Most of us knew the stream- the passengers have always been liner stopped about four miles pleased. Now-along comes a felfrom town last Thursday - but low who wants the train to go at we didn't know why . . . his speed. Some people are like Seems the train was harrying that. Some still would begrudge along, then came the screeching another person's right to a temof brakes - some fellow had perate glass of beer even though pulled the Emergency Stop cord. that person wouldn't dream of flashing a "Stop" sign on their When the conductor asked him why he did it, he said, "The train preference for, say, milk, coffee was just going too fast-I wanted or tea. Respecting the rights of others is the only way we can to get you to slow down." From where I sit, that streamliner has been going at that
