednesday will be one of the features of the week. A large number of prominent agriculturists and farmers from all parts of the Northwest will be in attendance and the program of the day will be devot-

Minor Happenings of the Week

Roseberg, Ore., suffered a $50,000 fire loss last week.

The first steel steamship ever constructed on the coast of Canada is being built at Yarmouth, N. S.

Two and one-half million population for Chicago is the estimate made by the compilers of the new city directory.

Road Commissioner Goodwin reports the contribution of $4,136 in labor at $4 per day on the roads during the spring months from Nome residents.

President Taft has indicated in talks with callers that in his message to congress next December he will strongly urge the early establishment of postal savings banks.

Idaho county, Idaho, voted "dry" last week under the local option law. Canyon county also voted out saloons by a majority of 1,850. These were the first local option elections in the state.

Governor Comer of Alabama has signed the bill providing submission of the question of a constitutional prohibition amendment to the voters within 90 days.

The Russian admiralty has decided to order a submarine of the Holland model. The boat will be built at the Nevsky works under American supervision.

The Chicago Great Western Railway Company property was purchased under foreclosure sale at St. Paul last week for $12,000,000 by Fred H. Gardiner and George W. Stevens representing J. P. Morgan & Co.

A London dispatch says: General Booth of the Salvation Army has abandoned his religious crusade in the provinces and postponed his proposed American and Canadian tour set for this fall.

Hereafter the charters of Texas state banks may be filed, but the bank will not receive authority to do business until a state bank examiner has made an examination of its capital stock, etc., and recommends that it be allowed to proceed.

Fifty hours ahead of their schedule, Lieut. Rosenthal and Privates Pardott and Zierber, driving a Mitchell ranger, departed from Chicago for Clinton, Iowa. The men are bearing army dispatches from New York to San Francisco.

Woman's suffrage was indorsed by the New Jersey Federation of Labor at the closing session of the convention at Atlantic City. In addition to the resolutions it is planned to send a memorial to Congress signed by 100,000 workmen favoring the enfranchisement of women.

A note of warning to crop statisticians who are predicting a bumper crop of wheat in the Northwest was sounded by James J. Hill, in an interview at St. Paul. Much harm will be done to the business of the country in encouraging overspeculation by the statement sent broadcast that the Northwest will harvest a pumper crop, according to the railroad magnate.

EXPOSITION IS BIG BOOST FOR SEATTLE, SAYS BARRETT

"The A.-Y.-P. exposition is doing more than anything that ever happened to gain recognition for this state by members of congress," says John Barrett, director of the bureau of America republics, who was last week a visitor at the exposition. Mr. Barrett represented Theodore Roosevelt at the groundbreaking of the fair, and returns to view the completed product. "The educational value of the exposition on the nation will be felt the next time Washington wants an appropriation from congress. You have had scores of prominent visitors at the fair who never understood the size and possibilities of this city and the surrounding territory before.

"They come back East and say, 'Well, the exposition is fine, but the real show is that city of Seattle. Go out and see it this summer, and take in the exposition, too. Either one is worth the trip, but that wonderful city which has sprung up while we were asleep is the biggest exposition of the two.'

"I am greatly pleased with the fair and proud to have had a hand in starting it."

Equalization Board Fixes Dates

Olympia, Aug. 28.—The state board of equalization will meet September 7 to fix state taxes. Representatives of Eastern Washington counties will be heard that day; of west side counties, September 8; of railroads, September 9, and electric roads and telegraph lines September 10.

Washington State News

Colville is to hold a local option election September 7.

In recent local option elections both Cashmere and Rockford voted "dry."

Fire at Hoquiam Saturday did $35,000 damage and for a time threatened the business portion of the town.

F. A. Hazeltine, of South Bend, was recently elected president of the board of regents of the State University.

The result of the first local option election ever held in Wenatchee was a sweeping victory for the "drys," who won by a majority of 106.

The University of Washington will reserve at least nine, and possibly more, buildings of the A.-Y.-P. exposition for permanent use. The board of regents has left the final decision to its building committee.

The excavations for the new Northern Pacific and Great Northern passenger depot at Tacoma is now completed, and a permit has been taken out for the structure. The cost of the building alone is placed at $500,000. The building will be finished and ready for occupancy within one year.

The local members of the Elks have been successful in receiving a favorable report on establishing a lodge of that order in Wenatchee. The fact that the last census gives the population of the city to be over 5,000 people has enabled the local members to bring about this installation.

Complaint has been filed with the state railroad commission by the Milwaukee Terminal railroad, stock of which is owned by the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound railroad, asking that the Great Northern railroad be forced to make physical connections with its tracks at Ballard. The date of the hearing has not been set.

Unless the United States department of justice succeeds in persuading the board of commissioners of King county to permit incarceration of federal prisoners in the King county jail, it is probable such prisoners will be maintained in the Pierce county jail and their cases heard in the federal court at Tacoma after September 1.

The United States geographic board, in decisions just made public, has changed the name of Niagara falls, in the Mt. Rainier national park, to Cushman falls in honor of the late Representative Francis W. Cushman, of Tacoma. The change was suggested to the board some time ago by Secretary of the Interior Ballinger.

The Columbia & Okanogan Steamboat Company has made arrangements to sell their steamer Yakima to the Columbia River Improvement Commission for carrying on the work of improving the river for navigation. The sum to be paid for the boat is $15,000. The contract is up to Gov. Hay, and the members of the commission for approval.

Clark Goes to Alaska Sept. 12

Boston, Aug. 28.—Walter E. Clark, recently appointed governor of Alaska, and Mrs. Clark, with L. P. Shackelford, republican committeeman from that territory, were in town yesterday but did not go to Beverly. Mr. and Mrs. Clark left for New York on the 5 o'clock train. The visit which the president has been expecting from Mr. Clark, it is now expected, will be made several weeks later, or just before Mr. Clark starts, September 12.

Goldendale Has Big Fire Loss

Goldendale, Wash., Aug. 30.—Fire started in the hall of the armory here about midnight last night, and before the firemen succeeded in getting it finally under control, a large part of the business section of the city was burned, entailing a loss of $35,000.

INSURANCE COMMISSIONER SCHIVELY IS ACQUITTED

Olympia, Aug. 28.—State Insurance Commissioner John H. Schively was last night acquitted upon every one of the 12 counts in the articles of impeachment brought against him by the state. Not one vote was registered for conviction upon article 25, the perjury charge.

It required 28, or a two-thirds vote of the senate, to convict upon each count. The state came nearest of conviction in the vote upon article 24, which charged that Schively enjoyed a double salary, one from the state and another from the Pacific Livestock association of Spokane. Twenty-six votes were cast for impeachment on this count, but he needed only 13 of the 14 votes that he secured, to save him from conviction. Conviction on one count would have sufficed to remove him from office. He would also have been barred from ever again holding public office in the state.

Senators Explain Votes.

Eleven of the counts charged Schively with irregularities in his official conduct while acting as deputy insurance commissioner under the regime of Sam H. Nichols, secretary of state and ex-officio insurance commissioner. The 12th article charged him with perjuring himself before the Spokane county grand jury in connection with his relations with the Pacific Livestock company. The latter was the weakest count in the indictment, while the state regarded as the strongest article 24, which set up the allegation that he had drawn double salary.

Lengthy speeches were made by nearly half of the senators in explanation of the vote they were about to cast. Senator "Dick" Hutchinson, Spokane, who was forcibly brought to the senate chamber by the sergeant-at-arms, refused to vote guilty upon any articles he had not heard evidence. He voted "guilty" on article 24 and not guilty upon 25. His request to be allowed to not vote upon all but two articles was refused by the senators.

The tension among spectators in the crowded galleries as the roll call proceeded was intense. Schively and his attorney, George C. Israel, sat at the attorney's table. Schively's face was expressionless until the vote was announced upon article 24. Then it lighted up. He knew he had won a victory his counsel had fought so hard for. When his acquittal on every count was announced, senators who bitterly opposed him as unfit for public office, and his friends among the "senate 16," as well as his many friends here, crowded about him and Mr. Israel and showered their congratulations upon them.

Among the first to offer congratulations were Assistant Attorney General Lee and Lester P. Edge, representing the house managers.

Vote on First Charge.

Article 2 was first voted upon, with a vote of 17 for impeachment and 23 against. Senator Fishback surprised everyone by voting "not guilty," explaining that on this count, Schively had refunded the money and he was willing, he said, to give him the benefit of the doubt. This article charged defendant with demanding and collecting $174 from two insurance companies represented by Charles S. Lebo. The vote:

Article 3, charged collection of $100 from the Boston Insurance company. The vote:

Rydstrom Changed.

Article 4 charged the collection of $200 from the Capitol Life Insurance company. The vote:

Article 17, charging collection of $200 from Washington Hardware & Implement Dealers Insurance company, Spokane. The vote:

Article 18, charging the collection of $200 from the Western Union Life Insurance company.

Davis "Switched."

The vote resulted the same as on article 17, except that Davis "switched" and voted guilty.

Article 19, charging the collection of $200 from the Farmers' Mutual Livestock company. This vote resulted 22 to 18, the changes in the voting being Davis and Rydstrom voting against impeachment. Otherwise the vote was the same as the article above.

Article 20 charged the collection of $200 from the Walla Walla Fire Insurance company. The vote was 24 to 16, the noes being:

Article 22, charged collection of $50 from the Falls City Fire Insurance company, Spokane. Only five votes were for conviction, they being Falconer, Fishback, Meyers, Paulhamus, Polson. The $50 fee was regarded as near the legitimate expense.

Solid Against Perjury Count.

Article 23, charged collection of $200 from the Atlas Insurance company, Des Moines, Iowa. The vote stood 22 to 18, the noes being:

Article 24, charged Schively with simultaneously enjoying salary as deputy insurance commissioner and president of the Pacific Livestock association, the vote resulting 26 for impeachment and 14 against. Those voting "no:"

Article 25, charging perjury before the Spokane county grand jury, was voted upon without reading the charge. Not a vote of the 40 senators was registered for conviction. In all of the voting Senators Graves and Nichols were absent. Nichols is sick and Graves was excused for the session.

GOVERNOR VETOES THREE SPECIAL SESSION BILLS

Olympia, Aug. 30.—Gov. Hay Saturday vetoed McGregor's bill to amend the criminal code by preventing the sale of liquor by unlicensed persons, as the measure contained no provision requiring state licenses. He also killed the repealing section of the game bill in order to protect elk until 1915, and vetoed the material men's lien bill.

S. B. 34, by Bryan—Appropriating $50,000 for the maintenance of the veterans' home at Port Orchard.

H. B. 33, by Bell—To provide for the nomination of congressional candidates to fill vacancies at special elections.

B. B. 58, by Weier—Substitute for H. B. 41, permitting women to enter rathskellers where liquors are sold.

H. B. 59, appropriations committee—Appropriating $36,678 for the maintenance of the national guard.

H. B. 60—Appropriating $10,000 for the relief of Indian war veterans.

ASK CONGRESS TO BUY TIMBER ON RAINIER ROAD

Tacoma, Aug. 30.—The Chamber of Commerce of Tacoma will ask congress at its next session to buy for the government the timber skirting the road leading from this city to Mount Rainier. Some of the heaviest timber in the state is found along the road, and Gen. Franklin J. Bell and others who have visited the mountain declare it would be in the nature of vandalism for the forest growing close to the road to be logged off. With the government as owner of the timber it would be preserved inviolate as part of the scenic and park attraction of the Mount Rainier regian. The Weyerhaeuser timber syndicate owns the most of the timber and is willing to sell at a reasonable price. The Washington delegation will be asked to urge an appropriation for the purpose upon congress.

State College, Pullman, Aug. 30.—In order to furnish meat for use in the students' dormitories at a minimum cost to the students' boarding clubs of the school, the college authorities have authorized the erection of a small slaughter house on the college farm.

S. S. OHIO ON ROCKS

WELL KNOWN NOME LINER WENT DOWN NEAR KETCHIKAN.

Purser, Wireless Operator and Three Others Lose Lives—She Carried 131 Passengers and a Crew of 82—Weather Was Thick and Sea Rough.

Seattle, Aug. 28.—The following message was received by the Alaska Steamship Company last night from Capt. John Johnson, master, and Capt. Samuel F. Snow, pilot, this being the first information coming from the officers in charge:

"Ohio struck rock 1 a. m. August 26, off Steep point. Afterward ran her ashore in Carter bay. Now lies submerged in six fathoms forward, twelve fathoms aft. Purser, wireless operator, quartermaster, one steerage passenger and one soldier missing. Ship damaged on port side on bottom. Some bulkheads gone. Impossible to say extent of damage. Captain and four men standing by ship. Passengers and crew landed by fishing boat Kingfisher at Swanson bay. Capt. Snow on Rupert City, southbound. Send instructions to Carter bay."

While threading her way through the narrow and dangerous passage of Finlayson channel, the steamship Ohio, Capt. John Johnson, of the Alaska Steamship Company's fleet, found her grave in Carter bay, B. C., between 1 and 2 o'clock Thursday morning. Striking a rock off Steep point, she was so badly damaged that she sank in Carter bay within half an hour, before she could be beached.

Five persons lost their lives in the mishap, the identity of three of whom had not been learned at a late hour last night. The known dead are: Purser Frederick J. Stephen, of 1523 Summit avenue, Seattle, and George E. Eccles, of Winnipeg, wireless operator. The others include one of the four quartermasters, a soldier passenger and a steerage passenger.

Aboard the Ohio when she crashed were 131 passengers and eighty-two members of the crew. Pilot Sam F. Snow was on the bridge. As soon as it was seen that the vessel was in imminent danger she was headed for Carter bay, a short distance to the east, but she plunged to the depths before shore could be reached.

Immediately after the crash the boats were lowered, the women being the first to enter. The soldier and steerage passenger were lost by the upsetting of a boat during the work of rescuing the passengers. Purser Stephen and Operator Eccles remained by the vessel when she sank, and it is believed that the quartermaster lost his life in the same manner.

At the time of the disaster the weather was dirty and the sea rough. That only five persons of the 213 aboard were lost is regarded as substantial proof that splendid discipline prevailed. The stories of the wreck show that those who lost their lives died as heroes. In the dead of night, with a storm raging, on precipitous shores, it seems almost a miracle to those familiar with the surroundings that but two passengers were lost. This fact is taken as evidence that the officers exhibited splendid presence of mind, the crew full obedience and the passengers extreme coolness in the face of imminent danger.

The secene of the disaster is Steep point, Finlayson channel, between Sarah island and the mainland, at the southern entrance to Hiekisk narrows. Carter bay, where the Ohio lies, is a short distance to the east where vessels sometimes anchor in the face of southerly gales. It is in British waters. It is 553 miles north of Seattle on the usual inside passage route, and exactly 100 miles south of Ketchikan.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 30.—With her decks crowded with passengers in various stages of undress, the MacKenzie steamer Rupert City reached port at noon Saturday, bringing 131 survivors of the Ohio disaster. With no collars, unshaved and looking tired out, the men leaned over the rails as the steamer came alongside the Johnson dock, but the few women who were among the people saved from the wreck were comparatively fresh and showed no great signs of the hardships they had undergone.

It was a story of a terrible experience that the passengers told on arrival. Following the shock of the wreck came the long wait for daylight, while rain poured down and men and women huddled together on the exposed rocks until the Vancouver steamer Kingfisher came to their assistance and every passenger and member of the crew on the Kingfisher joins in singing the praises of the large-hearted fishermen who gave them every possible assistance and lent them clothing.

Survivors Reach Seattle and Tell of the Wreck.

M. J. Heney, who is building the Copper River railway, arrived back in Seattle last evening, and after greeting a little group of friends at the Rainier-Grand, spoke of the wreck.

"It was at 2:15, for my watch stopped, that the vessel took a lurch to port, her stern going down at the same time. I had just told the captain how comfortable the pilot house would be when we both had to leap like frogs into the bay. So did Gen. Burdette, a prominent lawyer of Washington. I looked at the shore lights then decided I would take a chance with the wreck and was picked up by a boat and towed to the bridge, which was then four feet under water. The general was saved just as he was sinking for the third time.

"One of the most unfortunate incidents was the death of a soldier whom I heard referred to as 'Doc' Hayes. Just a little while before the boat went down Hayes went back to his room to get something. As the boat settled the door jammed and men were in the act of breaking the door down to let him out when the boat began to take her final lurch. The rescuers were compelled to flee for their lives with the cries of the poor fellow ringing in their ears.

Eccles' Body Arrives.

While thirty-five passengers and most of the crew of the Ohio were alighting from the train last evening at the union depot, baggagemen were removing from their car a rude wooden box in which, packed in ice, were the remains of George C. Eccles, the wireless hero of the Ohio.

"I'll see to it that the remains reach either friends or have a burial commensurate with the heart that man carried," said M. J. Heney, the Alaska railway man, when the body of Eccles came ashore at Swanson bay. He ordered a rude coffin, secured ice from the fishing boat Kingfisher, and wired his agents here to spare no expense in finding his relatives and arranging for an undertaker to take charge of the remains when Seattle was reached.

Charles F. Booth, of Seattle; H. D. Winchell, a mining engineer; Clarence Cunningham, locator of coal properties in the Katalla region; Alexander N. Winchell, professor of geology at the University of Wisconsin; F. C. Greene, of Cleveland, a coal mining engineer, with his wife and son; John P. Gray, of Wallace, and Mrs. Gray and Harry White, of Wallace, were members of a party of survivors of the Ohio who arrived by train from Vancouver, B. C., last night, having been taken to Vancouver by the Rupert City. They were on their way to the Katalla region.

Mr. Booth has a vivid recollection of the incidents of the wreck, since he was fearful of trouble in the bad weather into which the Ohio had steamed. After telling of the vessel's striking in the pitchy darkness, Mr. Booth described the landing of the passengers in the ship's lifeboats.

"The men were held back," he said, "while the women and children were put in the boats."

Wireless Not Caught.

Mr. Booth states that the efforts of Wireless Operator Eccles to attract assistance by means of his "S. O. S." message were not successful. "Mr. Eccles told me himself as we stood with the freight clerk and several members of the crew on the rear upper deck awaiting a chance to get off the ship, that he had been unable to get a single response, owing to the mountains intervening between him and the nearest wireless station at Ketchikan."

"Eccles was one of the last to leave the ship," says Mr. Booth. "He continued to give his distress calls until the fires of the engine were put out, cutting off his power. This occurred fifteen or twenty minutes before the vessel went down.

"Among the others who were lost was Albert Anderson, one of the quartermasters, who, I am told, was drowned while trying to save a soldier who was confined to his cabin and unable to get out. This soldier had been aroused, but had failed to grasp the danger, and had gone back to his cabin.

"Purser Etephen also made heroic efforts to reassure the passengers in the face of the great danger and to assist them in getting on life preservers. He himself refused to put on a life preserver, fearing that to do so would add to the alarm of the passengers. He stayed with the ship till the last and was caught in the suction as the vessel went down. A waiter also is said to be missing."

SPECIAL SHORT COURSE FOR DAIRY STUDENTS

State College, Pullman, Aug. 30.—A one-year course in dairying, the purpose of which is to fit young men for dairy herdsmen, butter-makers and general work on an up-to-date dairy farm, has been added to the curriculum of the State College, and classes will commence on September 23. The one-year course is designed for the benefit of students who lack the time or funds to take the full four-year course.

Dominion Takes Over Esquimalt

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 30.—Commander Crawford, senior naval officer at Esquimalt, has received orders from the admiralty to turn over the Esquimalt naval station to the Dominion government as soon as the official appointed by the Dominion arrives to take over the station. It is expected the formal transfer will take place when Hon. L. P. Brodeur, minister of marine, returns from England.

North Yakima, Aug. 30.—The prune crop of the present year in the Yakima valley will be 80 cars, according to the estimates of F. E. Thompson.

TAFT SENDS GREETING

HOPES CONSERVATION CONGRESS MAY BEAR GOOD FRUIT.

Gifford Pinchot, Chief Forester, Presides at One Session and Makes Address at Another. Other Prominent Men Discuss Objects of Convention.

SEATTLE, Wash., August 28.—With Gifford Pinchot, chief forester of the United States, as presiding offi- in the auditorium of the Fine Arts building, in which every seat was taken and many people standing, listened while ex-Gov. George C. Pardee, of California, flayed the "rapacious private interests which are gobbling up our water resources," and those "doers who desire to oppress the people by taking from them the natural resources of the country." He also declared that the forests of this country, which are now being "devastated by the ax and firebrand," are essential to the navigation of the rivers, to the irrigation of arid and semi-arid lands of the country, and to the prevention of disastrous floods.

A telegram from President Taft, pledging his support to the conservation policy; the address of Gifford Pinchot, and the introduction of child life as a subject for conservation by Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, of Washington, D. C., chairman of the child labor committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution, were other features of Friday's deliberations.

President Taft's message, sent from Beverly, Mass., said:

Message From President.

"I congratulate you on the objects of your meeting and sincerely hope that your deliberations will result in useful conclusions. You can count upon the earnest support of this administration, of the policy of conservation of natural resources by every reasonable means properly within the federal executive jurisdiction and such recommendations to congress as may be best adapted to obtain useful legislation towards the same end." At the conclusion of the reading of the telegram, the 400 people in the audience, which was composed largely of women, gave a ringing cheer.

Mr. Pinchot spoke at the morning session, which was presided over by Joseph N. Teal, a member of the joint committee on conservation between state and nation, of which Mr. Pinchot is chairman.

Regarding the Washington school lands, Mr. Pinchot said: "There have been complaints in Washington that the school lands of the state are damaged by the forest service. This matter I hope will be settled within the next three months and Washington will get the benefit of all school lands within the boundaries of the forest service."

Mr. Pinchot confined himself to a direct treatment of the subject of conservation, which, he said, aims at the greatest good of the greatest number for the longest time and not at the profit of the few. He stated that conservation had three primary objects, which he enumerated as follows:

Three Objects of Conservation.

"First, to develop our natural resources so that this generation may have its full share and use of the riches of the earth.

"Second, to prevent needless waste and destruction of these resources, so that future generations may likewise have their just part in the material foundations of prosperity.

"Third, to see to it that the great natural resources so developed and protected shall be used permanently for the welfare of the many instead of for the profit of the few.

"The conservation idea covers a wide field," continued the speaker, "it aims at the greatest good of the greatest number for the longest time. It is simple, definite, direct. It advocates the use of foresight, prudence, thrift and intelligence in public affairs for the same reasons which lead us to exercise these familiar virtues in our private business. It proclaims equally the right and the duty of the people to take thought and to act for the benefit of the people. Therefore, in a word, it demands the application of common sense to the common problems for the common good.

A. Big Subject.

"The principles of conservation, thus described, have a general application, the breadth and value of which are very remarkable. The development of resources and opportunities, the prevention of waste and loss, the protection of the public interests, by foresight, prudence, thrift and intelligence—all this applies with clear and undeniable force to the conservation of natural resources. But it applies just as clearly and undeniably to the conservation of every interest and necessity of the people. The conservation point of view is as valuable in education as it is in forestry. It applies to the body politic as it does to the earth and its minerals. Municipal franchises are as properly within its sphere as franchises for water power. It is as part to the subject of good roads as to that of waterways, and the training of our people in effective citizenship is as germane to it as the increase of productiveness in our soils. Conservation, the application of common sense to the common problems for the common good, will lead directly to efficiency wherever it is given control. We are coming to see that conservation will have two great results—to conserve the natural resources which guarantee our welfare, and to lead our people to greater wisdom and effectiveness in every department of our common life. The outcome of conservation is national efficiency."

Conservation Vital to the West.

John Barrett, director of the bureau of American republics, speaking at the afternoon session, told of conditions existing in China today because conservation was not practiced there. He declared that the West never had a better friend in the presidential chair than the incumbent. Conservation, he declared, was a vital issue to the West.

"The primary question before the West today is conservation," he said. "It is the question that the Western states as a whole are vitally interested in."

"As to the reported difference of opinion between certain high officials of the government," he continued, starting on another subject, "it can be said that this, in the opinion of those who know the facts, has been greatly exaggerated through the contention of partisans of either side. It is nothing remarkable that there should be an honest difference of view between officers of our government, which will eventually bring good rather than harm to the cause being argued."

Mr. Pinchot wrung his hand when he concluded and complimented him upon his address.

Next to the demonstration which followed the reading of President Taft's message, Mrs. Foster spoke upon the conservation of child life, in a plea for the abolition of child labor, that moved her hearers. She said she was speaking to hard-headed business men, and therefore presented the commercial side of the question. She urged her hearers not to waste the child now, when he is but a sapling, but conserve him until he develops into a sturdy, sinewy tree.

Mrs. P. S. Peterson, of Chicago, leader of the forestry classes of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, was the other woman speaker. She told of the great interest that the club women of the country have taken in conservation and forestry and of the introduction of forestry classes in many of the women's clubs of the country.

Ralph S. Hosmer, superintendent of forestry of the territory of Hawaii, in his address, told of the conservation work in the islands. "Hawaii is one of the eleven members of the Union to employ a professionally trained forester," he said. "Forestry has been a live issue in Hawaii for the last thirty years. Definite forest work began with tree planting by certain of the large sugar plantation companies and has been continued both by private interests and by the government."

One of the features of the day was the talk on "Conservation in Japan," by J. Hasiguchi, of the Japanese A.-Y.-P. commission, who spoke in the absence of H. Ota, imperial Japanese commissioner. He told how forestry was a long practiced art in Japan and how the forests were handed down from father to son. He was loudly applauded when he said:

"If it would not be improper I might say that the United States could well take a lesson from Japan."

Conservation by Avoiding War.

He continued, saying that now, after her two recent wars, Japan is conserving her energies and that she wished only for peace, both on the Pacific and with the rest of the world.

CENSUS AND POLITICS MUST NOT BE MIXED

Washington, Aug. 28.—President Taft has made it clear that he does not intend that census work and politics shall be mixed. Acting Secretary McHarg, of the department of commerce and labor, received a letter from Mr. Carpenter, secretary of the president, stating that census supervisors who hold political positions, such as secretaryships or chairmanships of county committees, must give up either their political or their government position.

Portland Fair Not Postponed

Portland, Ore., Aug. 30.—During the past few weeks a rumor has been spread abroad to the effect that the annual meeting of the Portland Fair and Live Stock Exposition has been abandoned. This rumor is without the slightest foundation. There will be a week of live stock exhibitions from September 20 to 26. In addition there will be a six-day harness race meet for which close to $25,000 will be hung up.

Steel Rail Freight Cut

Pittsburg, Aug. 28.—Important reductions in freight rates from Pittsburg and other points in Western Pennsylvania, Maryland and Eastern Ohio, to the Pacific Coast will be made next month, according to circulars received here yesterday by shippers of this district from the transcontinental freight bureau. The reductions affect chiefly the price of steel and steel rails, amount to from 30 to 90 cents a ton and will mean a saving of several hundred thousand dollars annually to shippers.

AIR RECORDS SMASHED

In a Biplain of His Own Design Englishman Outsails All Competitors Both As to Distance Covered and Swiftness of His Machine.

Bethany Aviation Field, Rheims, Aug. 28.—Henry Farman, the English aviator, a hitherto unknown quantity in the aviation contests, in a biplane of his own design, broke the world's records for duration of flight and distance in his heavier-than-air machine yesterday and won the grand prix De La Champagne—the endurance test—by a remarkable flight, officially recorded as 180 kilometers (111.78 miles) in 3 hours 4 minutes 56 2-5 seconds.

He actually covered an extra ten kilometers and remained in the air ten minutes after 7:30 last evening, the hour that the timekeepers, under the rules, ceased to keep a record of the flight.

The other contestants finished in the order named:

Hubert Latham, in a monoplane No. 29, 134 kilometers 500 meters. Time—2 hours 18 minutes 9 3-5 seconds.

Louis Paulhan, in a Voisin biplane, 131 kilometers.

Count De Lambert, biplane, 116 kilometers.

Hubert Latham, in a monoplane No. 13, 111 kilometers.

M. Tissandier, biplane, 111 kilometers.

Roger Sommer, biplane, 60 kilometers.

M. De La Grange, monoplane, 60 kilometers.

B. Bleriot, monoplane, 40 kilometers.

Glenn H. Curtiss, biplane, 30 kilometers.

M. Lefevre, biplane, 21 kilometers.

Farman's victory was a complete surprise. He had been preparing his machine secretly and had not appeared upon the field until yesterday, except for a few practice flights, and had been almost forgotten. Indeed, after he started, keeping close to the ground, while Latham and the others were soaring in spectacular fashion high in the air, Farman attracted no attention until he had flown eighty kilometers. Then, suddenly, the watchers woke up only to discover that he had gone out carrying petrol enough for a five-hour flight and equipped with selen-cooling revolving motor.

Trouble with his ignition plug forced Latham to descend after he had covered 111 kilometers, and Tissandier came down after accomplishing identically the same distance. The other aviators had ended their efforts earlier.

Only Farman continued. Round and round he went as regularly as clockwork, always hugging the ground, taking no chances and avoiding any attempt at display. Record after record fell before his methodical flight. Dusk came, darkness fell and the twinkling lights appeared in the villages on the distant hills. Lanterns were hung on the towers marking the limits of the course. The judges no longer could tell whether the record-breaking aeroplanist was flying and the searchlights from the grandstand could not pierce the gloom. At 7:30 o'clock it was announced that the timing had ended under the rules. Ten minutes more and suddenly out of the darkness a ghostly thing appeared in front of the tribune and came to earth on the starting line.

Mr. Farman appeared almost overcome by the long strain he had undergone. He smiled faintly as he shook hands with those about him, but his face was white and his hands cold. He almost fainted as he was helped out of his seat. Then a score of persons brought him in triumph on their shoulders to the presidential tribune, where M. Millerand, minister of public works, was waiting to receive him.

When the roar of the cheering had ceased, M. Millerand, in the name of the French government, congratulated Farman.

Much sympathy is expressed for Paulhan and Latham, both of whom firmly believed they would set new records. Ill luck continues to pursue the pilots of the Wright machines.

AMERICAN AVIATOR BREAKS OTHER RECORDS AT RHEIMS

Bethany, Aviation Field, Rheims, Aug. 30.—The international cup of aviation, known also as the Gordon Bennett trophy, was won by Glenn H. Curtiss, American aviator, in the fastest aerial journey of 20 kilometers (12.42 miles) ever accomplished by man. His time, 15 minutes 50 3-5 seconds, was only 5 3-5 seconds faster than that made by Bleriot over the same course. The other two French pilots, Latham and Lefevre, finished respectively in 17 minutes 32 seconds and 20 minutes 47 3-5 seconds. Cockburn, an Englishman, ran into a haystack as he was maneuvering for the start and did not cross the line.

Curtiss stole a march on his rivals by getting away early. Finding conditions favorable at 10 o'clock in the morning, he decided to take no chances in the fickle weather, and after a trial trip, in which he made the circuit of the course in 7 minutes 55 1-5 seconds, lowering the world's record nine seconds, he started immediately on his attempt to win the trophy.

REFORM IN COURT PROCEEDURE IS URGED

Detroit, Aug. 28.—At yesterday's session of the American Bar association the committee appointed two years ago to consider the matter of unnecessary costs and delays in litigation submitted a report in which it advocates a gradual but sweeping reform in judicial procedure.

The committee reported satisfactory progress in bringing to the attention of congress proposed laws to authorize the appointment of official stenographers for United States courts and fix their compensation, to limit the setting aside of verdicts on error unless the error complained of shall appear to have resulted in a miscarriage of justice, and to permit the use of authorized printed copies of records in appealing cases instead of written or typewritten manuscripts.

Further, the committee outlined the general principles on which it considered a reorganization of state courts should eventually be effected.

"The whole judicial power of each state," says the report, "at least for civil causes, should be vested in one general court, of which all tribunals should be branches, departments or divisions. The business as well as the judicial administration of this court should be thoroughly organized so as to prevent not merely waste of judicial power, but all needless clerical work, duplication of papers and records and the like, thus obviating expense to litigants and cost to the public.

"This court should have three chief branches—county courts, including municipal courts, a superior court of first instance, and a single ultimate court of appeal. All judges should be judges of the whole court, assigned to some branch or locality but eligible and liable to sit in any other branch when called upon to do so. Supervision of the business administration of the whole court should be committed to some high official of the court, who would be responsible for failure to utilize the judicial power of the state effectively."

The committee suggests that a similar official, who should be a judge, not a clerk, act in each branch or division, and that in like manner the clerical and stenographic force be under the supervision of a responsible officer, with suitable subordinate supervising officials.

MILLIONAIRE BACKS RADIUM MOVEMENT

Denver, Col., Aug. 28.—The discovery of radium ore in the United States is the object of a movement started yesterday by Thomas F. Walsh, millionaire mine owner.

Through the Vinson-Walsh research department of the Colorado State School of Mines at Golden, which is supported by Mr. Walsh, free tests will be made of all samples of pitch blende. The results will be regarded as confidential.

To meet the preliminary cost of the undertaking, Mr. Walsh has sent to President Victor C. Anderson of the School of Mines a check for $5,000. In his communication to Dr. Alderson he makes the following appeal to prospectors:

"To Prospectors and Mine Owners of Colorado: Radium has never been produced in the United States. It comes from pitch blende and is of most priceless value. Austria has a monopoly of this ore. Why should we not produce it in Colorado? The richest prize in the mining world is a rim of pitch blende ore.

"This rare ore is apt to be found in many mining sections of the state. In finding it you will be enriching yourself, placing your state in the front rank and helping to open a new industry in mining.

"The undersigned trustingly appeals to his brother prospectors and mine operators to look for this mineral. He believes the doing so will bring great results.

(Signed) "THOMAS F. WALSH."

President Alderson stated that to a limited extent the school is ready to furnish responsible persons samples of pitch blende to aid in familiarizing prospectors with its appearance.

PRICE FOR REGISTERING MAIL TO BE INCREASED

Washington, Aug. 28.—An increase of 2 cents is to be made soon in the fee for registering letters and packages. Announcement of the proposed change was made by Postmaster General Hitchcock. The government has been losing heavily through the present system.

Cheap moving picture shows are everywhere. The importance of some supervision, either of the class of pictures or of those who view them, has lately been illustrated by an incident in Atlanta, Ga. Three boys, the eldest 8 years of age, the youngest 6, visited a picture show and saw a representation of an execution by hanging. After they went home they tried to repeat what they had seen, with the youngest boy as the victim. He was found barely in time to save his life.

There is general gratification at the announcement that the next Olympian games, to be held in Sweden in 1912, will be under the control of an international board of judges rather than under that of a board composed wholly of citizens of the country which is acting as the host of the occasion. Whether it was justified or not, the resentment at the instances in 1908 did much to mar the success of the games that year. If all decisions are left to an international jury, there is assurance of fair play and good will.

The increase of population comes largely from those who live in modest circumstances, on daily wages. Many of them accumulate something; on the average, more of them accumulate than those who spend so much for social appearances. But the unfortunate thing is that so many young persons marry with little or nothing and with the most hazy prospects in life. The young man should marry when he has accumulated a little and has good prospects. The girl should marry only when she is willing to live well within her husband's income and help him to save. A man is made or lost according to the temperament of his wife.

The weight of medical opinion has been steadily against Dr. Koch, the great German physician, in his contention that tuberculosis in cattle is a different disease from tuberculosis in human beings, and cannot be transmitted from one to the other. Unexpected light has been thrown upon the matter by a sad occurrence which happened at the government experiment station at Bethesda, Md. Several children of employes of the station died under circumstances which made an autopsy desirable. It was found that death had been caused by tuberculosis of the glands of the neck and the intestines. Further investigation disclosed the fact that the milk on which they had been fed came from certain cows supposed to be healthy, but found on examination to be afflicted exactly as the children were, with tuberculosis of the neck and intestines. The fact, although not conclusive, is against the opinion of Dr. Koch.

The statistician has been studying the records of the graduates of Smith College and of Radcliffe. Of 3,000 Smith alumnæ only 800 have married. There are 900 others credited with having "no occupation." Only 16 per cent have engaged in business undertakings, and 800 are teachers. Of the 800 Radcliffe graduates only 180 have married. There are 300 teachers in the list. There are 150 who have "no occupation." The figures include the records up to 1907. They show about 25 per cent of the graduates of the two schools together to have married. A glance at the statistics may have suggested to Prof. George Herbert Palmer that a little flirting in connection with classroom work would be a good thing. It is presumed that he meant that the cultivation of friendships and pleasant relationships between representatives of the two sexes has a distinct educational value. It is possible, too, that he was aiming at a certain type of college woman likely to be found at Radcliffe and at other institutions for women only, having in mind the more satisfactory conditions to be noted in the West, where the coeducational idea has stronger hold. College marriages are so common in the West that they have become proverbial. The lists of graduates of coeducational schools show how numerous the alliances of fellow students are. The "class news" published in a college paper affords examples without number of the same thing. Hardly a week passes without the chronicling of a college wedding in the society columns of the Chicago papers. The friendships formed at Northwestern or Chicago are proclaimed in many an announcement telling of the marriage of graduates. In the small college town, where the social life is more restricted, and where the college influence predominates, the number of people who marry as the result of acquaintance and association in undergraduate days is large. Conclusions drawn from a study of the alumnæ of Smith and Radcliffe are not to be accepted as representative. A large part of the history of many western schools is connected with the marriage of graduates.

Backing Out of the Royal Presence.

In presenting his credentials, the new ambassador makes a brief formal address, which is replied to in kind by the king, after which, on the signal of a royal nod, Mr. Jones begins the painful and sometimes disastrous business of backing out of the royal presence. It is in this backing process that the professional diplomats of Europe especially shine; almost any one of them can back up in a straight line for fifty or sixty feet, without knocking over a piece of furniture, not forgetting at the same time to make the proper number of genuflections at exactly the right spots on the floor. On the other hand, it was in precisely matters of this kind that American diplomats of the old shirt sleeves school most frequently offended. How often in those days did an expatriated American of long European culture shriek with agony as he saw a boorish minister, whose early terpischorean training had been neglected, awkwardly back into a marble bust, or heard his wife, with vulgar effrontery, ask the empress how her last baby was getting through its teething! How often was it pathetically pointed out that the very lives of really cultivated Americans abroad were made miserable by the shocking gaucheries of our diplomatic representatives, and that the greatest of republics had become the laughing stock of European drawing rooms!—Henry M. LARGEST CIRCULATION IN CLALLAM COUNTY,

Subscription Price $1 per year.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 3, 1909

In view of the success of Made-in-Washington Day this year, which was worked upon short notice by the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, a more extended campaign will be made next year. It was shown by one local manufacturer, if the people of the state could be induced to use homemade things the payrolls of the state would increase $50,000,000 annually. This prosperity would communicate to all the professions and to real estate and there would be so large a saving in the item of production that it is impossible to estimate the entire value to the state. Patriotism to Washington by its people will make it one of the richest commonwealths in the nation.

In a case appealed from Skagit county, the Supreme court holds, affirming the judgment of the lower court, that a saloon keeper who sells liquor to a man who goes out and gets into a fight is liable for damages. In the case at point, the drinking man, one Wooding, was known as one quarrelsome when drunk. He bought liquors at a saloon, afterwards getting into a fight with one Grasjian, upon whom he made murderous assault and as a result, Grasjian killed him. Action was taken against the saloon keeper, resulting in an award of damages in the sum of $400 in the lower court. The supreme court upheld the judgment, saying that the lower court and the jury determined that the liquor was responsible or partly so for the death of Wooding.

E. C. FINCH OF ABERDEEN

E. C. Finch of Aberdeen, candidate for the nomination for congress in the second district, was an Angeles visitor this week, getting acquainted with our people and making a very favorable impression among those whom he met. The republicans of the south western portion of the district claim that in Mr. Finch they have a man who will make a desirable and formidable candidate, and one who, if elected, will make good at the national capital afterward.

Mr. Finch has lived in Chehalis county for more than a quarter of a century, is a man of wide experience and his friends claim that his active business career has brought him into close touch with all the interests in the district and that he understands its needs. He is a tireless worker and a fluent speaker and those who have been his neighbors during all this time claim that there is no man in the district who would give a better account of himself at the national capital.

The announcement is made from Olympia that Governor Hay will issue a call within a short time for a special election to be held in the second congressional district on November 2nd for the purpose of choosing a successor to the late Congressman Cushman. As the legislature failed to pass the emergency clause to the congressional district law, passed at the special session, and as the law does not take effect until November 19th, and inasmuch as the election cannot be held before twenty-five days thereafter, it will be necessary for parties to hold conventions and nominate candidates, if the district is to be represented in Congress at the December session. Gov. Hay can see no way of having the second district represented in congress at the December session without having the candidate nominated by conventions, therefore he will issue the call within a short time.

Fifty of the commercial experts of Japan are now the guests of the United States, having come to this country as guests of the Associated Chambers of the Pacific Coast. They reached Seattle on the steamship Minnesota this week and will tour the country for three months. They bring a special message of good will from the Mikado, with instructions to cement the friendship between the two nations. One object of the visit is to enlarge the trade relations. Their coming gives the United States an opportunity to tighten its grip on the trade of the Orient.

Since June it is estimated that fire has destroyed timber to the amount of $5,000,000 in this state. Every thousand feet of timber burned means a loss of $8.00 in wages to the community. Timber means pay checks, to support all other industries. During the dry season no fires should be started in wooded districts unless they are carefully watched. Where fires are found they should be put out at once. Call on the fire warden for assistance if you need it. In the last ten years, four billion feet of timber has been destroyed by fire. This is a lamentable waste of one of the state's greatest resources.

The Port Townsend Call says the prediction is made that Insurance Commissioner Schively will have a harder fight before a jury in Spokane county than he had in the senate at Olympia. In one of his visits to Spokane Schively said that the grand jury indictments in the Livestock case worried him a great deal more than the impeachment proceedings. Such a feeling is but natural. Jurors are supposed to be honest. The only chance Schively will have will be to have the solid 14 sit on his jury.

FOUND SKULL OF GREELISH

On my return from the Olympic hot springs, I stopped over night at my Boulder creek camp. Next morning I thought I would go to the mouth of Boulder creek and try for a fish, and in the Elwha river, fifty feet below the mouth of Boulder creek, on a clean gravel bar lay the skull of a human with what looked to be one eye socket directly toward the bank. I stepped close to the edge of the water and reaching out passed the slender point of my fish pole through the hole in the skull and brought it ashore. The hole in the skull was not, as I had thought, one eye socket, but was where the neck joined and the spinal column passed through. One year ago the coming October, a Mr. Greelish of Seattle, while in the Olympics without a guide, became lost and was last seen on Elliot trail six miles west of Elwha and on water shed of Boulder creek. It is my belief that after he became lost he traveled down the slope to the creek in hopes of following the creek that it might bring him to some place he might recognize. And knowing as I do that it is impossible for a man to travel Boulder creek, it is quite likely he perished in the attempt. The skull has been left with Sheriff Cosser.

We could make clothes expressly for you here at home, but a local tailor shop today is impractical and unprofitable.

It has no labor market from which to secure desirable cutters and tailors—

It cannot afford to install a modern plant designed to reduce cost of production—

It doesn't do sufficient business to enable it to buy woolens direct from the mills—

It cannot keep abreast of metropolitan styles and workmanship.

Therefore, we send our orders for fine made-to-measure clothes to Ed. V. Price & Co., of Chicago.

We can take your measure the same way we would if running shops here, and furnish you your clothes, made as you want them, at 50% less than we could make them locally. Won't you call today?

California Day, September 9, will be one of the leading state celebrations of the week. The program will be held in the California State building at the Exposition, with a reception in the evening at the Washington State building.

The Hoo-Hoo celebration on Thursday will bring a large attendance of lumber manufacturers from all parts of the Northwest. Thursday will also be Raisin Day, when the fruit will be given away, and Volunteer Firemen's Day. The Washington State League and the Fourth Class Postmaster's Association occupy the program of the Fair for Friday.

New England Day on Saturday will be observed by the landing of a model of the Mayflower with 101 New England people, each representing some character of the party of Pilgrims. A model of Plymouth Rock has been built for the occasion at the foot of Pay Streak on Lake Union. The Spanish-American war veterans will also celebrate at the Exposition on Saturday.

According to the reports brought in by the steamer Bellingham, salmon are plentiful at Neah Bay. As an evidence of their plentifulness one Indian trolling in a canoe yesterday caught 170 salmon. Others are making good catches and the viliage will be well supplied with salmon for winter use. Most of the fish caught are being smoked as there is little or no demand for them at the canneries. The Indians understand the art of smoking salmon and as a rule they find a ready market for their surplus during the winter months.

SOMETHING FOR EVERYBODY

The linen industry in Ireland employs 70,000 persons.

Copper and wire sheets are now produced direct from crude metal by one process.

Asbestos of reported good quality exists in large quantity in Rajputana and in Afghanistan, and a native company has been formed to work the deposits and manufacture the product.

About six hundred patents are granted each year to British women upon inventions, ranging from articles distinctively feminine in nature to motors, railroad cars, flying machines and wireless telegraphy.

Brazil is offering an alluring field to the American makers of patent medicines, as against the standard proprietary medicines there exists no prejudice on the part of Brazilian doctors or their patients.

The proportion of felonies relating to property to the population in the police area of London has risen steadily of recent years. In 1907 it was 2,689 to each thousand of the population, a higher figure than in any year since 1895.

The population of the state of Vera Cruz may be approximately put down at 1,300,000. Every settlement, village, town and city is provided with private and public educational institutions for the elementary education of the people.

Professor Beniamina Rinaldi publishes in the Corriere delle Maestre of Milan an interesting statistical study of elementary education in Italy. School teachers are the worst paid public servants in Italy. Their pay averages from 37 to 46 cents a day.

Every metal is believed by Gruttin, a German chemist, to have its peculiar odor, which he regards as a gaseous transformation product. He has made some of the odors perceptible for a few moments at intervals by heating the metals to 122 degrees Fahrenheit.

Sturgeon are much scarcer now in the lower Amur River than formerly, owing to the fact that they are caught contrary to law, with dragnets and during the spawning season. Sturgeon weighing from 100 to 160 pounds were once caught in quantities, but are uncommon now, the average weight being between thirty-six and forty pounds.

A skirt steak is not exactly a piece de resistance, or a flirtatious piece, as some thoughtless sillies may think, but is quite another piece, the cheapest piece of a steer. It is a piece of the diaphragm, or midriff, between lungs and bowels, and makes good steak, stew or sausage, having the great advantage of being absolutely fresh, being too cheap to be kept in storage.

It is reported that a syndicate prospecting 150 miles south of Suez, on the Red Sea coast, has struck oil, the gusher giving increasing quantities daily, and indicating large reserves. The well has been properly capped pending storage arrangements. The possibility of a cheap supply of fuel is a discovery of the greatest importance to Egypt, and its geographical position should render the discovery valuable to the British navy.

Three principal gauges of line are used on the various railways in the commonwealth of Australia. The most common gauge, 3½ feet, is used on about 7,000 miles of line, scattered over five of the states. The 5 feet and 3 inch gauge is second in importance, and the 4 feet 8½ inch gauge, used only in New South Wales, third, with 3,472 miles of line. There are also 82 miles of 2½ feet gauge, and three miles of 2 feet gauge. Standardization has been proposed, but no action has been taken.

Cleanliness was not a fad in the middle ages. King Edward IV. of England was supplied with a barber to shave him once a week, and "if some necessary," to wash his head and feet. One medaeval laundress was given so little to wash that the washing bill of a ducal establishment came to 40 shilling ($9.60) a year. Four shirts was considered a large allowance of linen for Lord Howard, and a point is made of the fact that Master Howard was actually given a shirt to go to college with.

Separate schools for tubercular children may be established in Philadelphia in the near future. The new school code specifically prescribes that children suffering from tuberculosis can not be admitted into the public schools, and at the same time provides for the compulsory attendance of all children between the ages of 6 and 16 years. It is the opinion of the educational officials that the only solution of the problem is to set aside special schools for the use of the tubercular pupils.—The Medical Journal.

Stromboli in pouring out streams of lava, is playing a most unusual part, says the London Chronicle. For the remarkable character of this æolian isle is that it vomits flame persistently and cinders spasmodically. The lighthouse of the Mediterranean has been known to stick to its function of torchbearer (without dropping an ounce of tar) for the space of two thousand years. Whenever the tiny, irregular eruption takes place the stones drop back again into the crater. While the ancients regarded Stromboli variously as the smithy of Vulcan and the headquarters of Aeolus, the men of the middle ages looked upon it as the main highway to purgatory.

Mexicans and the Staff of Life.

The tortilla is the ancient Indian bread of Mexico. Its only constituent is Indian corn (maize), which the women soak in lime water until the kernels are at the point of bursting, then wash thoroughly until it is free from lime, when they grind it by rubbing it on a large block of stone, specially cut for the purpose, with a smaller stone which they hold in their hands.

The operation looks very much like rubbing clothes on a washboard and is a laborious and tedious one. The lime renders the corn dough adhesive, like wheat flour dough, and it is easily patted between the hands into cakes the size and shape of an ordinary griddle cake and is baked upon a thin stone griddle. Though no salt or leaven is added fresh tortillas are exceedingly palatable.

The one other food mainstay is frijoles—ordinary beans. They are boiled to a mush and with a liberal quantity of lard are warmed as required in a flat earthen dish that answers for a frying pan. The very poor people do not always have the luxury of frijoles and when they do have them cannot always afford the lard—New York Sun.

One of the most pitiful sights in the world is to see an old woman wearing worn-out finery.

Apple Biscuit.

To one pint of light bread sponge add one-quarter cup of molasses, one tablespoonful of lard and graham or whole wheat for a soft dough. Beat vigorously or knead circumspectly, and finally work in a large cup of chopped apple (greenings or russets), cut in bits as large as the end of your finger. Shape in muffin pans, sprinkle with brown sugar and let them stand until very light before baking. Good either warm or cold.

Germany has begun a crusade against the corset. The leaders of the movement have secured the opinions of queens and princesses. "Carmen Sylva," Queen of Roumania, Queen Helena of Italy, the German crown princess, the grand duchesses of Hesse and of Baden are among those who do not wear corsets themselves, and who advise others not to wear them. It is said that at the most aristocratic social gatherings in Berlin the majority of the women present are without corsets.

Preserved Green Grapes.

Steam and wash the green grapes, put them in a porcelain-lined kettle and pour boiling water over them. Leave this on for only a minute to loosen the skins, then drain. To each quart of grapes add a cup of water, return to the fire and boil until tender. Strain the fruit and measure the pulp, and add to it two-thirds as much sugar as there is pulp. Put into the preserving kettle and boil gently for about fifteen minutes more, taking care that the sugar and fruit do not scorch. Skim frequently while boiling. Pour into glass jars and seal.

The Union Spirit.

At a public school not long ago the children were training for the annual Flag Day celebration. One boy, in order to show good reason why he should take a prominent part in the ceremonies, said that he had a real gun; another had a pistol; a small girl had a flag, and so on.

Finally one tow-haired lad of six came up to the teacher, and stood waiting for her to see him.

"Well, what is it?" she asked.

"I has a union suit," he said.

Mrs. Gould says it would be considered "very bad form" for a society woman to wear the same gown twice. However, it is just such silly slaves of fashion that make work for the dressmakers.

Chicago husbands have received a severe jar from the fact that a court there has declared that divorced men are liable for alimony even as long as 50 years after the divorce. At this rate they will find it cheaper to stay married and cut down the spousal pin money.

An English dramatist has invented a new word, "thousandaire." Why is it not a useful one? Its analogy with "millionaire" is perfect, and it certainly describes a much larger class. And "hundredaire" would describe the financial status of even more persons.

Peel and slice rather thick three tomatoes, slice six stalks of celery, chop fine half a small onion and an eighth of a green pepper. Spread these over the sliced tomatoes and add French dressing.

An ingenious person proposes to abbreviate that time-honored diversion, the after-dinner speech, by having the speeches before dinner, when every one, including the speakers, will be too hungry either to speak or to listen long.

The strange part of it is that some of the professors who are telling the world "the truth about women" are actually married.

So pressing is the need for more revenue in England that the present government is planning to tax what economists call the unearned increment in land values. The finance bill now before Parliament provides that when any piece of land is sold, the seller shall pay to the government one-fifth of the increase in its value since the last sale, and that when the rental of land is increased the rentor shall pay such a part of the capitalized value of the increase as a commission shall assess upon him. In the United States the landowners are taxed yearly on the increase in the value of their land as the assessment is increased, but the seizure of a lump sum out of that increase has not yet been seriously proposed by responsible public officers. The British plan is opposed by the large landholders and by the Conservative party, as it will bear most heavily upon them. It is enthusiastically supported by the Liberals as a good financial expedient and by the Socialists as a step in the right direction.

Now a philanthropist asserts that he will give no more money to colleges tolerating cigarette smoking among the student body. How are the poor students to cull a liberal education out of what remains of the curriculum, we wonder?

Mr. and Dr. Willis Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Marks, George Bracket and A. W. Balch spent a few days on the mountains last week. Mr. and Mrs. Marks are guests of Mr. and Dr. Cook.

A large number of people came home from the A.-Y.-P.-E. last week. All seem to think the Exposition a very grand affair only they failed to see the timber exhibit that our west end commissioner was paid to get there.

Mr. and Mrs. George Priest went to Seattle last Sunday to meet two of their daughters. Mrs. D. R. Crichton, with three children, and Mrs. W. J. Clellam, with one child. Their home is at Calgary, Alberta. Grandpa Priest seems to be in his glory out riding with the children. The family all went for a picnic up to the ranch in Happy Valley on Friday and had a jolly time.

Misses Fena and Flora Brown, Mrs. H. J. Bugge's two sisters, arrived Tuesday from the East to visit their sister and other relatives and old friends. Miss Fena Brown taught school at one time at what was then known as Boston. She is a fine teacher and ought to be kept in this county.

Mrs. J. Keeler received a telegram last Sunday from Port Gamble telling of a very sad accident to Miss Flora Heart, daughter of Otto Heart, formerly telegraph operator here. She fell from a high bluff; one of her arms, her shoulder and nose were broken. Her face was very badly cut up and the back of her head also. She was still unconscious when the telegram was sent. Flora has a host of friends on Sequim that were very sorry for her, and her father has the sympathy of the entire community. She has been his little house keeper for two or three years.

J. A. Adams bought fifty acres of land of C. J. Farmer. it is part of the John Brown estate.

George Priest has sold his Happy Valley ranch. Mr. Chaser takes possession September 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bracket and Mrs. A. W. Balch left Tuesday afternoon for Seattle to visit the Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Priest and Mr. and Mrs. Lue Doran left Tuesday morning for Seattle. Mr. and Mrs. Priest will go to Elma after they all visit the Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. David Depew were made happy over the arrival of a fine baby boy August 16th., at Elma, Washington. Mrs. Depew was formerly Miss Nora Priest of Sequim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Priest.

BLYN.

Mr. and Mrs. Main and family are in Seattle visiting the Fair.

Mrs. Fleurry returned from Seattle last Saturday bringing her daughter, Mrs. G. L. Baker, with her. She is going to help her mother get ready to move to Port Townsend, where she intends to live in the future.

Mr. J. P. Peterson and Mr. Green of Salt Lake City, the former a brother of Mrs. Delaney, were visiting at the Delaney ranch a few days last week.

Mrs. Case has gone to Olypmia to visit her mother.

Mrs. Curry and family are entertaining her two sisters, Mrs. Meeker of Port Townsend and Mrs. Huss of Ohio, also Mrs. Kelly, a friend of Mrs. Huss, who came with her to visit the Fair and relatives.

Mrs. Romo is on the road to recovery after a serious illness.

THE OLYMPIC HOT SPRINGS

New Scenic Resort Being Opened at Angeles' Back Door. Will Draw Hundreds of Tourists.

The Olympic Hot Springs, the existence of which has long been known but which have only been brought to the attention of the public this year, bid fair to replace the Soleduck springs with those who are more in need of an outing than of relief from actual disease. It has been the lament of many that the building of a good hotel and the providing of easy access thereto would deprive the Soleduck springs of their greatest attractions. In the Olympic springs the lover of out-of-doors will have even better opportunities for an outing. Located but six miles from the Elwha, across from the Wolfe ranch, they are easily reached in one day. The scenery is magnificent and the fishing good; Mr. Sisson, who has been packing for Ferrill & Anderson, who are improving the springs, tells of a 24-in. trout being taken recently in Boulder creek. There are twenty-seven springs, twelve of them being in a row, and it is said the water is even hotter than at the Soleduck. Double bath houses have been built, four tubs installed, a cook house put up, and other improvements made. A number of people have already taken advantage of the facilities, there having been nineteen at the springs at one time. Messrs. Ferrill & Anderson hope to get a lease from the government. The people of Angeles should make every effort to boost the Olympic springs, for while they cannot be as easily and quickly reached as the others will be next year, they will attract many people who care more for the freedom and pleasure of roughing it—and the travel will be thru Angeles.

GREELISH MYSTERY SOLVED

D. C. Sisson returned Saturday from the Olympic Hot Springs, in the Happy Lake country, and reports finding a human skull on a gravel bank in the Elwha river, just below the mouth of Boulder creek. He brought the skull to town and left it with the sheriff. Last October, it will be remembered, two Seattle men went hunting in the vicinity of Boulder creek and one of them, Mr. Greelish, mysteriously disappeared, and it was thought for a while that his partner had done away with him. Several parties were organized to search for him and it was finally concluded that he had attempted to travel down stream.

It is a peculiar fact, a person unfamiliar with the timber and mountains, becoming lost, almost invariably loses his reason, instances being well vouched for of men going insane in a single night. This, coupled with the general impression that the only means of getting out is to travel down stream, which, as is known by all fishermen, is a practical impossibility, is doubtless responsible for the disappearance and death of Greelish. In California, the other day, a lad, separated from his companions and lost, took the only rational course when he climbed to the top of the ridge and started a forest fire; he knew the fire would bring the rangers and cause his arrest, and also save his life. Had Greelish traveled up, he might have been able to see out and thus lay his course, or had he kept a good big fire going he would have been found before it was too late. The canyon of the Boulder has precipitous sides, the water falling in places over high ledges; deep pools are numerous, and travel down it, unaided, is an impossibility.

The report of free gold in the Happy Lake country caused something of a stampede, a few days ago, among those interested in mining. It was said that the gravel, when washed, yielded a large amount of fine gold dust. One party, consisting of Horace Horstman, Bridge Girling, Chas. Wolf, E. A. Jacobs and A. H. Matthews, returned reporting an elegant outing but no gold; they say there wasn't even a showing of black sand but that iron pyrites was present in abundance.

Over the caption, "The Smith, a Mighty Man is He," the P.-I. depicts the grand rush for the gates on Smith Reunion Day at the Exposition. We note that our Ben is well in the lead with a betting chance of being among the first to reach the turnstile.

The receipts of the local custom house for the month just closed were over fifteen hundred dollars, a pretty good showing for a town supposed to be solely a shingle and dairy center.

Monday being Labor Day, the local banks and print shops— the only people who really work, you know, and for whom this particular holiday was established— will be closed.

S. E. Stakemiller and daughters Eunice and June leave for Seattle Sunday to take in the Exposition, Eunice going on to Ellensburg to attend the State Normal.

Miss Lorena Fulmer returned from the Exposition City on Tuesday.

THE CITY NEWS

The hunting season opened Wednesday and a number of our local nimrods are out after the grouse, or most anything wild that comes within range of their guns.

The picnic party given the Misses Lorena and Ruth Fulmer at the spit Wednesday for the entertainment of Miss Murial Fulmer, their cousin of Pullman, was a decided success.

The teams leave today to bring in the effects of Chas. Jones and family from their ranch at Port Crescent to our city, they having sold out to Alexander Scott, who is school teacher in that district.

Rev. and Mrs. Avery with his brother Harry Avery and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cowan with the two small boys, George and Alex, made a party to Mount Angeles this week, going up on Tuesday and remaining until Thursday.

J. P. Christensen, the genial cashier of the Citizens' National Bank, went to Solduck Hot Springs Tuesday for a two weeks' outing. W. F. Delabarre will accommodate you with loans during Mr. C.'s absence.

The young people, as well as some older ones of the St. Andrew's Sunday school, enjoyed their weekly outing Tuesday with a picnic dinner on the beach, at the foot of the spit. Rev. Rogers is deserving of credit for piloting these young people on their weekly tramps to the beauty spots of Angeles.

The hospitable new house of Mrs. W. B. Ritchie on Front street was thrown open Thursday afternoon, when Mrs. Ritchie and her daughter, Mrs. E. D. Souer, entertained a number of lady friends. Cards were the order, and a delightful afternoon was passed by those present. The lovely new house, perfect in all its appointments, was prettily decorated with fragrant flowers, and an elegant luncheon was daintily served. As entertainers, Mrs. Ritchie and her daughter were pronounced a decided success.

Sunday's arrivals on the Perdita were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Haynes and children, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ritchie, Judge and Mrs. McClinton, Mrs. Ben Chambers and daughter, Mrs. Wm. Graham and child, Commissioner Erickson, Ex-Sheriff S. G. Morse, now of Aberdeen, Joe Weiss, A. J. Cosser, Mrs. Harry Gray. Among the departures on the same boat were Mr. and Mrs. J. Kummer and family, Miss Agnes Brockhaus, Miss Mable Pringle, Mrs. P. F. Fisher and sons, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Polhamus.

The Perdita will make the regular run Sunday, the Whatcom bringing down an excursion from Seattle, leaving that city at nine, and Angeles at five.

Arthur Hassel, a cousin of Mr. Delabarre's, arrived Saturday for a visit.

The water franchise is now in the hands of Mr. Seymour for acceptance.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kennard have been taking in the Exposition the past week.

Lauritz Carstens was a Seattle visitor last week, taking in the Exposition and proving up on his homestead.

Clyde McDonnell and a party o three or four others, including a Mr. Smith, a prospector, have located a vein of copper on Old Baldy.

E. E. Day came near losing a valuable cow this week, the animal falling down an old well on Fourteenth street last Tuesday and not being found until yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Brant and son Gordon of St. Paul, Minn., are spending the week here, the guests of the former's sisters, Mrs. E. A. Prickett and Mr. Charles Luck. Mr. and Mrs. Brant are delegates from their city to the national meeting of Spanish war veterans to be held in Tacoma next week and will also attend the A.-Y.-P. Exposition before returning to their home.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. James R. Gallagher a son on last Wednesday morning. The family is doing nicely, particularly Jim. When seen just after the arrival of the manager of the livery and feed stable, he appeared to be a foot taller than usual, but upon investigation, he was treading on air, and thinks now he can outdo the aeroplane. Grandpa Gallagher was also much in evidence on the street, having a broad smile of welcome for everybody; in fact the mere mention of "Grandpa" leads to a happier and more contented "smile."

The Story of a Medicine.

Its name—"Golden Medical Discovery" was suggested by one of its most important and valuable ingredients—Golden Seal root.

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that he could, by the use of pure, triple-refined glycerine, aided by a certain degree of constantly maintained heat and with the aid of apparatus and appliances designed for that purpose, extract from our most valuable native medicinal roots their curative properties much better than by the use of alcohol, so generally employed. So the now world-famed "Golden Medical Discovery," for the cure of weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, or billiousness and kindred derangements was first made, as it ever since has been, without a particle of alcohol in its make-up.

A glance at the full list of its ingredients, printed on every bottle-wrapper, will show that it is made from the most valuable medicinal roots found growing in our American forests. All these ingredients have received the strongest endorsement from the leading medical experts, teachers and writers on Materia Medica who recommend them as the very best remedies for the diseases for which "Golden Medical Discovery" is advised.

A little book of these endorsements has been compiled by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., and will be mailed free to any one asking same by postal card, or letter addressed to the Doctor as above. From these endorsements, copied from standard medical books of all the different schools of practice, it will be found that the ingredients composing the "Golden Medical Discovery" are advised not only for the cure of the above mentioned diseases, but also for the cure of all catarrhal, bronchial and throat affections, accompained with catarrhal discharges, hoarseness, sore throat, lingering, or hang-on-coughs, and all those wasting affections which, if not promptly and properly treated are liable to terminate in consumption. Take Dr. Pierce's Discovery in time and persevere in its use until you give it a fair trial and it is not likely to disappoint. Too much must not be expected of it. It will not perform miracles. It will not cure consumption in its advanced stages. No medicine will. It will cure the affections that lead up to consumption, if taken in time.
