Olympic National Park's Perspectives Winter Speaker Series is held monthly at the Port Angeles Main Library of the North Olympic Library. Due to the adverse weather conditions, the event originally scheduled for Tuesday, February 12, will now be held on Thursday, February 28 at 7pm. February's topic is The Edge of the Sea: Scales of Change on Olympic Coast Beaches, which will be presented by Ian Miller, PhD, Coastal Hazard Specialist, Washington Sea Grant. Learn about Dr. Miller's recent studies on Rialto and Kalaloch beaches, and investigations of sea level change on the Olympic Coast.

The Perspectives Winter Speaker Series, is sponsored by Olympic National Park, the Friends of Olympic National Park, and the North Olympic Library System. Additional upcoming topics and dates are:

Tuesday, March 12 at 7pm

Predators and Prey: Columbian Black-Tailed Deer and Cougar Research on the Olympic Peninsula

Kim Sager-Fradkin, Wildlife Biologist, Lower Elwha Klallam Tribe

Kim Sager-Fradkin will share the results of a four-year study examining patterns of fawn and buck mortality on the north Olympic Peninsula, and will provide preliminary results on a study designed to answer questions about cougar population genetics, movement patterns, and prey selection.

Tuesday, April 9 at 7pm

A Witness to Change

Janis Burger, Hurricane Ridge Interpreter, Olympic National Park

Janis Burger will share photos and experiences gleaned over a 37-year career as a seasonal biological technician and longtime Hurricane Ridge interpreter.
