What is the purpose of a sign? An omen, command or wish, you name it, there is a purpose.

An important sign reading "100 fine for Littering Highways" is located on Bogachiel Way across from the hospital. The sign is located there primarily because this is the route to the county garbage dump.

Enforcement of the law would help correct the problem, but the problem would be corrected more easily by peoples respect and responsibility.

Faculty members returning to Forks everyday in preparation for the opening of school Sept. 2. Some have been on vacation and others have been attending summer school.

New teachers have been seeking housing which continues to be a problem in this growing community.

In answer to many questions, the ramp at the dump will be open as soon as the project can be completed. The county has not left the project up in the air.

They are waiting for the concrete poured on the ramp to cure. Bumper racks must be added to the back and sides of the ramp. A fence will also be added to catch papers flying up over the bank and to keep people from dumping just anywhere.

New look at the Forum, Face lifting is being done by Harris and Schuller. Script lettering "Forks Forum" will be joined with a patch of trees at the north end of the building.

New water tank site has been located and the project will get underway again soon. Wayco utilities will be completing the installation of pipe to the site and to Calawah Way.

Mrs. Elizabeth Barlow and the editor journeyed out to the La Push Junction to take this photo of the Laney Ragwort, a biannual plant. It is a rank growing, and smelling, plant that grows 2-4 ft. tall with heads of bright yellow daisy like flowers. The plants are poisonous to livestock, also a causative factor of hay fever. When you see the plant pull it from the ground and pick the tops from the plant.

Bogachiel Pond Gets Young Steelhead

Driver Shorty Lynch, Regional Fish Biologist Bob Watson and Hatchery Superintendent Lee Cheek planting young steelhead in Bogachiel Pond.

Monday the Washington State Department of Game began restocking the Bogachiel Rearing Pond with young steelhead fry.

The first load accounts for approximately 68,000 of the 350,000 fish to be reared in the pond under the watchful eye of hatchery superintendent Lee Cheek.

The young steelhead are transported here aboard a game department truck from the South Tacoma Hatchery. The water temperature must be kept as possible where the plant is to be made.

According to Lee the temperature of the pond ranges near 56 degrees.

The young fish ran a count of 62 fish to the pond. More fish are scheduled to be dumped this week to bring the total to 850,000. The fish will be released in the local rivers when they reach planting maturity in late spring 1969.

Balloon Semaphore For Traffic Safety

Toy balloons are about to be adopted for new serious assignments. When inflated, these flighty, precocious toys are symbols of celebration and a joy to the younger generation.

Now New York state Motor Vehicle Commissioner Vincent L. Tofany plans to give them new stature. He has proposed that motorists needing assistance on the highway should display a red balloon to signify the need for emergency medical assistance, a green balloon for police assistance and a blue one for mechanical help or fuel.

Who can tell, with the colors, sizes and shapes of balloons on the market a new vocabulary code may be in the offing—a practical use for extra hot air and gas!

Editorial

What has the action by the West End Republicans and Forks Chamber of Commerce against the Clallam County Commissioners accomplished?

The action originally attempted to correct a nullity according to state statutes RCW 36, 32, 020, which provides in pertinent part that "the lines of the district shall not be changed oftener than once in four years. . . ."

Commissioner Thomas H. Mansfield read a motion for redistricting into the minutes. It was labeled Resolution No. 33. According to the minutes, "It was moved by Commissioner Critchfield, seconded by Commissioner Mansfield and passed that the resolution be adopted relative to redistricting."

To-wit, on July 12, 1968 the County Commissioners purported to redistrict Clallam County again. This action was contested by the plaintiff.

The action by Jane Smiley as plaintiff, represented by attorneys Todd and Goodloe, was an attempt to correct what appeared to be an error by the commissioners to redistrict twice in a period of three days.

In the court proceedings that took place, Judge Ott ruled that redistricting would take place as Resolution No. 35 had suggested because the chairman had not signed the minutes of the continuous meetings and Commissioner Sacret and Critchfield testified that Commissioner Mansfield's resolution had not been passed.

Evening News reporter, Jim Manders, approached the plaintiff in the case after the first hearing and stated he had a tape of the commissioners meeting and it would be of value to the plaintiff. Mr. Manders also stated he would not let the tape out of his possession.

A group from Forks journeyed to Port Angeles and listened to the tape at KONF. After listening to the tape several times over, it was decided that attorney Goodloe should hear the tape. Manders was given expense money to go to Seattle so that Goodloe could hear the tape.

Upon consummation of the tape listening, it was decided that the tape contained sufficient evidence to prove the plaintiff's case in the opinion of the Forks people and Goodloe.

Attorney Goodloe appealed to Judge Ott for a re-opening of the case so that the tape could be heard. Judge Ott agreed and the tape was heard in court, Tuesday, August 13. Judge Ott ruled the tape revealed the previous action taken by the court had been further proven by the tape.

Attorney Goodloe and the Forks people attending the new hearing were shocked when the tape was played. It didn't appear to be the same tape. Mr. Manders testified on the stand that it was the same tape. So ends the action.

The redistricting action is not only of interest to those of the West End, but people county wide. What has really happened? Only those involved will really know.

Justice is the principle or ideal of just dealing or right action, conformity to truth, fact, or reason. Justice is not only something that happens in a court of law. Justice prevails in the hearts and minds of the people.

HOW HIGH CAN THEY GO?

INFLATION HITS HOME!

The modest little dream home or moderate-rental apartment may go the way of the two-cent newspaper, five-cent cigar and the fifty-cent haircut.

Who's the villain? Skyrocketing construction costs, due in large measure to inflationary wage demands. They not only threaten to cripple new private and public construction, but also could put new residences out of range of many middle and lower income families.

Last year's wage gains for construction employees worked out to 34.9 cents per hour—the highest for any industry and more than double the all-industry average of 14.3 cents.

Some sources allied with the President's Committee on Price Stability observe that the construction unions' goal for all of 1968 is to meet or beat the 1967 settlements in Ohio, which ranged between 10 and 18 per cent.

The high incidence of strikes by construction unions, their resistance to new methods of construction and insistence on duplicating and "make-work" projects, and their discriminatory hiring practices—which help to perpetuate a shortage of skilled workers—all contribute to the cost-push that threatens both public and private construction.

The billions of dollars of private and public funds now earmarked for building will buy less and less until these roadblocks to building progress are eliminated.

BOWLING with Dick Weber ALL-PRO CHAMPION

Spot Bowling and Pin Bowling

Many bowlers throughout the county ask if it's better to bowl looking at the pins or at some spot on the lane. I advocate spot bowling; that is, picking a spot on the lane approximately 15 feet past the foul line and rolling the ball over that spot into the pocket.

When you bowl looking at the pins, you are actually spot bowling, but aiming at a spot sixty feet away. Let's consider it this way. You are preparing to roll your first ball, so you are "hunting" for a strike. Good hunters prefer to shoot at a closer target, so it follows that good bowlers should select a closer target.

The small, long triangles imbedded in the lane about 15 feet past the foul line. Pin bowling is very ineffective. Falling pins on nearby lanes, rolling balls, the movements of the automatic pinpotters, even lights and shadows all contribute to distract the bowler. So I recommend that you aim at the closer target, the triangular spot on the lane. Be a good "strike hunter."

Most bowlers try to roll their ball over the second triangle from the right. Try it, you'll find your accuracy improving and your score increasing. However, don't expect a strike every time you succeed in hitting that triangular spot. The path of your ball as it crosses the spot is predetermined by other factors in your delivery such as balance, body position, lift and follow through. If you find your ball is hitting the pocket consistently, don't change. On the other hand, if you are coming in "high" or not getting a solid hit, consult a competent instructor. Ask him to observe your approach and delivery and then try his suggested changes, remembering that perfection is accomplished only through patience and practice.

SUNSET HIGHLITES

FROM YOUR LOCAL BOWLING CENTER By FRED JARVIS

The easy chair sure feels good tonite. Setting here with my big feet propped up in the air watching the football game and jorting down a few words now and then.

Rough day at the office. Rained most of the day and the mud was kneedeep to a tall Texan. A week ago I was wishing for some cool weather. Now that it's here, with we had a little of that warm weather back. Can't win them all.

Went down and tried out the new ball tonite. If you hear a loud splash in the vicinity of the Sol Duc river, you'll know where my ball went. Bowled a few games with John Nagel. He had a 618 on games of 179-242-197. Pretty fair country bowling John.

Jo Ann is doing a wonderful job of keeping the Old Man fed and the house clean. But we sure miss Mother and Juanita. Gotten kind of used to Ma after twenty-six years of married life.

Fourteen men from Forks have qualified for the BPAA singles finals at Bainbridge this week end. Squad times are 2:00 and 8:00 Sat. and 12:00, 2:00, 4:00 and 6:00 on Sunday. Fly at it guys, this one is worth a nice chunk of change.

Margaret Windle, Leta Rondeau and Sally Nagel qualified for the womens finals at Port Townsend Sat. and Sun. Show them what for gals.

Early Fri Nite Mixed League starts Sept. O Boy! Am I ever glad to see leagues start again. Running awfully short of stuff to write about. Now you folks can go to work for me by bowling up some news. Makes it much easier for me.

Everytime I pick up a bowling magazine, I turn green with envy at some of the high games and series and the averages I read about. Here's a 65 year old man who averaged 216 for 90 games last season. To get that good, he must have bowled at least 64 of the 65 years.

Got one of those new Dick Weber bowling balls. Supposed to be bigger than any of the others. Guess it is, but the way I was throwing it tonite, if it was twice as big, it wouldn't be large enough.

Reading about this disabled Korean War Veteran who won the American Wheelchair Bowling association tournament. He bowled a 244 on his way to a 602 series.

It doesn't sound like much to a bowler who can walk, but try it setting down in a wheel chair sometime.

No Jackpot shot at Sat. Nite Monte Carlo. It was in the hole after last week. Sorry about that, Darrell.

John Nagel got a little greedy with our pot money. Took it all but the last game. Hot Hand Harry won by one pin to salvage a little of our money.

Quite a few bowlers Sat. Nite. Guess the coming bowling season has them stirring around looking for their equipment and maybe getting in a little practice. Now's the time for it.

Got to get in some bowling in preparation for the big event at Bainbridge this week end.

My apologies to Lou Bigelows' Sister, Gay for erroneously calling her by the name of Pat last week. I stand corrected, Lou. See you next week.

TOURISTS

Jennifer Blomgren
 I wish I were a cobblestone
 Upon the street of Forks
 To see the many people pass
 From far and distant parts.
 I'd see a thousand trailer cars
 All lined up in a row
 I'd see the Dads in Khaki Shorts
 A-flitting to and fro.
 A witness, I, to campers
 On pickups-old and new
 To see the men go fishing
 While the woods are wet with dew,
 I'd see the happy Tourists
 The tim-e-oh how it passes
 As they run up and down the street
 In loud shirts and dark glasses.
 A native cobblestone I'd be
 A sponge of native moisture
 I'd witness dreary winters-and the drugstore in a cloister.
 A cobblestone! placed where it counts
 In the middle of the square
 While all the lovely people
 Tramp and Tramp on me right here.
 The tourists come from Idaho-
 And Maryland and Tex
 They come from good ol' Massachusetts
 To see our log truck wrecks!
 They come, anemic, rich and frail
 How rough it is to be
 So crudely barbarous to camp
 In a block long trailer-Whee!
 Yes tourists- you'r interesting
 We thank you for the show
 And for the time you spend
 To see
 The lovely land we know.

DEAR JANE Baby Shower

Dear Jane:

I would like your opinion on what I could do about a friend of mine. This friend is a talented person but indulges in gossip. Each time that several of us gals get together for coffee this friend talks about other women in town. Then as each girl leaves to go home, this gal talks about the pros and cons of each gal after they leave! I am usually the last one to go home and she always has something to say uncomplimentary about each girl who was with us and more about those who were not. I like this friend but find all of this gossip a real bore—how do I clue her in?

BENT EAR

Dear Bent:

This is a friend!! With more friends like that who needs enemies! Do you feel exempt from her tongue? I would use a little more discretion in picking my friends. By listening to your gossiping friend (1) you give ear to her indulgence and are a party in perpetrating this procedure of bad taste. If people refused to hear gossip, gossips could not gossip!

Dear Jane:

I have a problem. My husband refuses to let me go up town shopping or even out my door in my stretch pants. Stretch pants are so comfortable and if I get them tight enough, I don't need a girdle—stretch pants sort of support me all over. My husband is very cruel and tells me I look like the rear of a hippopotamus wearing shoes! I'm a little big for my age but what is wrong with a few curves? I am five nine and weigh a little over 200 pounds. I just do not like to wear dresses and skirts!

WANTS TO BE COMFORTABLE

Dear Wants:

Believe me, you need the support of your husband more than the support of your stretch pants. Have you seen yourself broadside in a three way mirror? Heed your husband's advice, see your physician, what you need is a diet!

Dear Jane:

The other night my boyfriend and I were sitting in a tavern sipping a few. Along comes another couple and they sat down with us because there was no place else to sit. Well, my boyfriend started to get a little fresh with this other girl and I got mad and slapped her face. The other guy got mad and slugged my boyfriend and gave him a real nasty black eye. The owner said we could never come back. Should we report this square to the bar association?

SOCIAL REJECTS

Dear Social:

You must be Joking!

West End Pioneers members and their guests will picnic on Saturday August 31, at Fred and Iva Wahlgren's park on Highway 101 south, beginning at 1 p.m.

Leaving A Delicate Problem Behind!

What really causes painful diaper rash? How can a mother prevent it? And how can she cure it where it already exists? Helpful answers to these questions were given recently by William O. Elson, director of research of the Curly division of the Kendall Company, one of the world's largest manufacturers of regular and disposable diapers.

The real cause of most diaper rash is ammonia, according to Elson. Not the ammonia which might be used in washing diapers, but that which is formed by bacteria in wet diapers. If diapers are not properly laundered, this bacteria tends to build up in them, further aggravating the baby's rash, and the pain and discomfort which it brings. Soap or detergent left in diapers, because of inadequate rinsing, also will cause a rash.

There are several ways to prevent diaper rash, Elson said: "First of all, mothers can generally avoid both bacteria and soap build-up by using either disposable diapers or diaper liners. The diaper liners are made either of paper or of fabric, such as the new, soft, non-woven cloth in Curly's Super-Dri liners.

"For mothers who use regular cloth diapers, there are two alternatives. These women should either use a diaper service, or they must exercise great care in washing and rinsing the diapers themselves. If diapers are laundered at home, a mild soap, soap powder, or detergent is recommended, in plenty of very hot water. If the water is hard, at least four rinsings are necessary to remove all traces of soap or detergent which may irritate a baby's delicate skin.

"If you can manage to change your baby's diaper promptly," Elson continued, "you will avoid most chances of rash. Leaving a wet diaper on a baby too long will cause a rash. Adequate rinsing, also will cause a rash.

The research director pointed out that mothers might begin to treat less serious cases of diaper rash by following the directions given by the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, through its Children's Bureau. A booklet issued by the bureau points out that exposing the baby's rash to light and air, by leaving off the diaper, will usually cure mild cases.

Baskets of white gladioli and large white daisies, flanked by two seven branch candelabras, decorated the sanctuary of the Forks Congregational Church Saturday afternoon, Aug. 3rd, for the wedding of Judith Rae Jones and Kenneth Brian Scott.

The Reverend William Hawk officiated at the double ring ceremony witnessed by approximately 225 guests.

White satin bows and greenery marked the pews.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Jones of Forks. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Scott of Ellensburg are the parents of the groom.

Mrs. Norman Bagby sang "Because" and "May Each Day" She was accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Fred Rosmond.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose an "A" line floor length gown of Sald Cloth with empire styling. Bands of Venice lace accented the three tier brush train and sleeves. A headpiece of Venice lace trimmed with pearls held her elbow length veil of silk illusion.

Carrying a colonial bouquet of white daisies and baby's breath, the bride wore the traditional blue garter and carried an 1852 penny, given to her by her father, in her shoe. Her "Something Borrowed" was a handkerchief carried by the groom's mother at her own wedding.

Wearing a full length empire style gown of pink silk linen, Mrs. Arthur McSherry was Matron of Honor. Her head piece of matching silk illusion was caught with a flat bow and a spray of Lilly of the Valley. Her colonial bouquet was of deep pink daisies with baby's breath.

Kathy Scott, sister of the groom, Mrs. Gary Kelly of Seattle Mrs. Monte Williams of Port Angeles and Mis Tryna Norberg of Chehalis, were bridesmaids. They were dressed identical to the Matron of Honor and carried colonial bouquets of Multi-colored daisies and baby's breath.

Tracy Ulin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ulin of Forks was flower girl. Her short "A" line dress was on of the same material as the brides attendants. She carried a white lace basket filled with multi-colored daisies.

Shan Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Kelly, was ring bearer. He carried a white satin pillow edged with lace.

Dave Baker, of Indianola, was best man. Ushers were Dean Jones, brother of the bride, John Carson of Bellevue, Chris Willard of Bellevue and Bill Lindeman of Tacoma.

Candle-lighters were Miss Patty Perry of Forks and John Carson of Bellevue. Miss Perry wore a street length gown of the same styling and material as worn by the bride's attendants. She wore a wrist corsage of Multi-colored daisies.

An aqua knit suit with matching shoes and a white hat were chosen by Mrs. Jones for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Scott wore a champagne silk suit with matching accessories. Both mothers had corsages of pink rose buds.

Immediately following the wedding, a garden reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Acting as host and hostess at the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Sacon, Brother-in-law and sister of the groom.

Arrangements of white gladioli, large white daisies and pink sweetpeas decorated the reception tables.

Mrs. T. M. McCallister of Seattle, grandmother of the groom, poured the coffee, Mrs. H. A. Cochran, grandmother of the bride serve the tea.

Mrs. Richard Kallman, aunt of the bride, cut and served the four tiered cake which she had baked and decorated for her niece's wedding. She was assisted by Mrs. L. E. Brager.

Mrs. Dean Jones, sister-in-law of the bride and Miss Kayleen Scott, sister of the groom, served the punch.

Miss Joanne Jones, who came from Grass Lake, Michigan for her cousin's wedding, attended the guest book.

The groom's cake and rice were passed by Tami, Terri and Ronnie Bagby, children of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bagby of Forks.

For going away the bride chose a pink knit dress with deep pink accessories. She wore a corsage of deep pink rose buds.

The bride is a graduate of the Forks High School and her husband graduated from Stadium High in Tacoma. They both are attending Central Washington State College.

Following a wedding trip down the Oregon Coast, the new Mr. and Mrs. Scott are at home at The Allan Apartments #8, Ellensburg, Washington.

Camping With A Gourmet Flavor

Every camping enthusiast will tell you that cooking and eating out-of-doors, with a mountain, woodland or beach setting as both kitchen and dining room, is part of the wonderful experience of camping. Even the cook agrees, if she knows how to make it fun for the whole family to pitch in and help, and if she has the right utensils to make meal-time preparation and cleanup quick and easy.

Since you can only take a limited amount of utensils with you, it's especially important that you choose cookware that can do double and triple duty, and that can meet the particular requirements imposed by out-of-door living. Nested cookware kits have been around for a long time to meet the basic needs of the back-pack woodsman, but the new, more sophisticated, non-stick coated aluminum cookware kits are designed especially for the camping, boating or picnicking family.

The choice of non-stick coated aluminum to begin with is a big help to outdoor cooks. Aluminum conducts heat more rapidly and evenly than any other metal used in cookware, so cooking takes less time and fuel, whether you're using an alcohol or butane stove. And an aluminum pot with a tightly fitted lid needs less water, which is particularly appreciated when you have to carry heavy water jugs for your supply. Aluminum is also lightweight, sturdy, unbreakable and rustproof, important considerations when you're living under an open sky.

The non-stick coating is a special blessing in outdoor cooking, where charcoal grills and small portable stoves don't permit precise heat control and, unless carefully watched, foods are apt to stick to pots more readily. With the non-stick coating, even the most crusty-on foods float away with the swish of a hot, sudsy sponge. There is no messy scouring, scrubbing or soaking of pots and pans, which uses a great deal of precious water. It's also kinder to your hands, getting them out of the water faster and making them less subject to chapping in the chill air. This eliminates one of the most disagreeable cleanup chores in outdoor living, as any camper will tell you.

The nested aluminum sets usually include pots and pans of varying sizes, unbreakable plates and cups, and the indispensable coffee pot, all of which nest neatly into the largest utensil for easy carrying and storage.

Nothing whets the appetite more than the aroma of outdoor cooking. To delight those ravenous appetites after a day of exploring nature in the fresh air, try the following easy-to-make recipe:

CAMPSITE CORN CHOWDER

2 cans (18-3/4 ounces each) cheddar cheese soup	2 cans (12 ounces each) Mextora, undrained
1 can (13-3/4 ounces) chicken broth	1 can (1 pound) lima beans, drained

Combine all ingredients in a 4-quart non-stick coated aluminum kettle. Cover and heat. Makes about 2 quarts, or, 6 to 8 servings.

Cole Files For Senate

A politically independent Renton businessman who believes the power of the "Old ruling clique" in the U.S. Senate must be broken if the country is to be saved has filed for the Republican nomination for the Senate.

He is Harvey L. Cole who has, in the past 20 years built a small toy wholesaling operation into a business that covers Alaska and the whole Pacific Northwest. His warehouse is located in Tukwila Downs, Tukwila, Wash. He has lived for 30 years on 20 acres of woodland in the suburbs of Renton in an area that has up until now, escaped the developer's bulldozers.

When interviewed, Mr. Cole said "I feel very sure we need more practical businessmen and fewer politicians in public office. I think Warren Magnuson has been in the Senate much too long, and I want to give the voters a chance to replace him. The problems of the State of Washington and the nation are many and complex. They are not going to be solved by any one man. What one man can do is to have basic knowledge, the common sense not to complicate a problem to a point where it becomes not a problem but a disaster."

Mr. Cole has traveled to many countries and was told in England that England won the Second World War, in France, that France won the war, in Russia, that it was won by the Soviet Union. All countries agreed on their fear and hatred of another war, we, here in the U.S., have recorded in our history books that we were victorious. We are now involved in a repulsive, undeclared war on an underdeveloped agricultural nation whose people want only to be able to govern themselves as they see fit, as we did 200 years ago. This wholesale destruction of another country must stop, and each nation should be allowed to decide its own destiny within the framework of the United Nations.

Of social unrest in this country Mr. Cole says "We must make it possible for the head of every family to have a meaningful job. If we do this there will be no Ghettos. The private sector should provide such jobs as it can and government must provide the rest."

Mr. Cole stated he has written many letters to Senators and Congressmen and others in public life, but has never sought public office before.

Look At East & Northeast

Senator Eugene McCarthy's bid for the Democratic Presidential nomination appears... on the surface... to have strong support in the Northeastern states. But a closer look indicates most of the delegate votes will go for Hubert Humphrey.

All of the Minnesota Senator's backing is in the open, since his supporters either have endorsed him publicly or have campaigned for him. Much of Vice President Humphrey's support is hidden in the political rhetoric of official non-commitment... largely a result of President Johnson's dropout last March.

Of the 408 votes in the seven-state Northeast, 184 and one-half are pledged to McCarthy on the first convention ballot... 41 are backing Humphrey... 27 support Maine Senator Edmund Muskie on the first round... and 153 and one-half are officially uncommitted. Two delegates resigned. The entire list of uncommitted delegates leans toward Humphrey, and he's expected to benefit from their support even on the first ballot.

HEATSTROKE

Cool it as much as possible in hot and humid weather, and lessen your chances of suffering heat exhaustion. Victims of heatstroke usually exhibit the following symptoms: pale and clammy skin; rapid and weak pulse rate; complaints of weakness, headache, or nausea; and cramps in stomach, legs or arms. The victim should lie down in a cool place with his head level to or lower than his body. If the person is conscious, give him a salt water solution — one teaspoon salt to one quart water — and then call a doctor.

TRAVELING WITH CHILDREN

Motor trips with infants and children require just a few extra precautions to assure a safe and comfortable journey. If possible, limit your travel to only 200 or 300 miles a day, and choose stopover points with facilities for recreation and infant care. Stock your car with a sufficient supply of disposable diapers and sealed jars of baby food. Make certain milk is pasteurized and water is pure. Also, see to it that your children's immunization shots (tetanus, polio and whooping cough) are up to date.

FOOD POISONING

Protect yourself and family against food poisoning on picnics and outings. If you prepare perishable dishes at home, refrigerate them immediately, and keep such food cold until serving or cooking. Discard any food that appears spoiled or tainted. Take along several nonperishable food items such as canned food, potato chips, and clean raw fruits. The use of vinegar in meat, salad and fish dishes will help retard bacteria.

In seven Eastern industrial states, Vice-President Hubert Horatio Humphrey is a rich man getting richer in his drive for the Democratic Presidential Nomination to oppose Richard Nixon.

Much of the Humphrey strength was inherited when President Johnson said he wouldn't run for re-election. Humphrey is ahead in delegate votes and he's been steadily increasing that lead.

The latest U-P-I check on Humphrey's assets in the seven Eastern industrial states shows about 365... or 75 percent... of the delegate votes committed to or leaning heavily toward a Humphrey ticket. Senator Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota can claim no more than 70 votes with the Remaining 45 either undecided or undeterminable.

The large delegations of Ohio and New Jersey nominally are committed to favorite sons at this point. But these fictional candidates hold on the delegates in tenuous, and insiders are predicting that huge blocs of both delegations will be credited to Humphrey, possibly even before the first ballot at Chicago.

Here's a state-by-state rundown...

In Pennsylvania... Humphrey has a minimum of 95 first ballot votes in a 130-vote delegation. Mc Carthy has about 17. The remaining 18, most of whom had backed Kennedy, are listed as undecided.

In Ohio... U-S Senator Stephen M. Young is a favorite son holding 112 of 115 votes, but a large majority of them are ticketed for Humphrey, perhaps on the first ballot. McCarthy has the remaining three votes.

Most of New Jersey's 82 votes delegation is pledged to the favorite son candidacy of Governor Richard J. Hughes, a long-time party loyalist and Vietnam Hawk. McCarthy forces elected 19 delegates in the June 4th Primary.

In Maryland... Humphrey is expected to receive 45 of the state's 49 votes on the first ballot.

The 46-vote Kentucky delegation will go to Chicago with an official label of uncommitted, but 41 of the votes lean toward Humphrey, only five toward McCarthy.

West Virginia... Humphrey supporters here count 30 of the 38 votes in their corner. The delegation will be led by Governor Hulett C. Smith, a staunch Humphrey man.

In Delaware... 17 of the 22 votes are publicly committed to Humphrey, and the five others are leaning in his direction.

Newest Electronic Craze

One of the reasons the "swinging generation" is swinging is that no matter where they go, young people today are surrounded by sound.

The general availability of sound reproducing electronic devices — record players, radios, tape players — at prices that are right has created a "sound revolution" — an explosion of sound welcomed by older generations as well.

The latest impact is being made by tape cartridge players, which combine the fidelity of magnetic tape recording with the convenience of the film-pack camera. Already the growth rate for sales of tape cartridges and players exceeds that of color television and shows no signs of leveling off as the sound revolution gains more and more supporters of all ages.

The tape cartridge movement was started in 1965 when the Ford Motor Co., after rigorous testing, adopted the 8-track stereo system, designed and produced by Motorola, Inc., as a factory or dealer installed option in its new cars.

Today all the major car manufacturers offer 8-track tape systems as original equipment or dealer installed. Many other companies offer add-on units for cars, boats, and planes, home playback equipment, either with speakers or with jacks for existing stereo record players, and portable, go-anywhere cartridge players.

Although other tape playback systems are now available, the 8-track cartridge system remains by far the most popular, primarily because it still offers the best reproduction of sound and because the widest selection of recorded music on tape is available in 8-track.

The 8-track tape cartridge is a closed plastic container, about the size of two decks of playing cards (5-1/2 inches by 3-3/4 by 3/4), enclosing a continuous loop of tape. The tape comes off the inner edge, or core, of the reel, moves past the magnetic pick-up head of the player at a speed of 3-3/4 inches per second, and returns to the outer edge of the reel.

The system is called 8-track because the tape has eight separately recorded sound tracks — four stereo bands. Since the tape is on a continuous loop, the bands play in succession without stopping and at the end, the pick-up automatically shifts back to the beginning. Most 8-track units have selector switches to move the pick-up head from one band to the next. Eight-track cartridges provide up to 80 minutes of uninterrupted music.

The equipment and cartridges are available in appliance stores, music and record stores, automobile accessory stores and departments, and in specialty stereo shops. Costs for high quality equipment range from about $80 to $150.

Lower cost systems adapted from "voice recording" type equipment operating at slower speeds are available, but at a sacrifice in sound quality.

When considering tape systems, the prospective buyer should follow two main guidelines: determine the speed of the machine, because the faster the tape moves past the pick-up head, the higher will be the quality of the sound; and determine how broad the library of your favorite type of music is to be assured the widest possible selectivity.

OUT TO PASTURE I believe would be the appropriate phrasing for this old grind stone left laying along in a field north of Forks. A stone used extensively in the 1930's for sharpening the axe of the woodsman now gradually turns to dust and gives way to the land it helped clear.
