The North Olympic Library System (NOLS) invites people of all ages to a free Concert and Family Dance Party with Eli Rosenblatt. The Seattle-based musician combines world music, movement, and imagination in a high-energy mix that creates a unique interactive experience. His original songs feature global sounds including salsa, reggae, funk, and hip-hop.

The Concert and Family Dance Party will be hosted at three locations, listed below.

- Friday, Feb. 16, 10-11 a.m. at Forks Elementary School, 301 S. Elderberry Ave.
- Friday, Feb. 16, 6-7 p.m. at Port Angeles Main Library, 2210 S. Peabody St.
- Saturday, Feb. 17, 10:30-11:30 a.m. at Sequim Branch Library, 630 N. Sequim Ave.

Eli Rosenblatt is a vocalist, composer and multi-instrumentalist. He has performed at The Tractor Tavern, The Showbox, Nectar, Neumos and Bumbershoot among many other venues in the Seattle area and across the U.S. His compositions have been featured on the national television series "Burn Notice," "Persons Unknown" and "Better Call Saul" as well as the feature film, "Coach." Eli acknowledges that most of the musical styles that he has the honor and privilege to play have their deep roots in West Africa. Learn more about the musician at elirosenblatt.us.

This program is generously funded in part by local Friends of the Library groups. For more information, visit www.nols.org/eli, call 360.417.8500, or email Youth@nols.org.

Eli Rosenblatt plays joyful and high-energy world music for audiences of all ages.
