

THE OLD MODEL "A"

You tell me now you old Model "A"
How many years have you spent this way
How many years of rain and snow
How many years did the cold winds blow

You have found a resting place here on the Hoh
Where the moss is green and white waters flow
This is the valley you chose to rest
As you know old fellow it was your request

Your black shiny cushions have rotted away
Your paint has chipped with each passing day
The ferns now grow through your body of rust
Your light brown skeleton will soon turn to dust

The sun will bleach you old Model "A"
With burning rays on a hot summers day
The Lord above has taken your soul
Or do you still remember a stump rancher named Jim

Do you remember the hard times here on the Hoh
Trying to raise grain and getting hops to grow
Tell me are your memories now growing dim
Or do you still remember a stump rancher named Jim

Well I guess we'll leave you now old Model "A"
There will surely be others passing your way
You'll bring back memories to many pleasure
Who will reminisce when they pass you here

The Rebels asked about keeping the triangle lawn mowed. The Council receives all complaints concerning the triangle and will check to see if it is actually owned by the Town.

Mayor Earl Kennedy read a report from the county engineer concerning the acceptance of the roads in the proposed areas to be annexed to the Town. The report stated that all roads had been accepted with the exception of the south 160 feet of 7th Avenue SW and 9th Avenue including K Street. It was pointed out that the County holds a bond for completion of the named streets and it would be transferred over to the Town.

The Council approved the annexation and it will be sent on to the County Commissioners for final approval. Upon approval by the Commissioners the annexation question will be submitted for a vote of the people. A simple majority is needed for passage.

The garbage problem was again discussed by the Council. Mayor Kennedy pointed out that the Town could not just hire another firm. They would have to take it over and put it up for bid. This would result in the Town handling all the billing.

Mayor Kennedy will contact Robert O. Timm of the Department of Transportation and Utilities Commission to discuss the Town's problem.

Councilman Bob Hall suggested the Town prepare the parking lot at 1st Avenue and Division Street as soon as possible. He was appointed to check with Campbell Trucking for a price on grading and graveling the lot. Entrance to the lot will be from the alley only.

The Masons own the lot and have offered it to the Town for a period of five years as a parking lot.

Motorcycles were an issue with the good weather bringing them out in large numbers. It was pointed out that many of the machines are without mufflers and riders are not wearing helmets. The Marshal was ordered to enforce the laws concerning the problem.

In other business the council approved a building permit for Richard Durberaw, 129 1st Ave. NW, to build a garage 24 x 30, estimated cost $2,500.

The Rebels asked about keeping the triangle lawn mowed. The Council receives all complaints concerning the triangle and will check to see if it is actually owned by the Town.

DEAR JANE

DEAR JANE: Being a past member of Preschool PTA, I have been following with great interest the many comments written in this column about it. I think the adage, "your actions speak so loudly, I can't hear what you say" is very apropos with regard to Preschool.

The objectives and goals of Preschool are very commendable (it is not primarily a "koffie klatche") and it is a very important organization. Most of the members are very fine, ambitious people.

I too attended Preschool when meeting were spent smoldering, drinking coffee and gossiping and as soon as the dishes were off the table, "go downtown". There were some new girls who came but with no programs planned there was nothing to create their interest. No one wanted to be an officer or committee chairman because they would frequently be left with the whole job.

It is very encouraging to see that there are concerned Preschool mothers but if they do not attend and contribute to the meetings and projects, Preschool can not survive for the purpose for which it is intended.

Sincerely,
Past Member

Several weeks ago I witnessed a real "Donnybrook" at our local bowling alley. Tension had been building up all winter and finally all you know what broke loose. It was really hard to believe that grown women could act this way. Several women started yelling and swearing at each other and finally they actually exchanged a few blows. The husbands of these women just stood by and . . . get this . . . watched! I thought of our men in Vietnam, and wondered how they would feel if they could have seen how these grand examples of American motherhood behaved at their bowling alley yet! How can we expect improved behavior from our young people if their own mothers act like this!

Parental actions outside the home directly reflect the environment offered to the young people at home. Antisocial actions and inability to control derogatory feelings shows crass stupidity. Crassness is not limited to the American female alone but also found in females of other nations. This crass female animal wishes to call herself a woman, but this is not what she is. To be a woman one must learn graciousness and femininity. There is nothing gracious or feminine about a course brawl! It is simple to behave in a course manner; however, it takes a real woman to handle any situation with finesse and good taste. We are not all going to agree, but the way you go about your disagreement, is the thing that determines what you really are!

Letter to Inez Halverson from Boona Cheema, IFYE, from India who visited here last year. Published here for readers interest.

Dear Halvi,
Thank you for your birthday card and the photographs. I enjoyed reading about the school and the kids. It was sweet of Leanne and Carolyn to send the Valentines... sure missed them.
I would write more often, but ever since I've come back I've been very busy. I took two months of German and Textile designing, have also worked on a magazine called Agriculture Digest... all this and plans to leave again. In early June I leave for Vietnam for two years. I will be working as an extension worker in home improvement. I was hoping to teach in Laos but that didn't work out. I'm really excited about this work and am sure to enjoy it. Of course I will miss home and its comforts but the reward of doing something useful should compensate.

It's up to a 100 here in Delhi and hasn't rained at all. I took a trip down to Calcutta and Orissa to meet some of the American visiting IFYE's this was way back in Dec. They came up to Delhi on their way home and the IFYE from Illinois spent all his free time here with us. We had a wonderful time.

I wonder if you'll get another IFYE in your area this year? I've met some of the kids who have been selected from India, it's a good group.

Love,
Boona

THE CLAM DIGGER Spring and summer minus tides are sure to bring out the dedicated clam digger who is willing to lose a few hours of sleep or miss a breakfast so he may match wits with that of the ever popular Razor Clam of the Pacific Coast. For most Forks residents it is a matter of about three hours before sunning home searching for someone to help clean the tasty limit of shellfish. For others it is a ferry trip across Puget Sound and a 175 mile drive to their favorite camp ground where they will enjoy a weekend of clam digging and relaxation. Pictured above is a typical clam digger with boots, shovel, sack and a near limit of Razor clams on a beach near Kalaloch.

The educated clam digger will display his limit of Razors such as these with no signs of crackage. Improper digging will result in broken shells allowing sand to enter the edible portions of the clam.

Many skilled clam diggers will clean their specimens in the Kalaloch Campground. Clams may be dipped in boiling hot water for a second to open the shell. Clams left in too long will tend to toughen.

It's about the razors—

After shells are removed the stomach is cut away leaving pure white meat ready for the fry pan or the grinder.

Those who prefer chowder or patties will grind the tasty sea food which may then be placed in the freezer or canned.

Widstee's Presents Fashion Show For Lions

Four lovely young ladies modeling superior mens clothing styles and you've really got a program for a Lions Club meeting.

Widstee's treated the Forks Lions Club to a style show at the regular dinner meeting last Thursday.

Bob Sorensen gave a descriptive narration as the models displayed high fashion and contemporary suits and casual sportswear.

The models for the show were four young ladies, Crystl Sorensen, Pam Deane, Lex Sorensen and Glennie Bourin, from Port Angeles.

Pam Deane models black corduroy high-fashion hip-length sweater.

Lex Sorensen models a 2 button contemporary black coronado-mohair suit.

"Ways to Improve Home Lighting" and "Management and Use of Small Electric Appliances" were subject matter of lessons given at the Niwaua Extension Homemakers Club meeting on May 12, at the home of Mrs. James Helmick. Mrs. Ed Lewis and Mrs. Belle McDaniel were hostesses.

From materials received at a recent Home Management Leaders' training meeting, Mrs. James Helmick informed the club members that appliances should be kept clean, stored properly, guarded against falls and overheating. When disconnecting appliances always disconnect from the outlet first then the appliance, and to pull on the plug, not the cord. The manufacturer's recommendations should be followed and always take to an authorized agency for servicing. Save these tags and guarantees for reference, that come on the appliances.

How to improve your present lighting in the home was also discussed. When you redecorate, finish walls in light pastel colors and ceilings in white, or near white or a pale tint. This helps diffuse light and makes lighting more comfortable. Add portable lamps for better balance of room lighting. Install structural lighting (valance and cornice) in living areas where there is only one ceiling light or none. Eight to 20 feet of wall lighting will add to feeling of spaciousness to an average-sized room and make the lighting more flexible. Replace present bulbs with those of higher wattage, but do not exceed the rated wattage of the fixture. A minimum of 100 watts is needed in many single-socket lamps. For better control of lighting, use three-way bulbs or dimmer switches. For efficiency, use one large bulb rather than several small ones. A 100-watt bulb gives as much light as six 25-watt bulbs, but only uses about two-thirds as much current. Replace extended-bare-bulb fixtures with well-shielded ones.

To avoid eyestrain and fatigue, when viewing television, provide a low to moderate level of lighting throughout the viewing area.

Most living rooms need at least five portable lamps, most bedrooms, three. When buying lamps, look for the ones that combine function and beauty.

Dimmer-switch controlled lamps give greater flexibility than three-way lamps that use three-way sockets and require three-way bulbs.

The small high-intensity lamp now on the market are not designed for study, reading or general work. They can provide a concentrated area of high-level light for special tasks, such as sewing, craft, or fine-detail work. They should always be used in combination with good general lighting.

When buying a table lamp you keep in mind that table height plus lamp base height (to the lower edge of shade) should equal the eye height of the person using the lamp is a good rule to follow.

The center of the lampshade of a study lamp, should be about 15 inches to the left of the work center, and the lamp about 12 inches back of the front edge of the table. Place the lamp to the right for a left-handed person. To serve the student population, several lamp manufacturers are now making specially designed, higher-wattage study lamps. Tags attached to the lamps state, "This is a Better Light Better Sight Bureau Study Lamp." The lamps reduce glare to a minimum and also give nearly twice as much light as other study lamps and spread light over a wider area.

More information on these subjects may be obtained from the Clallam County Extension Office, in Port Angeles.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Howard Trimble, President, encouraged the members to prepare articles for the Fair. Members voted not to have another card party until fall. The Standard of Achievement form was discussed and completed. There were 9 members and 1 visitor present. The next meeting will be at Mrs. Alma Anderson's on June 9.

Meditation

By Canon Walter W. McNeil, Jr.

This week and next we have a culmination of the mighty acts of God in Christ in the Ascension and in the coming of the Holy Spirit into the lives of the Apostles at Pentecost. Some people might say, "So what?" What difference does it make to me today that Jesus Christ of Nazareth ascended into heaven and that his followers received the Holy Spirit at Pentecost? That is ancient history. History it is, but not necessarily ancient history only! Expectation and obedience are involved. The Apostles expected great things to happen at the Mount of Ascension, and they did! The Apostles were told to go to Jerusalem until they received a gift from on high. They were obedient, and they received the Holy Spirit with power. How we need these qualities in life today! Expectation and Obedience. There are people among us who expect God to do great things in their lives---and He does. They are open to Him. He has free access, and He more than fulfills their fondest wishes. This is summed up in a short prayer from the Book of Common Prayer, which, in part goes like this: "Almighty God, who has prepared for those who love thee, such good things as pass man's understanding-----." Like the Apostles at Our Lord's Ascension they look up and expect great things to happen and they do-beyond their comprehension. Usually these same people are obedient. When the Apostles were commanded to go to Jerusalem they didn't say, "We have something important to do in Galilee, we'll go to Jerusalem later." No, they went to Jerusalem at once, and they were obedient. The Gift was given. Today, if we obey God's commandments to us, great things will happen in our lives. Expectation and obedience bring God into our lives with power!

He marvels at the majesty of the clouds and the vastness of the sky. He thrills at the reflections cast upon the water by the rainbow palette of the setting sun. He is awed, humbled--yet, at the same time, fiercely proud.

His feelings contradict each other. For he knows he is a small creature dwarfed by the overpowering glory of nature, yet, at the same time, a man--a man created in the image of God.

Of course, we all need to be humble, but we also need to be proud. In one sense we are insignificant, and in another we are all-important. The problem lies in finding the proper balance between the two.

To understand the whole man--the all of you, you must turn to His Church where God is forever revealing the mysteries of His universe. Here we are taught truths that have endured throughout the ages. Here we must come if we are to find the proper balance in life.

Salvation Army Drive

A. E. Fletcher, chairman of the local Salvation Army Service Extension Committee announced today the official kick-off of the 1969 Association Appeal Fund Drive. On May 9th, a letter of appeal will be sent to the Army's many friends requesting their annual contribution. The chairman has requested that everyone respond to the mail appeal, thus saving the time and expense of solicitors.

May 11th through the 17th is National Salvation Army Week, at which time we should pay special tribute to this great organization which unstintingly renders hope and assistance to those less fortunate in our community. Food, shelter, clothing and other emergency services are all rendered without red tape or delay. Cases where the need is greater than The Salvation Army committee can handle are referred to the regional offices. Such cases might be services to unwed mother, help for the alcoholics through rehabilitation, assistance to prisoners and parolees, missing persons inquiries, and other humanitarian services for men, women and children.

Fletcher, stated that a week in one of The Salvation Army summer camps. (for children less fortunate than most), can
