Re: Free screening of Abbott and Costello classic at the Sequim Branch Library

Gather around with family, friends and popcorn for a free screening of “Abbott and Costello Meet Frankenstein” at 5:30pm on Thursday, October 30, at the Sequim branch of the North Olympic Library System (NOLS). This frighteningly funny caper starring the classic comedy duo will show in the library meeting room.

Released in 1948, the film follows Abbott and Costello as they encounter such monstrosities as the Wolf Man, Dracula, Frankenstein, and even the Invisible Man! This seasonal classic has been deemed by the Library of Congress to be “culturally, historically, or aesthetically significant” and was selected for preservation by the National Film Registry.

The Sequim Branch Library is located at 630 North Sequim Avenue in Sequim. For more information about this and other upcoming events, visit www.nols.org or contact the library by calling 360-683-1161, or sending an email to Sequim@nols.org. This program is generously supported by the Friends of the Sequim Library.
