The Friends of the Forks Memorial Library met at the library the evening of Wednesday, March 9. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. LeRoy Malmsten. Many reports were given, due to the fact that we had not met since June. A report of interest was given concerning the flag that was first put up on the 4th of July. It was donated to the library by Mrs. Fern Wittenborn and it had been given to her in honor of her son who lost his life during World War II. National Library Week begins April 17 through the 23rd. The new county library in Port Angeles will be dedicated soon after National Library Week, although no definite date has been set yet. Friends of	Coloring Easter Eggs Old Custom When your children search for colored eggs this Easter, they'll be renewing a custom far older than Christianity. Eggs represent the new life that returns to earth every spring—around the time of Easter. The custom of exchanging eggs as part of the celebration began in ancient times. The ancient Persians often dyed eggs in the colors of spring and gave them to their friends as gifts. Some early peoples believed that the earth had hatched from a giant egg. World Book Encyclopedia says that early Christians of Asia and other eastern lands exchanged eggs at Easter. They colored the eggs red.	New automobile title forms are saving the state comsiderable time and money, but the Department of Motor Vehicles reports that public reaction to the change has been mixed. "The old certificate forms had been in effect for nine years," Department Director Douglas Toms pointed out. "People are having a hard time adjusting to the change." The new Certificate of Title forms adopted last November, consists of three 5 x 8½" pages bound together at the edgess. The new title certificates have been mailed to the new legal woners of any cars that have changed hands since November. "Some persons have complained that the new 5 x 8½" form is unwisday." Tom said "Others have	Six New Scholarships Beginning with the 1966-67 school year, the Rayonier Foundation will grant six new $500 undergraduate college scholarships. Five of the scholarships will assist engineering students at Gonzaga, University of Idaho, Montana State University, University of North Dakota and the University of Utah. A scholarship for forestry students is also being made available to Oregon State University. The new grants bring to 30 the number of the one-year undergraduate scholarships offered each year by the Foundation at seventeen colleges and universities including the University of Washington and Washington State University. All	New Extension Agent In Jefferson County Jefferson County Jefferson County Jefferson County has a new agent in charge of the Cooperative Extension Office, according to a joint announcement by Washington State University officials and the county commissioners. Lonnie D. McGrew, 41, a member of the Washington State Extension Service since 1961, will assume the duties held during the past year by Richard W. Mathews. Mathews moves over to Mount Vernon to become an area dairy agent with the extension office for Skagit and Island counties. Following a pattern similar to Mathews, McGrew will carry out area livestock and dairy area agent duties in his new post and have	pre-season surveys such as gill-net sampling that is carried out on all major, popular waters. The spring sampling was completed in most districts by March 7 and this report put together as quickly as possible to give you ample information before the April 17 opening the dedication at that time. Wilma Peterson is in charge of transportation and each Friend is to bring two dozen cookies. Deon Sexton is chairman of the window display. Margaret Sander's paintings have been exhibited since December and they have been appreciated very much. At the present time, in addition to Mrs. Sander's four pictures there are paintings displayed by Mr. Thompson's advanced art class from the high school. The four students are Judy Stevens, Nancy McClean, Charles Vinson, and Sharon Jackson. Dorothy Burr, publicity chairman To Stay Alive?" Taxes Protested	lands. Poland, Lithuanir, and other lands also are known for their highly decorated Easter eggs. In England, friends often exchanged eggs at Easter, although nowadays these usually are chocolate eggs. The Irish break the long Lenten fast by eating eggs at dawn on Easter. Germans color eggs green on "Green Thursday"—the Thursday before Easter—and carry the eggs all day for good luck. On Easter Monday the young people have an egg-rolling contest. In Italy, a priest blesses the eggs on Easter. The eggs occupy the center of the breakfast table, with other dishes arranged around them.	mistakenly cut or torn the form apart, although instructions on the back clearly direct that the form must be kept intact." Toms said a number of used car dealers have objected to the form, since it discloses to the purchaser of a car the name of the previous owner. But he noted that this feature provides an element of protection to the used car purchaser. The new title centificate form permits machine reproduction of vehicle information every time the ownership of a vehicle changes. It saves time in the hamd-copying and tedious cross-checking of information, and it greatly reduces the possibility of errors. A new revised tilling procedure is also saving the state thousands of dollars in postage costs annually. The new forms have been issued for abut 15 percent of the vehicles now registered in Washington.	scholarships are awarded and administered by the colleges. Established in 1952, the Rayonier Foundation maintains a continuing program of aid to education. This year the Foundation will award 59 college undergraduate scholarships and graduate fellowships. Several grants are made annually to assist teachers in postgraduate studies. To help offset the increasing cost of providing higher education, the Rayonier Foundation also makes substantial contributions directly to many colleges and universities including the Independent Colleges of Washington, Inc. McGrew is a native of Seminary, Miss., and received his bachelor of science degree in agricultural administration from Mississippt State University in 1951. He earned a master education degree from Colorado State University in 1959 with Extension Education as his major. McGrew was a county agent in Yuma, Arizona in 1951-52 and a farm advisor in El Centro, Calif., from 1952 until 1960. He joined WSU's Extension Service in July of 1961 and was assigned to an agent's role in Whatcom County. He moved east of the Cascades to become chairman of Ferry County's office in October of 1963. Mrs. McGrew is the former Jean Ensor who was an agent in Grays Harbor County prior to their marriage. Weather exerts further influences on this year's prospects—the 1964-65 winter was fairly long and cold, holding down fish growth through that period. This was also true for the 1965-66 winter. It was generally feared that the delayed growth would result in smaller fish at the 1965 opening—but this did not prove true for the majority of waters. We hope it will not prove true this spring either. The long summer of 1965 was ideal for the fishermen, but not for the fish—it was warmer than usual and this apparently slowed summer fish growth in some lakes; and it was dry, which contributed to an increasing water shortgae in parts of
"Tired of being taxed to stay alive?" headlines an advertisement in the Tacoma (Wash.) Tribune on Wednesday, March 23, placed by the Tacoma-based Taxpayers Alliance, dedicated to the passage of Initiative 228, which would remove Washington state taxes on food and medicine. The grass-roots group, which terms food and drug taxes "wrong—immoral even—until every other possible source of revenue and economy is exhausted" insists this is not the case, pointing to "preferential tax treatment for large land-holders, possessors of nevertax-free bonds, etc." The advertisement appeals for financial participation and help in publicizing the "non-necessity" of taxing "the basic needs of life." Although new withholding rates will not become effective until May 1, the Internal Revenue Service is expediting information to give employers and employees maximum time to adjust to the new withholding system. Internal Revenue Service has included in the Employer's Tax Guide not only the new tax tables, but a one-page fact sheet with sample tables and a new W-4 for employees so that empolyers and employees will be able to comply with the withholding provisions of the new Act as easily as possible. Thousands of taxpayers call Internal Revenue Service every week, asking for the correct mailing address, District Director of Internal Revenue Neal S. Warren said today. As of March 1, the snow cover in most of Washington's watersheds was below normal, reservoirs in the Columbia Basin have below average amounts of waters, and streamflow for Washington is forecasted for from 35% below normal to 7% above. The Pend Oreille, Okanogan and Yakima streamflows are all forecasted for below normal. Our State has not had a real excess of water for several years, and while reservoirs will still supposedly supply adequate water for irrigation, a continued lowering of the water table, and loss of lake levels and potholes in the Okanogan and Spokane country seems to be in the offing. It is doubtful, however, wheather anglers' success on the larger popular bodies of water will be greatly affected by the gradual loss of precipitation and flow the state has experienced in the last few years.
