Alongside thousands of readers worldwide, North Olympic Library System (NOLS) patrons can discover a compelling and powerful story through the largest global digital book club, Big Library Read. From November 4-18, booklovers can borrow, read and discuss Gilly Segal and Kimberly Jones' I'm Not Dying with You Tonight eBook from the Washington Anytime Library (or Libby app) with no waitlists or holds. Readers can also join an online discussion about the book through the Big Library Read website. More than 19,000 libraries around the world are participating.

"I'm Not Dying with You Tonight is a powerful examination of privilege, and how friends are often found in surprising places. Jones and Segal have penned a page-turning debut, as timely as it is addictive," says David Arnold, New York Times bestselling author.

Lena and Campbell aren't friends. Lena has her killer style, her awesome boyfriend, and a plan. She knows she's going to make it big. Campbell, on the other hand, is just trying to keep her head down and get through the year at her new school. When both girls attend the Friday-night football game, what neither expects is for everything to descend into sudden mass chaos—chaos born from violence and hate, chaos that unexpectedly throws them together. They aren't friends. They hardly understand the other's point of view. But none of that matters when the city is up in flames, and they only have each other to rely on if they're going to survive the night.

I'm Not Dying with You Tonight can be read on all major computers and devices through Libby or libbyapp.com, including iPhone®, iPad®, Android™ phones and tablets and Chromebook™ without waitlists or holds. Readers can also download the title to the OverDrive app on Kindle Fire tablets and can send the Kindle version wirelessly to black and white Kindle eReaders. The title will automatically expire at the end of the lending period.
