Re: History and Taste: Tamales at Forks Library, Sept. 15

The Forks Branch Library, 171 S. Forks Ave., is offering a free cultural program, “History and Taste: Tamales,” on Tuesday, Sept. 15, 5-7 p.m.

Learn about the rich history of tamales, their roots in Indigenous cultures, and how different regions and families have created unique recipes passed down through generations. Discover the symbolism of tamales in celebrations, holidays and community gatherings while exploring the ingredients, preparation methods and regional variations that make each tamale special.

Participants will also enjoy a tasting of traditional tamales from a local community member while learning stories and customs.
