Now for an interesting story about a deer hunter.

While on the way to the beach Sunday, a car suddenly stopped in front of us as a 2-point crossed the road. The driver jumped out clinging his rifle in one hand. I promptly rolled down the window and reminded him that he was inside the park. He acted surprised.

What would his explanation be if the ranger came upon the scene as he viewed the buck through his scope as it sneaked through the brush?

Cedar

Local interest in the log export situation should shift to the question of cedar.

It has been estimated that at the present rate of logging there is enough cedar to last only another 25 years at best. When this cedar is gone, there will be no more. Cedar is a tree that grows very slow and the trees being cut now are probably all 150 to 300 years old except for some of the

The idea of exporting a log that will one day be a tree of the past is a direct threat to the local shingle, shake and sawmills that depend upon this product.

Initiative 32 will not save this log for local industry. The largest stands of cedar are located on the Quinault Indian Lands and will not be affected by 32.

A campaign to save cedar, a tree that will be extinct in our lifetime, should be undertaken. This should be an effort aimed at private timber in addition to state and federal Save our cedar - the end is in sight.

Initiative 245

This initiative attempts to take a whack at credit buying. It is supposed to protect the credit buyer from excessive credit charges. The people it proposes to help will be hurt

The State of Washington has a limit of 18% or 1 1/2% per month credit charge limit. Some states have a 24% or 2% limit. The effect of initiative 245 would be a limit of 12% or 1% per month.

Who will suffer? Both the credit and cash buyers and the people who handle credit. Credit will become more difficult to obtain. The lower income families that rely heavily on credit will be the hardest hit. The higher income group will also suffer from initiative 245 because they will have to pay more for the merchandise because of credit income lost by the business people. Cash purchasers will be forced to subsidize the credit losses.

Initiative 245 will definitely have an adverse effect on the economy of the State of Washington.

With the tree press looking over its shoulder, government from the City Hall to the White House has to put its best foot forward, and outright oppression of the people becomes impossible. For various reasons, freedom has been criticized and proposals out forward to limit its ability to report the news. Different explanations for this have been cited including national security and the question of whether pretrial reporting of crime news makes it impossible to get an impartial jury. Start out the morning with calisthenics — sit-ups, push-ups, deep knee bends and jumping jacks - exer-

FROM YOUR LOCAL BOWLING CENTER

Back to the long-johns again tomorrow. Suess winter has begun to set in. A few years ago, wouldn't have minded the train, and rough weather so much, but anymore, hate to even think about getting out in it. Not getting old, just wear and tear on this rack of bones makes it look that way.

Mike Batchelor of Seattle had a pretty fair series the other night; a 247-279-300 for an 826. Guess you could call that professional type of bowling.

Tuesday Afternoon League's Hi 10 was held by Kay Sunburg with a 188 and Ruth Hulton had a 511 for Hi 30.

Stan Fouts beat heck out of the rest of the Sunset League with a big 249 and Arden Prissel copped Hi 30 with 556. Dunc's Rototilling lead by two over John's Motors.

A queen sat on Hi 10 and Hi 30 throne in the Powder Puff League. I belive Phyllis is her first name. She had a 203-527. Kathy Hamby bumped her sister-in-law, Leta, off that limb in the Wed. Nite Hoot Owl League with a 206-549.

George Pederson topped the boys in the Jr. Mixed with 161 while Mike Absher had a 157-446. Debbie Prissel and Patty Laswell led the girls with 141 and 395 respectively. Lee Cheek threw three deuces (222) and Ed Malmsten a 207-524 for high honors. Pretty good bowling in the Early Friday Nite Mixed. Paula Lyda had 222-514 for the women and for the men. Ray Birdwell shot a 223, Fred Jarvis 222-588, Hank Bigelow, 220, and Ken Keenev a 219-573.

Ruth Johns picked off the 6-7-10, Sharon Clark the 3-7-10 and Lou Bigelow the 5-6-10.

Late Friday Mixed saw a bunch of goof-offs on alleys 1 and 2. Thomas-Maher-Jarvis bowled Kennedy-Richardson and everyone had a ball. Whew! Should turn in my press card

Gwen Genson rolled a 188 for Hi 10 and Mother Jarvis a 501 for Hi 30 for the gals. Pops Jarvis tossed a 225 and "Sandbagger" George Richardson a 554 for the men.

Rolled with the Keeney's, Caulkin's, Place's and Herb Beebe Saturday night at Monte Carlo. No money but did win nine free games. The Jackpot keeps getting bigger and bigger every week. Like to see it get up past the century mark again. Lots of strange faces last week, so if you old timers want to bowl Saturday night, phone your reservations in early. Got chewed out by Dave Barton for not reporting his 7-8-1split he picked up awhile back. Sorry about that, Old Boy.

Must apologize to Teresa Genson for not spelling her name right. Terrie, is that okay? Understand Joanne Hjelmeseth picked up three out of four 5-7 splits the other night. Not a record, but a darned good Beat everybody in the Forks Prairie League with his 234-612. Congratulations, Ken. Now that you know how, we expect more of them from you.

The right man: Harry Lydiard For County Commissioner DEAR JANE:

I just heard uptown that there is a girl who is getting a divorce and here is the catch: when she does, she plans, on marrying my husband! He is supposed to be getting a divorce as soon as hers is final. I am so upset - should I tell my husband that I know his whole scheme?

Possible Divorcee

Your husband promised you on your wedding day that he would be faithful; what makes you think he will keep his promise to this girl?

DEAR JANE:

Dear Possible:

My problem is my mother-in-law. This is not the age old problem of the nasty misunderstanding type; mine is too nice. My wafe, her daughter, is very sensitive about her mother and will not let me say anything to reprimand her. You won't believe this, but my mother-in-law flirts with me! On numerous occasions, she has embarrassed me to the living end! How can I change my sweet flirting mother-in-law into the normal nasty kind to end all of the gossip once and for all?

Sour Son-in-law

Dear Sour:

Tell her you are minding your own business and would like her to mind hers.

DEAR JANE:

For several months now, I have been babysitting for a couple of young mothers who belong to this singing group. Each time they bring their kids over, I ask them when we are going to hear them sing. They always answer that they are not ready yet. I don't get it. We rehearse for one evening to sing for Eastern Star, and then sing the next evening. How come they are taking so long? ... Are they singing?

Wondering Babysitter

Desperate

Since you did not mention the name of the group, I do not know who you are referring to. A professional singing group spends literally hundreds of hours at rehearsal before an opening engagement.

DEAR JANE:

Dear Wondering:

I can not keep still a minute longer. I have just recently moved to this little town. I find the weather terribly depressing, the town a bore, and the people terrible! I see no way out of this town in the near future. I am

" Dear Desperate:

With over two dozen organizations in this boring little town, I'm wondering why you do not become involved in something beside yourself. This reminds me of a little story. There was a man who lived in a midwest community. He heard from several acquaintances about a wonderful little town some distance away. Because this man felt the people in his town were terrible, he decided to pack up and move to this new town where the people were much better. Well, as he approached the outskirts of this new town, he stopped and questioned a passerby with: "Tell me sir, what is the town ahead like and the people in the town?" The man answered, "Well, it is a real nice town and the people are good folk; how-a-come you ask me that?" He said, "Am I relieved to hear that. The town I came from was terrible and the people in it worse yet." The man answered, "Well, sir, you're a-going to find this town and the people in it terrible too!" As for the weather, if you are sunny inside, it does not matter what it is doing on the outside.

Poor physical conditioning is a major factor in ski accidents. The majority of skiers sit behind a desk five days a week, and then dash out to participate in one of the most strenuous of physical sports. INVESTMENT OF PUBLIC PENSION FUNDS

Explanatory comment issued by the Attorney General as required by law

The Law as it now exists:

Under the present constitutional provisions relating to the investment or other use of public funds, there is some uncertainty as to the type of investments which the legislature may authorize the various public employees retirement boards to make when investing pension and retirement funds.

Effect of Senate Joint Resolution No. 5 if approved into Law:

The proposed constitutional amendment would remove this uncertainty by expressly permitting the investment of public pension and retirement funds in such manner as is authorized by appropriate legislative enactment.

COUNTY ELECTIVE OFFICES Shall the State Constitution be amended to provide for filling vacancies in legislative or partisan county elective offices as follows:

(1) The county commissioners of the county affected shall appoint a person from the same legislative, county or country commissioner district and political partty as the officer whose office has been vacateed;

(2) On failure of the county commissioners to so appoint within sixty days, the governor shall within thirty days appoint: a person similarly qualified?

The Law as it now exists:

Under the present constitution any vacancy in the legislature or any partisan county elective office is to be filled by appointment by the board of county commissioners of the county in which the vacancy occurs. Although the constitution does not prescribe any qualifications for appointment of a person to fill a vacancy in a partisan elective county office, it expressly provides that to be eligible for appointment to fill a vacancy in the legislature a person must be (1) from the same legislative district; (2) from the same political party as the legislator whose office has been vacated; and (3) one of the three persons nominated by the county central committee of

In the case of a vacancy in a joint legislative district (encompassing two or more counties) the appointment is to be made by the joint action of the several boards of county commissioners from a list of three nominees (having the same qualifications stated above) submitted by the appropriate state central committee. The constitution presently provides that in the event the boards of county commissioners cannot, within 60 days, agree upon the appointment to fill a vacancy in a joint legislative district, the governor, within 30 days, shall fill the vacancy from the list of nominees However, no similar authority to resolve such an impasse is vested in the governor in the case of legislative vacancies in districts lying wholly in a single county, or in the case of partisan elective county offices, and our supreme court has held the legislature may not under the existing constitution vest such authority in the governo Effect of Senate Joint Resolution No. 24 if approved into Law:

The proposed amendment would first make the qualifications necessary for appointment to fill a vacancy in the legislature applicable, as well, to vacancies in partisan county elective offices. Thus, under the amendment, in order to be eligible to fill a vacancy in such a county office a person would have to be (1, a resident of the same county or county commissioner district as the officer whose office has been vacated, (2) a member of the same political party as the officer he succeeds; and (3) one of three persons nominated to fill the vacancy by the county central committee of that political party.

In addition, the amendment would provide that if the county commissioners cannot agree upon the appointment of a person to fill a partisan county elective office or a legislative office within 60 days, the governor shall, within 30 days, thereafter, fill the vacancy by appointing a person from the list of nominees.

Vote cast by members of the 1967 Legislature on final passage: HOUSE: (99 members) Yeas, 84; Nays 9; Absent or not voting, 6. SENATE: (49 members) Yeas, 44; Nays, 0; Absent or not voting, 5.

BUILDING AUTHORITY

Shall Article VIII of the State Constitution be amended by adding a new section authorizing creation by the legislature of a state building authority to construct buildings and improvements for lease to state agencies or departments for up to seventy-five years, and to finance such construction through issuance of bonds or other evidences of indebtedness to be paid from the authority's revenues which would not be subject to the constitutional debt limitation?

Vote cast by members of the 1967 Legislature on final passage SENATE: (49 members) Yeas, 46; Nays, 2; Absent or not voting, 1. HOUSE: (99 members) Yeas, 92; Nays, 3; Absent or not voting,

Explanatory comment issued by the Attorney General as required by law

The Law as it now exists:

The construction of buildings and other improvements for the various state agencies is from time to time financed through the issuance by the state of general obligation, limited obligation, or revenue bonds. Under the present constitution no law authorizing the state to contract debt in excess of the state constitutional debt limit through the issuance of general obligation bonds can take effect until it shall have been submitted to and approved by the people at a general election. The state supreme court has held this requirement of voter approval to be applicable to bonds which are issued to finance the construction of buildings for lease to state agencies when the rental payments are to be financed from state general fund appropriations.

Effect of Senate Joint Resolution No. 17 approved into Law:

The proposed amendment would authorize the legislature to create a state agency called the state building authority. If authorized by the legislature, this agency could contract with other state agencies to construct buildings and improvements for their use on a lease basis at a reasonable rental rate for a term not to exceed 75 years. In addition, if authorized by the legislature, the building authority could finance such construction by borrowing funds solely on its own credit through the issuance of bonds or other evidences of indebtedness to be secured by pledges of the authority's income or by mortgages of its leaseholds. In the event the authority utilizes this method of incurring indebtness, the bonds or other evidences of indebtedness would not be subject to the constitutional debt limitation and could, therefore, be issued without a vote of the people Approval of this proposed amendment will validate the provisions of chapter 162, Laws of 1967, which creates a state building authority

Slade Gorton, the Republican candidate for Attorney General, came out strongly yesterday for passage of HJR-1 which will be on the ballot in November. The so called "open spaces" amendment to the constitution is designed to stop the loss of green belts to urban sprawl.

As the prime sponsor of the bill in the last session of the legislature, it is no surprise that Gorton now advocates its passage. The thing that most people are unaware of is that HJR-1 is the result of years of study by Gorton and

The proposed amendment is required because our constitution states that all property shall be taxed equally based upon its assessed value. Although we have some real problems in maintaining this stated equality, there is no doubt that a statute passed by the legislature reducing taxes for those who used their land to farm in an industrial area would be declared unconstitutional. HJR-1 would make it legal to provide for reduced taxes based upon the actual use of the land rather than the use of other land in the neighborhood. The measure will permit land to continue to be used for agricultural, forestry and recreational uses in urban areas provided the owners promise to continue that use for a number of years. High taxes, based upon industrial property values, have forced many land owners to sell rather than hold their property for lower

Gorton states, "Many owners of farms, forests and open space lands are being forced to sell their property because of skyrocketing property taxes. Speculation only boosts assessments and taxes, accelerates land sales and hastens disorderly development and more unplanned urban sprawl. Laws like HJR-1, to deal with this problem, have already been passed by thirteen other states."

In addition to sponsorship of the "open spaces" amendment and the Billboard Control Act. Gorton has been a leader in securing passage of the Seashore Conservation Act. Park and Recreational bonding programs and other legislation to protect Washington's scenic and outdoor recreational resources.

Slade Gorton has been a member of the House of Representatives for the past ten years and is currently serving as the Majority Leader. Gorton is acknowledged to be the "brain" of the legislature by both the Republicans and Democrats. Although he comes by the reputation honestly -he was a magna cum laude Phi Beta Kappa at Dartmouth - he also has more common sense than most legislators. He knows the practical aspects as well as the theory of the problems facing the state of Washington.

As a member of the Revenue and Taxation Committee he was often the only member of the committee that fully understood the problems under discussion. His outstanding ability to break a problem down into little parts that everyone understands was put to constant test. Hours of debate, argument and discussion were often summarized in a few minutes by Gorton with all of the important arguments pro and con laid out for final analysis.

Teacher Aide Course

As the cost of education goes up, new ideas are being offered to help maintain quality education in the schools.

The teacher-aide is one such idea. The teacher-aide performs a number of timeconsuming duties ordinarily performed by certified teachers, such as the preparation and use of audio-visual equipment, Seattle, after a weekend visit at routine clerical duties and others. The certified teacher's time can therefore be utilized more efficiently. Peninsula College is sponsoring a training program for teacher-aides in Forks this year. This is a new 12-week course of study and 22 persons are enrolled. Tom Winsor. principal of Forks Grade School is the instructor.

Among the 22 enrolled, are seven certified teachers who are familiarizing themselves with the role of the teacheraide. As the teacher-aide will work under the supervision of certified teachers, the other students in the class are getting an idea of what will be expected from them.

Training for the aides includes the use of visual displays, the use of audio-visual equipment, group dynamics, listening skills, the use of office machines, clerical training, and first aid.

Those who successfully complete the course will be qualified for employment by school districts. An increasing number of school districts in Washington are presently utilizing teacher-aides as another way of maintaining quality education at a low cost.

Broad Scope Of 4-H Projects Keep Youths Busy

Heading the list of the top 10 projects undertaken by the nation's three million 4-H youths are animal science, clothing foods and plant science. Recent figures released by the Cooper ative Extension Service show that youngsters also are very much interested in health and physical fitness.

In addition to animal and plant sciences, the application of scientific principles is a part of nearly all 4-H projects, says the Extension Service.

Recreation, engineering and safety are three more areas in which large numbers of 4-H members excel. Projects involving management and furnishings for the home show high enrollment, as does conservation.

Community service and personal development are a prime concern of today's 4-H'ers as well, judging from the more than 300,000 participating. Most 4-H boys and girls spend their time on more than one project, as the survey shows. Boys may be involved in plant and animal sciences and engi-
