Featuring more than 60 vibrant paintings by the North Olympic Watercolorists (NOW), "Watercolor NOW!" is the next Art in the Library exhibition presented at the Port Angeles Main Library, 2210 S. Peabody St. The show opens with a free public reception on Friday, Nov. 14, from 6:30 to 8 p.m., with live classical music performed by Tamara Rotz (flute/violin), Sung-Ling Hsu (viola) and Pamela Roberts (cello).

The North Olympic Watercolorists are a community that celebrates friendship and inspired learning through the joy of watercolor painting. By applying combined resources and knowledge, NOW encourages its members, at all artistic levels, to mature to their greatest potential in a supportive environment and to benefit from the rewards of collective exhibitions.

Exhibiting artists are Beverly Beigle, Ellen Bogenschutz, Katie Carlson, Annette Clem, Lyn Conlan, Shannon Goose, Marilyn Hiestand, Kristi Kaiser, Mary Kirtley Hughes, Karen Lavender-Peterson, Lisa Luebben, Pat Oakes, Sue Rescigna, Betsy Robins, Jolene Sanbord, Georgianna Seko, Shio Shing Ledgerwood, and Phyllis Slater. The exhibition was juried by Melissa Penic, who will also have a painting on display.

Following the Nov. 14 opening, “Watercolor NOW!” remains on view during library hours through Saturday, Feb. 14, 2026.
